NEMO TO HOMO.

EDITOR BULLETIN:— Homo appears to doubt the genuineness of the opinion of Abraham Lincoln on the subject of prohibition, saying: "The quotation may be all right, but I do not remember to have met with it before, and it occurs to me that Nemo may possibly be deceived or mistaken." Are you sure, Homo, that you have read everything that Lincoln has written or said during his lifetime? I think that if you have read so much of Lincoln as you would have the public believe, you would see Lincoln's true character in every word uttered by him that I quoted in the BULLETIN of Oct. 23.
Why, man, it is just what honest old Abe would say, if approached upon anything that interfered with the personal rights of man, as prohibition does. But you wish to know the source of my information. Here it is: I received it, with plenty of the same kind, from the editor of the South-West, a generous, whole-souled, sturdy fighter for the rights of humanity. Is it not a glorious cause, Homo? Answer me truly. As the editor of the BULLETIN begins to grow about so many long articles (and justly so), I will make this short by giving only one article on the same subject of prohibition. It is from ex-Governor Andrews, the old war governor of Massachusetts: "Artificial offenses and meddlesome legislation, and that felt to be unjust, are, indeed, causes of crime of which the philosophical educator cannot afford to be ignorant. Artificial offenses put a large class of people, and often that of the least discriminating and instructed, into needless antagonism with the law.
Confounding of moral distinctions on the side of the law begets a corresponding confusion in the mind of the citizen. If the law treats the sale of a mug of beer or sweet cider as of like delinquency with the crime of larceny, how long will it take the humble and unlearned to conclude that the law is either a sham unworthy of veneration, or else a jump to the converse of the first proposition, and vote larceny of an article to be no worse than the selling of the beer or the cider? So, therefore, every statute denouncing the penalties of the criminal law against men in violation of the commonly received sense of justice concerning human relation in the civil state, becomes, by reason of that very excess, a generator of evil." NEMO.
