VETERANS OF TWO WARS PAY TRIBUTE TO COMRADES

MEMORIAL DAY FOR FALLEN HEROES

Capt. Rees' Address Is Inspiration For Americans

"Tis the Sabbath of the Nation; 'Tis the floral-feast of May; In remembrance of our heroes We keep Memorial Day."

Commemorating what is indeed the Sabbath Day of the Nation, eighteen veterans of the great Civil War, accompanied by a number of those who faced the shot and shell in the Spanish War, escorted by companies of the regular Army of the United States and the National Guard of Hawaii, and thousands of reverent friends, marched to the beautiful Nuuanu Cemetery to do honor to those who had fought and died for their country. With excellent precision the impressive ceremonies were gone through—the long line of march of soldiers and civilians to the last resting-place of the ones who had gone before, and the solemn program rendered there.

CAPTAIN CORWIN P. REES A veteran of the Civil War and the Battle of Manila Bay, who delivered the Memorial Day Address for the Geo. W. de Long Post, G. A. R.

Forming at the Drillshed, the entire Second Battalion of the United States Army, composed of Companies D, F, G, and H, under command of Major Dunning and staff, led the parade, followed by the First Infantry of Hawaii, commanded by Colonel Samuel Johnson, with aides, Captain Cummins and Chaplain Simpson. The battalion was combined with the Infantry in command of Major Riley, with Lieut. Thompson and Lieut. Whitehead as staff. Twenty-six sets of foun of the Kamehameha Schools cadets marched behind the National Guard.

Next came the members of the Geo. W. de Long Post, No. 45, of the Grand Army of the Republic, the men who came on this day to cover with flowers the graves of their comrades-in-arms. A mere fragment of the original band they were, but the light of reverence in their rapidly dimming eyes showed that they were thinking of the old, old days, when, with beating hearts and high hopes, they went forth on the field of battle to defend the honor of their country. Following the G. A. R. were the younger veterans of an international dispute, the Spanish War. Acting Governor Mott-Smith and Colonel Jones followed in a carriage accompanied by the members of the staff. E. S. Barry, S. V. S. W. V., was Marshal of the Day. The line of march was formed on the old Army grounds, and the tramp began from there down Miller street to Beretania, then turning down Beretania to Alakea, down King street to Fort, up Fort to Vineyard; from this street to Nuuanu, and thence to the cemetery. Seats were placed around the little plot of ground reserved as a last resting-place for the Army and Navy, and it was here that the solemn ceremony was carried out.

When all had gathered around the little spot the Royal Hawaiian Band opened the program with a dirge. Post Commander P. R. Rider of the G. A. R. then read the simple and touching ritual of the order. This was followed by an earnest prayer by Chaplain C. H. Dickey, asking that the blessings of the Great Commander fall upon the dead as well as those who were gathered there to honor the graves of the country's heroes.

President Lincoln's Gettysburg address was splendidly given by J. Roy after which "Taps" was sounded by Cornetist Amastu of the Hawaiian Band.

Captain Corwin P. Rees, a veteran of the Civil War, and now Commandant of the local Naval Station, rendered the Memorial Day address. Glowing tributes were paid especially to the members of the Grand Army of the Republic and to Abraham Lincoln, the martyred President of the United States. During the course of his speech Captain Rees recited a poem of his own writing commemorating the Battle of Manila Bay, in which he participated as executive officer of Dewey's flagship.

Benediction was asked by Rev. D. W. Crane, after which the line was again formed and the homeward march begun.

The Memorial Address follows in full:

Commander, Comrades and Friends: God bless the silent soldiers of the Civil War; the noble army of heroes, living or dead, who fought "that this government of the people, by the people, and for the people, should not perish from the earth." Blessings to the dead for duties done:

Jays to the living for victories won. Well earned is the sweet repose of those who have gone before. Fully assured is the fair reward of those who are following on.

Happily may it be said of each and everyone who offered his blood for his country's life, that nearly he fulfilled the injunction of the music-murmuring Bryant,—

"So live that when thy summons comes to join the innumerable caravan which moves to the pale realms of shade where each shall take his (Continued on Page 5)

PARTY LEADERS FIND SITUATION IS GOOD

That the G. O. P. is still able to hold up its end in the political arena, and that it will, as usual, be able to lead its legions to victory in the coming campaign, in spite of the gloomy forebodings of Senator Howitt and others and the dire prophecies made by the Democrats and the Laborites, was the conclusion which was reached last night by the topnotches of the party when they were assembled in solemn executive conference at headquarters yesterday afternoon. Among those present at the meeting, which had been called by National Committeeman A. G. M. Robertson, were members of the Central Committee, the officers of the County Committee and (Continued on Page 4.)

ARRESTS TO FOLLOW FIGHT SAYS THWING

Legal Complications Will Follow Scrap At Orpheum

Will there be a prize fight at the Orpheum, or will Thwing and his following interfere?

Will those who promote and those who witness the fight be arrested? These questions were heard all over town today wherever the lawless crowds foregathered in the dullness of the holiday. It appears certain that the fight will be pulled off, and it also appears fairly certain that arrests will follow the event, though how general these will be can be only a matter of conjecture.

H. M. Ayres, who is promoting the fight, said, in answer to many questions put to him by those interested, that under no circumstances would the fight be called off. He had paid for the house and the preparations incidental to the training of the principals, and had to go ahead with the affair. Ayres is in the employ of the Advertiser.

It is certain that neither the Federal authorities or the police will prevent the fight, no matter what steps they may take after the event. Thwing stated this morning that he had received a letter from U. S. District Attorney Breckons, in which he stated that he did not decline to enforce the law. Thwing would, however, not give out the full text of the letter. (Continued on Page 4)

HAWAIIANS WOULD ENTERTAIN FLEET

Huis Feel They Have Been Slighted By Committee

"The Hawaiians will only be too glad to help entertain the officers and men of the fleet when it gets here," said Sam Dwight, president of the Hui Ohiwi, this morning. "Personally," continued he, "I am in favor of giving the Hawaiian luau to the men after they have arrived here. The question of giving a luau by the hui it not for me to decide one way or the other. It has to be discussed and decided on by all the members, or the majority of the Hui. I have been approached by a certain gentleman who asked me what I thought of giving luau by the Hawaiian societies. I told him that I was personally in favor of doing so. Of course, I cannot do anything, nor can I properly lay the matter before the Hui, without first receiving a written request from the fleet committee."

Another gentleman who was near by stated that the native Hawaiians were quite omitted by the Fleet Committee. There are, of course, a good many of them on various committees, but the luau affairs and the hookupu proposition had not been quite satisfactorily explained to them. The Hui Poaia, it is said, is willing to do its share in the entertainment of the fleet, but no official communication has been submitted to them. A certain Hawaiian society of women is ever prepared to render assistance towards decorating the luau tables, etc., but no word has been sent to them. The ladies do not want to butt in unless requested so to do, and the whole thing is to them a mystery. They are in the dark and are simply waiting to see when the fleet gets in.
