HIGHER WAGE SECRETARY SQUIRMS

Cross-Examination by Kinney Puts Negro in a Hole.

Negoro has apologized. He says he's sorry; he really shouldn't have done it. "Mea culpa," he cries, "but I really didn't mean anything by it."

Negoro apologizes to the community at large and also to those of his countrymen who have come to harm or loss through the actions of himself, his co-defendants, the Nippu Jiji or the Higher Wage Association. He apologizes to everybody for everything.

For two hours yesterday morning Attorney W. A. Kinney subjected Negoro to the most terrible cross-examination that a man could devise. He laid him carefully on the grill and turned him over and over, basting him to a deep, rich brown on every side. As a result, Negoro got rattled and admitted everything and apologized for everything. If he had been asked to, he would probably have apologized for being alive.

The cross-examination came on top of the two last hours of direct examination, during which the defense had scored some strong points and created probably the best impression it has succeeded in making during the trial. But Negoro lost his head under the searching questions fired at him by the chief counsel for the prosecution and made admissions that he really need not have made. He admitted that his use in the Jiji of the use of the words "boku-metzu" and "taizi," although intended to be taken only in the figurative sense and not literally, was perhaps unwise and inadvisable, in view of the fact that there was a possibility of their being fantasies in the Japanese community. He even tried to shift the responsibility for some of the illegal acts upon his co-defendants and the Nippu Jiji, being forced into this by the shrewd questions of the cross-examiner.

Sheba in Background.

Kinney proved himself an adept at putting questions to the witness which put the latter in a bad hole, no matter how he answered or even if he did not answer at all. On direct examination Lightfoot succeeded in getting a number of matters before the jury in one way or another which had been ruled out of evidence by the judge. On cross-examination Kinney adopted the same tactics, and with equal effect. Although all reference to the stabbing of Sheba was barred by the order of the court, Kinney succeeded in keeping the bleeding figure of the editor of the Shingo just in the background where the jury could feel its presence, even if it could not see it. Sheba's name was mentioned frequently by the prosecuting attorney, and evidently for the purpose of keeping the assault on the man fresh in the minds of the jurors. Time and again he made the witness squirm, hesitate and appear at fault by the embarrassing questions he put, and even more by the way he worded them. He left no ground for objection by counsel for the defense, yet all along

SETTLEMENT OF STRIKE FELT

Sugar Stocks Advance on San Francisco 'Change in Consequence.

Hardly had it become generally known on the San Francisco Stock Exchange yesterday morning that the Hawaiian strike was a thing of the past, than sugar stocks began to strengthen. Cable advices to a local broker indicate that there was a general scramble to get hold of Hawaiian stocks, and prices generally advanced in consequence.

Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar, which has been rather quiet on the San Francisco 'Change, experienced a decided change, and cabled advices state that heavy trading was done in the stock. The closing price was $33 bid with practically none in sight.

Other stocks closed as follows: Paauhau, $27; Onomea, $45.50; Honokaa, $18; Makaweli, $46.25. Raw sugar in New York advanced to 4.08.

On the local 'Change, stocks also strengthened up decidedly. Waiaina, the last sale of which was made at $106, continued in favor, and sold be-

STRIKERS SLOW AT RETURNING

Waipahu Plantation Sees No Signs of the Laborers Coming Back.

Though many of the strikers have started back to the plantations, there has as yet been no concerted movement, and among the Japanese themselves there seems to be some doubt as to just what effect the resolutions passed by the Higher Wage Association Wednesday evening will have.

Several small parties went down to Waipahu and Aiea on the train yesterday, but few if any of the men reported at the plantations. Several parties of Japanese equipped with blanket rolls, were seen starting toward Ewa last night, but up to a late hour none of them had reported at the plantations.

The announcement was made yesterday that the free soup kitchen would close its doors last night, but as many of the strikers are known to have considerable money on hand, they may conclude to stay in town for some time to come.

A large number of those who are desirous of returning to work seem to feel some hesitancy about returning to the plantations which they left to go

MORI YET MAINTAINS HIS STUBBORN POSE

Mori, the Higher Wage Association fanatic who stabbed Editor Sheba of the Hawaii Shingo on Tuesday last, and is confined at the police station facing a charge of assault with intent to kill, does not seem to realize the seriousness of his position, and continues to wear a supercilious smile.

Mori has ceased his lamentations over not finishing his job, but he does not show any regret for his dastardly crime. The police have not yet informed him that the strike is a thing of the past.

HAWAII STILL HAS CONSUL GENERAL IN MEXICO CITY

Hawaii, it seems, is still represented in Mexico by a consul general, vice consul general, and various resident consuls, says the S. F. Mining and Scientific Press. It is true that the "consul general" has been dead some years, and that Hawaii has been annexed to the United States, but the Department of Foreign Relations not having been "officially" informed of these facts, maintains the same on its published register. The annexation of Hawaii having been a side issue in connection with other war measures, it was evidently deemed an affair of either the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy, and was overlooked by the State Department. The government spasmodically awakens to the existence of the "key of the Pacific" when the Japanese bogey recalls the defenselessness of the "key." But Senator Marial really ought to be officially informed that the administrative revolution led to the extinction of Hawaiian autonomy.

TAFT BELIEVES EFFORT AT DOWNWARD REVISION OF TARIFF SCHEDULE HONEST

THE PRESIDENT.

Chief Executive Feels That Republicans Endeavored to Carry Out Promises.

WASHINGTON, August 6.—President Taft yesterday issued a statement, in which he said that he signed the tariff bill because he believed it to be the result of sincere effort at downward revision on the part of the Republicans. NEW METHODIST CHURCH EDIFICE

It Will Be Built Across the Way From the High School.

The plans and specifications for the new Methodist Episcopal Church building are rapidly nearing completion. The church will be built on the corner of Beretania avenue and Victoria street, directly across the street from the McKinley High School building. The extreme dimensions of the building will be eighty feet by one hundred and three. The structure will have an auditorium with gallery, Sunday school room with eleven class rooms on the main floor, and a social hall, kitchen and toilet rooms in the basement. It will be the Mission style of architecture and built of cement, costing about $30,000. The old buildings on the new lot are already removed and it is hoped that work on the new building may begin within a few weeks.

PROMOTION TO RECEIVE HELP

Mayor Signs Resolution Which Makes a Monthly Appropriation.

The Promotion Committee will receive the $250 a month, appropriated by the Board of Supervisors some time ago. Mayor Fern yesterday affixed his signature to the resolution appropriating the money and sent the document to the County Clerk.

When the last Legislature failed to make any provision for the work of the Promotion Committee, the matter was put up to the Board of Supervisors with the request that something be done. At the start it was feared that there might be some legal obstacle in the way of the appropriation, but after that bugbear had been cleared away, the appropriation passed without opposition.

The Mayor also signed the plumbing ordinance, the fish and meat inspection ordinance, the ordinance providing for sanitary inspectors, the ordinance providing for the care of the indigent sick and the appointment of a County Physician, the ordinance regulating the report of all deaths to the County Physician, and the tenement house ordinance.
