New Rule Of Court Will Insure Accounts Annually

CLOSE TAB KEPT ON ESTATES

The duties of executors and administrators of estates will hereafter be made decidedly more stringent than they have been heretofore. In the past they have not in many cases filed annual accounts as they are supposed to do, and this has left the way open to possible irregularities, as was emphasized in the P. D. Kellett case.

The three Circuit Judges have decided to make the annual accounts a certainty by adopting the following new rule, which was posted today:

It is hereby ordered that Rule 23, entitled "Probate and Guardianship Matters," of the Circuit Court of the First Circuit, dated April 15th, A. D. 1902, and amended May 9th, A. D. 1905, be and the same is hereby further amended by adding thereto another paragraph, to wit:

"That every executor or administrator, ten days before the expiration of the period of six months next following the date of the first publication of notice to creditors by him, and every trustee or guardian, ten days before the expiration of one year next following the date of his appointment, or last accounting, shall be notified in writing, by the clerk, of the time when he shall be required to make final settlement of the estate in his hands, or to file his annual or other accounts of the estate held in trust by him."

"Every administrator, executor and guardian should render annual accounts," said Judge Robinson in discussing the reasons for the new rule this forenoon.

"But that has not been done in many cases heretofore. In this connection I might say that for this reason I should favor corporate sureties on bonds of these people. Where surety companies are on the bond they are always sure to see that their principal files his accounts as required. They have nothing else to do. That is their business. Of course, we can not now allow the expense connected with getting a bond from a surety company out of the funds of the estate. Still, even if this sort of a bond is more expensive, it is certainly the most satisfactory."

"Was this new rule in any way occasioned by the results of the Kellett case?" asked the reporter.

"Well, I cannot tell that absolutely," answered Judge Robinson. "The idea was Judge De Bolt's, and as I think it was an exceedingly good one I endorsed it. It is certain, however, that if Kellett had been compelled to file accounts annually, as will be exacted by this new rule, the amount of his defaulting could certainly not have reached such a large sum as it did."

THEY LIKE TO HEAR THE OLD BAND PLAY

The Bulletin has received a large photograph of the Hawaiian Band taken at Portland. The players are clad in neat khaki suits and present a very acceptable appearance. Manager Cohen, Assistant Manager Prestige, Madame Alapai and Captain Berger are strongly in evidence.

Hon. S. M. Damon, speaking of his brief trip to the Portland Fair, remarked the other day to the Bulletin man: "The band is what takes the crowd at the fair. The grounds were packed when the Hawaiian boys were playing. Close by the stand seats are on sale at ten cents and beyond this the people spread out over the terraces. When our band played these seats were always filled and the terraces were covered as well. None of the other concerts attracted anything like the same crowd. But the crowd demanded Hawaiian music. They enthused tremendously over it and became disinterested when Miss Alapai or the band tackled ordinary high art which Portland people can hear in almost any theater."

NOT FIT TO BATHE IN

Mr. Pvormann of Castle & Cooke complains bitterly of the filthy condition of city water from the Nuuanu reservoir. He lives at the corner of Prospect and Alapai streets and says that the mud in his bath tub the last few days has not been less than an eighth of an inch in thickness.

"Seems to me this is becoming a matter of public health," said Mr. Pvormann today. "The water is not fit to bathe in, much less to drink. I have been informed that the new reservoir contractors are permitted by their contract to turn the superfluous water into the stream that supplies the lower Nuuanu reservoir."

LOW AND KINNEY SPARRING AGAIN

Judge Upholds Magoon And Stops Kinney's Questions

FINE ITALIAN HAND OF WUNDENBERG BROUGHT IN

RANCHER TELLS OF GOOD OLD TIMES WHEN UNCLE JOHN USED THE COWBOY'S LASSOO.

The daily session of Judge Lindsay's court on the Parker Ranch case opened with considerable snap this morning. Eben Low resumed the stand to take another dose of Kinney's cross-examination, but evidently all parties concerned were feeling refreshed after night's sleep.

Kinney's first question was in regard to what Low knew about the inbreeding of horses on the Parker Ranch. Low considerably surprised all present by saying that he was not through with the inbreeding of cattle yet. "I have a good deal more to say about the cattle," he said.

