TURTLE AND TREE.

Truthful James Again Haunts Waikiki Beaches. It was a simple fisherman Who told this tale with glee To a crowd of curious bathing folk At Long Branch, Waikiki-- That airy, fairy, beery spot Which lies beside the sea. "While paddling homeward yesterday, Alone, in my canoe, A wondrous object met my gaze, For near, in plainest view From out the sea arose a tree And a rock whereon it grew. "I marvelled long and greatly-- Perhaps maybe I feared To see a little cocconut From watery depths appeared, From suddenly, the way it came The wonder disappeared. "I started homeward once again And pondered o'er and o'er The problem of its miracle, I'd witnessed just before, When all at once I saw the tree Go climbing up the shore. "I quickly beached my frail canoe, I felt it was my fate To tell a wondering public how That tree did thus migrate From sea to land, for trees do not At will perambulate. "What did I see? beneath the tree-- Take note and mark it well, Held fast by gnarled roots there was A giant turtle's shell-- A cocconut had fallen there And rooted where it fell. "Nay, nay, I pray you, do not scoff, This thing could easy be, For turtles sleep years at a stretch And this one, 'neath a tree Had laid him down to rest a while In calm serenity. "Upon the sheltering palm o'erhead, Ripe fruit in plenty grew, One day a nut fell to the ground When strong the good wind blew; It lodged upon the turtle's shell And started life anew. "At last the turtle woke from sleep, And on his coat of mail He found the tree and tried to free Himself without avail, So he took the matter sensibly And used it for a sail. "Where is the turtle now? In sooth, Good friends, I do not know, Into the sea the tree and he Precipitate did go, I sadly watched them both vamoose, Down where the salt tides flow. "Next day at early dawn upon The scene I set my foot, And there to my surprise I found The very cocconut Which grew upon the tree which on The turtle's back had root. "I seized an axe, the cocconut I quickly portioned up, "And was there sweet milk in the shell?" Enquired the little group; "Not much," the fisherman replied, "I found but turtle soup." It was a guileless fisherman Who told this tale with pride, To a crowd of curious bathing folk Down by the salt sea side; And the story gained him many drinks And no one said he lied. H. M. AYRES.

The S. C. Allen.

Today or tomorrow the speedy bark S. C. Allen, Captain Johnson, sails for San Francisco with a full load of sugar. She will carry passengers for the Coast. The captain's brother, Captain A. H. Johnson, formerly master of the ill-fated bark McNear, wrecked near Laysan Island, goes as first officer. He expects to take charge of a vessel in the coasting trade, and will still continue to visit Honolulu, where he has many friends.

At the Union Grill today at luncheon.

ALSEN PORTLAND CEMENT

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED a large shipment of this celebrated CEMENT which is the STRONGEST AND MOST SERVICEABLE CEMENT'S MADE at 4 will permit the admixture of a larger amount of sand gravel, with less strength, than any other brand; it is therefore the most economical.

ALSEN has no equal in color, fineness and sand carrying capacity. It weighs less per bushel, measuring about 10 per cent more cement to a bushel than other brands, which very materially reduces its cost as compared with other cements. It is therefore an economical cement to use and is adapted for fine concrete work.

The following tests, made in actual work by Col. D. C. Houston, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., at the sea wall around Governor's Island, New York Harbor, has never been equalled by other cement. It is as follows: Tensile strength per square inch--One day, 384 pounds; seven days, 600 pounds; 28 days, 818 pounds. For sidewalks it gives the best color and the most durable wearing surface.

A few of the large contracts in which Alsen Cement was used: Cable R. R., Baltimore, 35,000 barrels; Quebec Harbor Improvement, 4,000 barrels; Northern Pacific at R. Bridges, 20,000 barrels.
