Garlic In Candy For Innocents on April Fools Day

If by chance some friend should offer you some sweetmeats today, do not get the idea that your friend is becoming cverly generous or is running for office. He may not be, and in that case you are certainly due for a surprise. Much of the candy that is passed around today contains garlic, blocks of wood, old pieces of leather and sundry other ingredients from coal tar to shoe blacking. The boys are out today, and the hat on the sidewalk and the big coin with a string on it is proof that "April Fool" has not been forgotten. If you are called on the phone to come down to the bank to receive an annuity of eighteen million dollars, it might be so, but this date is marked down on the calendar as April 1. Many of the tricks on April Fool Day are old, but still, as P. T. Barnum says, there is occasionally one born who can be fooled, and from a count this morning about 90 per cent of the population has to date "bit." It may come at any time as one who "bit" today says. Be prepared!

JAPANESE CONSUL AND KOREAN BISHOP WILL BE ENTERTAINED HERE

Prominent Americans and Japanese of the city will hold a luncheon at the Young Hotel on Monday noon in honor of Consul-general R. Moroi, who will succeed Acting Consul H. Arita, and Bishop M. C. Harris, who has for years been a missionary in Korea. Bishop Harris is well known in Honolulu having passed through here on a number of occasions. He is also well acquainted in Japan, where he was given a reception the day before his departure on the Shinyo Maru. During the luncheon, Dr. Doremus Sudder and Acting Consul-general Arita will talk. Preliminary plans are being arranged for a joint reception and farewell for Consul-general Moroi and Acting Consul-general Arita. The two prominent Japanese are well known in Japanese diplomatic circles, and many Americans will take the opportunity to welcome the new consul-general and at the same time express a regret that Consul Arita must leave Hawaii.

POLICE JUDGE DENIES JUSTICE FLOUTED BY HIS ADVICE TO AUTO DRIVER

"I deny that my advice to Sgt. John McKay, U. S. A., yesterday morning was a flirtation with justice," as claimed by the Advertiser," said Police Judge J. M. Monsarrat today. "On the contrary, it was an effort on my part to help the man get justice. The evidence failed to substantiate the charge that he was drunk while driving, although the man did admit that he had had a drink or two. Yet the man pleaded guilty. I advised him then how serious was the charge of driving in an intoxicated condition, and as the man insisted that he was not drunk but had difficulty in making his steering wheel work properly, says it didn't obey his hand—I allowed him to withdraw his plea of guilty and change it to one of not guilty.

"In the meantime Prosecutor Charles F. Chillingworth, at the request of the police, changed the charge to one of heedless driving, for which offense I fined the soldier $15 and costs. Never have I imposed a fine as low as $15 for driving while intoxicated. I consider that a very serious offense."

CHICKEN THIEF GETS NINE MONTHS IN COOP

Chicken stealing is not confined to the Southland. Yee Yung Soon, a barefooted Korean, was sentenced to nine months this morning by Police Judge Monsarrat on the charge of having received stolen chickens and selling them.

While housewives are paying $3 a head for poultry Mrs. Mary Santos values her chickens at $1 a head. But even at that price she dislikes to lose two one day and four the next, and suddenly find them on sale in a grocery store down town. So Mrs. Santos talked to Sing Sing, Sr., father of the Chinaman who was assaulted by a Porto Rican this morning, and proprietor of the grocery store, about her chickens. He gave her one of them back, and in his chicken-buyer wisdom had a policeman arrest Soon for stealing.

Soon claimed to have received them free from a Chinaman whose name he didn't know. He admitted that he had spent four months in jail on a similar charge.

Gets Off Lightly. Because Juan Pedrin, a Porto Rican, gets only $7 a week, has a wife and three children to support, and his wife is consumptive, Police Judge Monsarrat suspended sentence of $5 against him today. He pleaded not guilty to a charge of falling to stop his bicycle within ten feet of a street-car that was taking on passengers, and bumping into a woman with his bike.

Brig-Gen. Benjamin C. Card, U. S. A., retired, died at his home at Washington, aged 91.

Three men were killed and five injured by a fall of coal and slate at the Maple Hill colliery, Shenandoah, N. J. Hungary has received a loan of 150,000,000 marks from a group of German banks.

More than 300 persons in Paris and the Department of the Seine have been arrested and fined for spreading rumors and false news.