"What!" exclaimed Kinney. "Do you want to say it without being asked?"

"No," answered Low; "but yesterday I was interrupted by the 4 o'clock whistle from saying all I had to say in answer to your question about the inbreeding of cattle."

"Oh, come Mr. Low," said Kinney impatiently. "Isn't it that you thought of something overnight that you would like to add?"

"Well, if you think that," said Low, "then I don't want to say anything more about it."

In answer to Kinney's question Low said that he had not seen much inbreeding among the horses. Kinney was almost bowled over by surprise that Low would say anything good about the Parker Ranch and showed it. When he had recovered a little he asked Low if he knew what good Carter had done in his management. Magoon objected to the form of the question and was sustained. Kinney then asked what good Carter had done with reference to his management of the horses, but Magoon again objected with success.

In answer to further questions about the horses Low said that he did not know much about them. Kinney asked him to tell what little he knew and Low said that the horses he had seen had a very good appearance, but you could not always tell by that.

After the subject of inbreeding had been exhausted, paddocks and branding were taken up. Low admitted after a gradual approach of questions by Kinney that the increase of paddocks had increased the facilities for branding the cattle in the paddocks.

"Still in spite of these increased facilities you contend that the men do not work as well as they did in the good old times?" inquired Kinney.

"I don't know that you should call them 'good old time,'" said Low. "When old Uncle John was around you got a good clip across the back with a lasso if you were not attending to your duties."

"You don't mean to say that that ever happened to you?" ejaculated Kinney.

"Pretty nearly once or twice," answered Low.

Did you think the public didn't care who acted as a reception committee for the Oregon visitors?

It would seem that you were mistaken. The votes continue to come in and when you come to think of it there are lots of persons who would make most excellent committeemen and aid materially in spreading abroad the good reputation of Hawaii.

Some new ones have been added to the list and some have had their vote heavily increased. There is no doubt that it is attracting interest. The reward is the glory of being named as the best person among all the good-looking men of Hawaii to make happy the stay of the ladies whose coming has done wonders in making Hawaii known in every nook and hamlet of the Northwest. The figures after the last closing of the polls are given above.

REPORTED CHANGE TO BUY SHARES

FOR I.-I. S. N. CO. MEN

It was reported along the waterfront this morning that all the masters and officers of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company's fleet will be shortly offered a chance to take shares in the company under very easy terms. This to be done with a view to securing a vital interest in the affairs of the company on the part of the employees. President J. A. Kennedy of the I.-I. S. N. Co. was seen this morning in reference to the report noted.

"This is the first I have heard of any such proposition," he said. "Such an idea, as far as I know, can have no foundation in fact. Why, it is impossible to get any shares. People on the outside are offering $110 per share and can't buy at that. There's nothing in it."

INVESTIGATING WATER

It is understood that formal complaints regarding the condition of the Nuuanu water have been made to the Board of Health. An investigation is now under way and if there are any grounds for action the Board will act.

An amended petition has been filed in the matter of Antone Rodriguez et al. vs. Kalamia Rodriguez et al., petition to appoint a new trustee for the estate of Antone Rodriguez, deceased. The petition has been amended by adding to the list of respondents the heirs of Antone Rosa, deceased, who was formerly the trustee of the Rodriguez estate, and John F. Colburn, the administrator of the Rosa estate.

Ping Foon, a Chinese who escaped from Oahu Prison a few weeks ago, getting aboard the Sonoma, came back today, the purser having refused to let him land in the Colonies. Ping Foon was up for robbery. The Sonoma turned him loose today and he was arrested by Asst. Hack Inspector Sidney Smith, now enjoying his old cell on the reef.

The steamers Mauna Loa and Kinua sailed promptly at noon today for Maui and Hawaii ports to leeward and windward ports respectively. Both had few passengers and small freight. These favorite steamers had quite a little brush out the channel and to Diamond Head.

The Waterhouse Co., formerly headquarters at 923 Fort street, has moved to the ground floor of the Judd building, where Fred T. P. Waterhouse and Albert Waterhouse are more in evidence than was possible in an upstairs office.

Associate Justices Hartwell and Wilder are expected to return from the mainland tomorrow. The Supreme Court has adjourned until tomorrow and it is possible that it will take up the term lapse question immediately.
