CITY WON'T PAY; FIGHT IN COURTS PROBABLE RESULT

Special Committee of Supervisors Can't Agree with Caldwell on Water Bill

TWO-THOUSAND-DOLLAR ITEMS ARE REJECTED

Minor Charges Dropped After Conference, but Main Points Still in Dispute

Refusing to recommend two important items for payment, a special committee of the supervisors, named to confer with Superintendent of Public Works Caldwell over his now famous bill for water rendered to the city and county, will probably force the superintendent to carry the matter to the courts if he insists in trying to collect the bill in full.

This is the outcome of a conference last Friday between Caldwell and Supervisors Petrie, Cox and Pacheco. Two items on the bill, it was stated today, will be lopped off by Caldwell, but on two other items recommended by the supervisors he stands firm. Unable to come to an agreement, the committee will make its report soon and believes it has such

MADAME PUAHI WOULD SECURE DANCE LICENSE

Waits Upon Mayor to Report for Work Until 10:30; Then Gets Tired

Madame Puahi walked resignedly into the office of the mayor this morning with ten dollars in her purse with which to buy a license to permit her hula hula dances to be given at her home by Kapiolani park. She remarked that though Sheriff Jarrett had assured her at the time he ordered her to close her place that she could resume the hula hula business soon, he had apparently changed his mind, and advised her to get a license.

"He says the missionaries don't want hula dance," confided Madame Puahi. "So I think best way me get license; then I can give my dances all right."

The woman waited long for his honor to put in an appearance, but unsuccessfully. She finally left for her home saying that she would return again.

Though the mayor does not at this time issue dance licenses—an ordinance to that end, however, has been drafted by P. L. Weaver, deputy city and county attorney—Madame Puahi wished to discuss the matter with him, and she will probably act on his advice. The chief executive has already given his off-hand opinion that it would be proper for the supervisors to issue a license in this case.

Madame Puahi waited for his honor to "show" up for work until 10:30.

'YOUR MAJESTY' REQUESTED TO FORWARD CLOTHES

Addressing Governor Frear as "Honorable President" and "Your Majesty," Mrs. Carolina Ababao Hughes, evidently a Filipino or Spanish woman, has written a pathetic letter from Batangas, P. I., asking that the territorial executive send back to her the clothes of her husband, James Hughes, who she believes died at Pearl City last March. The epistle has been handed to Attorney General Thayer, who is endeavoring today to ascertain the facts in the case. The writer says that her husband left her with two children, 10 and 8 years old, who are crying for the pater and asking that, if he is dead, they be allowed to see his clothes that they may remember him.

The city directory gives the names of several men as James Hughes, but there is only one that would seem to fit the description. In the 1912 directory is recorded the name of James Hughes, laborer in the U. S. quarter-master's department. The name is not repeated in the new directory, however. If this is found to be the person sought an effort will be made to comply with the wife's request.

SECRETARY DANIELS AND NAVY OFFICIALS JUBILANT; SITE IS FOUND FEASIBLE

Some Change in Method of Rebuilding Great Graving-Dock is Possible—Expert Now Formulating Written Opinion for 'Higher-Ups' in Washington

(Special Star-Bulletin Cable)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 8.—Alfred Noble is here from his trip to Honolulu and reports that construction of the Pearl Harbor drydock on the present site is feasible and practicable. He is formulating a written opinion, with measurements, methods and details. Secretary Daniels and other Naval officials are jubilant.

(Associated Press Cable)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 8.—Expert Noble today tendered his preliminary report on the Pearl Harbor drydock disaster to the secretary of the navy. Noble reports that he can save the drydock complete, according to the original plans.

The above cablegram from the Star-Bulletin's Washington correspondent removes the last lingering doubt as to the construction of the Pearl Harbor drydock on its present site. It has never been questioned that a drydock of some sort would be built at the Mid-Pacific naval base, but there has been talk from time to time of a floating drydock, on the supposition that the harbor bottom would not support the weight of a graving dock. The navy engineers have been confident all along that the site was practicable, and the report of the Gayler board, submitted some months ago, was to the effect that the dock could be built on the present site and according to the original specifications. This last contention the contractors, the Hawaiian Dredging Co., took exception to, and it was to finally settle this matter that Alfred Noble, a civilian civil engineer, of world-wide renown, and an expert on foundations, was sent here recently. Noble spent ten days here, and this report given today is taken to be a preliminary to his written report of conditions.

The cable from the Star-Bulletin's correspondent indicates that Noble will recommend a modification of the original plan, and this view is taken also by the contractors. The Associated Press cable, however, indicates that Noble finds nothing amiss with the original specifications. Neither Civil Engineer Gayler, public works officer at Pearl Harbor, and president of the board that submitted the original report of Walter F. Dillingham, general manager of the Hawaiian Dredging Co., contractors, has any private advice from Washington on the subject.

Dillingham, when seen this morning, stated that he had no private information, and would not comment on the Noble report until he had fur-

KOREAN WILLING TO BE IN JAIL IF A 'TRUSTY'

Chun Duck Soon is declared to have pitched his camp on a vacant piece of land near the Kalia Detention hospital on Saturday night, according to reports that began to filter into central police station that evening and on Sunday morning.

A man, declared to tally to a minute detail with the description of the badly wanted Korean, is said to have been seen by a number of residents in that neighborhood. A visit made by a detail of officers indicated that some one had spent a night at the place, judging from the remains of a repast, and the embers left behind from a fire.

