THE HAWAIIAN BAND IS PLAYING IN MONTANA

The Daily Missoulian has the following about a Hawaiian band concert. The music set the editor thinking and he has written a good promotion article, which, with the band critique, is appended. The Missoulian of June 23 says:

The Royal Hawaiian Band pleased a large audience last night at the Union opera house. There may be better bands than the islanders, but it is doubtful if there is an organization capable of giving any better entertainment. What made the biggest hit with the crowd were the native songs. The Hawaiian Glee Club was certainly the goods. The vocalists would sing in their soft Hawaiian speech of waving palm trees and dancing waves and to vary the numbers gave several "hula" songs.

The average person had little notion of what a "hula" song was, but with the rattle of a banjo and the thrumming of a score of guitars, the audience recognized an old friend in the rag-time rhythm. Consequently the crowd applauded until it was tired. Rag-time in the kanaka tongue sounds good and the musicians were not at all averse to responding to the numerous encores.

Miss Lei Lehua possesses an unusually sweet soprano voice. Her tones are as pure as those of a flute and her lower notes have a sympathetic cadence and excellent timbre. She sang Hawaiian songs entirely. She was dressed in white and wore the traditional yellow garland about her neck. She has an attractive personality and her singing is decidedly artistic.

John S. Ellis sang several tenor solos and also appeared in the glee club. He possesses a strong voice and his singing was well received.

As a band the Hawaiian organization is not as good as Sousa's or Ellery's Italian band for concert work. This is not because the musicians are not capable, but because the brass instruments predominate too largely. Perhaps for outdoor playing the Hawaiian band would outshine the others. The volume of sound was too great for the theater.

Bandmaster Berger, who organized the Hawaiian band 35 years ago, is a capable leader. His interpretation of the Tannhauser chorus was excellent.

EDITOR'S COMMENT.

Editorially the Missoulian says: Those who attended the concert at the Union opera house last evening were astonished and delighted with the wonderful versatility of the Hawaiian musicians. As a musical organization it has few equals, and as a novelty can hardly be surpassed. The appearance of the musicians in their white uniforms and their garlands of flowers made those in the opera house wish to learn more of the island possessions of Uncle Sam, and the people that inhabit them.

The history of Hawaii, so far as it concerns white men, begins in the middle of the sixteenth century, when the islands were visited by Spanish navigators. Captain Cook was the first Anglo-Saxon to see the islands and history tells us that he spent several weeks there in January, 1778. Twice during that year he visited the group and was later killed by the natives, whom, it is said, he had betrayed. The much-used name, Sandwich Islands, was bestowed upon the group by Captain Cook in honor of his friend and patron, the Earl of Sandwich.

A native chieftain whose name was Kamehameha, and who is counted great in Hawaiian history, came up from the southern district of Hawaii with an army and conquered the other islands. This was in 1790 and while Kamehameha was primarily a warrior he also possessed considerable genius for government. Lands were divided among the people, political rights were granted, a constitution was framed and treaties were negotiated.

Missionaries of all creeds visited Hawaii and foreign ideas were inculcated in the minds of the people. The successors of King Kamehameha were counseled by Anglo-Saxons and the monarchs found their advice helpful. The line of succession was broken in 1874, when David Kalakaua was elected to the throne after the death of Lunailoa. When Kalakaua died in 1891, his sister, Queen Liliuokalani, ruled until the revolution in 1893, when the monarchy was overthrown. This prepared the way for the republic, which was established July 4, 1894, and which endured until the islands were annexed by the United States July 7, 1898. After the annexation, Hawaii became a Territory of the United States, with the general form of government already existing in our insular possessions.

The backbone of the business and social life of the islands is the Americans, although the population of the capital city can be said to be cosmopolitan.

The article concludes with Mark Twain's prose poem.