The Korean, who on several occasions, has saved his way to freedom, is believed to be in constant communication with friends who are under-

PECULATIONS COVER PERIOD OF ONE YEAR

Tracing his peculations back for almost a year, postoffice officials here have discovered an amazing series of petty irregularities in the work of George W. Smith, a clerk in the registry division, who was placed under arrest some days ago charged with embezzlement.

Smith was arrested August 29 by United States Marshal Hendry on a warrant sworn to by Postoffice Inspector Fred E. Jarvis. He came up for preliminary hearing on September 2 before the United States commissioner, but waived examination and was held to await the action of the federal grand jury. Bond was fixed at $1500, which he was unable to furnish and he was committed to jail, where he now is.

WHICH IS GOVERNOR OF EMPIRE STATE?

Upper picture is that of Governor William Sulzer of New York, recently impeached by the assembly at Albany, but who has steadfastly refused to quit his job as governor; below is Lieutenant-Governor Glynn, who was delegated to the office of acting-governor, following the impeachment. Latest reports from Albany are to the effect that Sulzer still refuses to be ousted but is occupying a downstairs office at the capitol while Acting-Governor Glynn occupies the regular executive office on a floor above.

M'DUFFIE WILL GET HIS TRIP TO SHANGHAI

Sanchez Agrees to Return to Orient, Waiving All Extradition Papers

Carlos Roberto Sanchez, the young man of mysterious nationality who is wanted at Shanghai, China, on a charge of stealing several thousand dollars has consented to return without the exercise of the extradition. Withdrawal of his petition for a writ of habeas corpus was filed in the supreme court this morning by his counsel, Judge A. S. Humphreys, and the prisoner and his young bride will leave on the China next Thursday for the Orient.

Sanchez will be escorted by Chief of Detectives McDuffie, who formally will hand the young man over to the Shanghai authorities on the ship's arrival at that port. This sudden turn of affairs in the episode of the bride and groom who came to Honolulu from the Orient two weeks ago is the culmination of a stormy interview in the office of Attorney General Thayer this morning. Present at the scene were the attorney general, Judge Humphreys, McDuffie and Sanchez. The discussion lasted for an hour or more, with echoes of frequently recurring vocal explosions reaching out to the corridor of the capitol building, where Mrs. Sanchez, the anxious bride paced to and fro. From the sounds of the wordy combat it was gathered that

(Associated Press Cable)
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—Americans by the thousand are flocking to the seaports of Mexico to flee the country, according to reports that have reached Washington and that are responsible for the hurried departure today of the army transport Buford. The Buford left for the west coast of Mexico to take on 1000 refugees said to be awaiting the arrival of assistance at two or three ports. Charles Jenkins, special representative of the department of state, is in charge of the Buford.

Thaw Case May Be Taken To British Privy Council

(Associated Press Cable)
OTTAWA, Canada, Sept. 8.—The sudden developments in the Thaw case, together with the apparent readiness of the courts to listen to the counsel for Harry K. Thaw has brought the immigration authorities to foresee at least two years' delay before the Thaw case can be settled. It is expected to be carried to the Privy Council in England before a final verdict is reached.

Blow Aimed At Swollen Fortunes

(Associated Press Cable)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 8.—Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska today offered an amendment to the inheritance tax law that makes drastic changes aimed at large fortunes, handed down from father to son. Under the Norris amendment the tax would range from one per cent on inheritances of $50,000 up to twenty-five per cent on fifty millions. It is estimated that Vincent Astor, son of the late John Jacob Astor, and inheritor of the bulk of the Astor fortune, would be relieved of twenty millions by the operation of the amendment. Senator Clapp of Minnesota, prominent in the income and inheritance tax legislation, says he will support the amendment.

GOVERNOR TO LEAVE FOR COAST ON EARLY BOAT

Governor Frear has booked passage on the steamship Wilhelmina, which leaves Wednesday for the coast; he also is booked for the Mongolia, which leaves for the mainland next Saturday, and for the Sierra, leaving here September 30. He intends beginning his long-anticipated vacation when he departs on one of these, and will take with him the necessary documents to arrange at Washington for the next bond issue, if it is decided this issue shall be floated before he goes out of office. "I had expected to receive the word that would make my vacation possible, by noon today," said the governor this afternoon, "but it did not come. It may arrive before night or it may be here tomorrow morning." It is thought he refers to information expected from the national capital regarding the governorship situation, though he does not say as much. It is certain, however, that he intends going to the states at the earliest possible moment, and that he very likely will proceed directly to Washington, where arrangements for the bond flotation will be made either by him or by the man who is considered as his successor.

H. K. Bishop, present chief of the Waiahole Water Company's irrigation project, companies mentioned. Bishop came here under engagement to the county of Hawaii as the expert road engineer for the loan fund commission, having had special training in that specialty of engineering in the east. He soon made such an excellent record on the big island that Governor Frear matched him from the county to succeed Marston Campbell at the head of the territorial public works, when the latter resigned in favor of private employment. Mr. Jorgensen's engagement by the Waiahole Water Company, it is reported, means a change in the handling of the work. It is said that he will take the contract to complete the work on the big irrigation scheme on schedule time, and that he is confident of finishing the big tunnel and ditches in less than four years. In all probability, whatever he may