ORIENTAL INSURANCE CO.
CAUSING SOME TROUBLE

Considerable trouble is being caused to American Consuls along the Chinese Coast because of the operations there of the Oriental Life Insurance Company, Ltd., which concern was incorporated in Honolulu under the laws of this Territory on August 21, 1901, but which has not been in business here, so far as anybody knows, for some time. Some little time ago the American Consul-General at Hongkong made some inquiries of the Treasurer concerning this company, and now comes Thos. Sammons, United States Consul-General at Newchwang, with a letter to the State Department which has been forwarded with its enclosures to Governor Carter to find out about the concern. With the Sammons correspondence is this letter:

The China Mutual Life Insurance Company, Limited.
Newchwang Agency, 3rd May, 1906.
Thos. Sammons, Esq., U. S. Consul General.

Dear Sir: I beg to inform you of a little matter which has a tendency to interfere with the business which I am agent for in this port. As the company I wish to mention is an American Chinese Company, founded under the Law of Honolulu, H. I., I thought that you might be able to gain some information in regard to the company which would enable me to carry on my business without any more trouble. On the 28th of May, 1902, a Chinese gentleman by the name of Yuen Shu Faem insured his life in an American and Chinese Company called "The Oriental Life Insurance Company, Ltd." for the sum of $1000 Mex. for a period of years, namely twenty (20) at an annual premium of $53 Mex. per annum.

On the 30th of May, 1902, a Chinese gentleman by the name of Lu Shang Poe insured his life in the same company for a period of years, namely twenty (20), at an annual premium of $52.50 Mex. per annum. On May 1st, 1903 they went to a Mr. H. R. Everall (who was at that time agent for the American Trading and also collecting agent for the Oriental Life Insurance Company, Ltd.) and paid their premium on the policies up to May, 1904, at which time they went to pay their next premium but found that Mr. Everall was no longer in charge of the American Trading Co. and that the new agent knew nothing in regard to the Oriental Life Insurance, Ltd. and as the company had left no agent to look after the collecting of the premium. Seeing that the policy holders were willing to pay their premium I would like to know if there is not some way in which the said policy holders can either get their moneys refunded or a part of same returned.

As there is something like thirty or forty of these policies in this port, it would be a great help to me if you could find out something in regards to this company.

Hoping to receive a favorable and early reply, I am, Dear Sir,
Your obedient servant,
O. M. FARNHAM.

The Oriental Insurance Company, Ltd. was incorporated under the laws of Hawaii. The petitioners for the charter were J. P. McCoy, whose scheme it was, Frank Halstead, Chas. P. Grimwood, Wong Chow, Wm. R. Castle, Jr. and Wong Leong. The capital stock was two hundred thousand dollars, which it was permitted to increase later to two millions. A lot of local people went into the concern. It was a mutual company, and it was to write its policies in Chinese and to do business principally in China. The company maintained offices in the Stangenwald building, and it sent first Dr. Sloggett and then Dr. Murray to China to serve it in the capacity of medical examiner.

Apparently, it did some business in China, but nevertheless it failed and when the new insurance law was passed in October, 1903, the Oriental failed to come in under it. In fact, it has been out of business for at least two years. What the Chinese policy holders will do about it, remains to be seen but the appeal to the State Department would indicate that some steps are in contemplation.

WANT AN EXHIBIT OF HAWAIIAN WOODS

The following letter came in the last mail to the Governor's office:

Washington, D. C., June 21, 1906.
Gov. George R. Carter, Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands.

My Dear Governor: The Jamestown Exposition, which will be held next spring near Norfolk, Virginia, and continue during the summer, is greatly interested in seeing that the Hawaiian Islands have an exhibit at the Exposition. We are especially interested in an exhibit of woods, of the variety of woods in the Islands.

I write to express the hope that you may be induced to do what you can with your people in seeing that the products of the Islands are properly represented at the Exposition. I have had some talk with your representative here in Congress on the subject.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) H. S. G. TUCKER.

"There is no money with which to make an exhibit," said Governor Carter, speaking of this letter yesterday. "But if anyone has a collection of Hawaiian Woods to loan, now is the chance."
