JUDGE KINGSBURY'S ACTION IN CASE CONDEMNED BY SUPREME COURT DECISION

Circuit Judge Kingsbury of Maui comes in for some severe criticism in a decision handed down by the Supreme Court this morning, ordering a new trial in the case of the Territory against T. Kawano, a Japanese convicted of perjury.

The decision holds that Judge Kingsbury established a number of strange precedents in the course of the trial that are strongly condemned and that his remarks and instructions to the jury, commending one witness and disparaging the other, were "unfair, prejudicial and erroneous."

The decision, written by Associate Justice De Holt adds that "the court has no right to attempt to discredit instructions already given."

The defendant Japanese was convicted of perjury and sentenced to imprisonment for a term of eighteen months, the case being carried to the Supreme Court on a writ of error.

The ruling of Kingsbury against an attempt made to have an interpreter repeat in the Japanese language just what he asked of the defendant "was contrary to authority and reason" in the opinion of the Supreme Court.

"The right to subject an interpreter, on the witness stand, to cross examination on the foreign expressions and terms used by him as an interpreter, used by the witness for whom he has acted as an interpreter, is a right well recognized by law, and is founded upon the general rules and principles which govern the cross examination of other witnesses," says the decision.

Referring to a paragraph of instructions quoted the decision has the following comment and conclusions to make:

"By this instruction, together with the remarks as quoted above, the court, in effect, told the jury that in order to acquit the defendant they must necessarily conclude that Otsuka had deliberately committed perjury himself—and that before reaching the conclusion that Otsuka was a perjurer they should find some motive on his part for the commission of such a wicked act because sane men do not act without some motive. The use of such language by the court was not only improper but it was unfair and prejudicial to the defendant."

12-YEAR-OLD LAD EXPERT THIEF

Tells Court How He Stole Twenty-Five Watches In Two Days.

Stealing twenty-five watches in two days during broad daylight, disposing of them for a substantial sum, which he "blew" immediately, is the police record of Keatoha Poakalani, a Hawaiian lad twelve years old.

Poakalani was a witness this morning in Judge Lymer's court, where Hayashi Sr. and K. Hayashi, his son, were charged with receiving the stolen watches from him. The lad said when questioned as to how he obtained the watches from the Japanese storekeepers, "I stole the watches when the Japanese were eating their lunch. They did not see me take the watches. After I finished one store, I went to another store and stole some more watches while the storekeepers were eating."

This was what Poakalani told the court during the interrogation by Prosecutor Brown and Attorney Watson, who appeared for the defendants. He told also about selling the watches to the two Hayashis.

Attorney Watson succeeded in having Hayashi Sr. discharged for lack of evidence of his guilt. After the close of the prosecution Watson told the court that the prosecution failed to prove the value of the watches, which is one of the most important factors to entitle the defendant to a discharge. The court agreed with him, and Judge Lymer discharged the defendant Hayashi Sr.

K. Hayashi, one of the defendants, was sentenced to thirty days' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $5. It appeared during the trial that he knew the watches which he purchased from Poakalani were stolen, and on that evidence he was found guilty as charged.

COMRADE BETRAYS PLANS

tary and treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Iron Workers, of being the originator, controlling genius and paymaster of this conspiracy.

He emphatically named J. B. McNamara, alias J. B. Bryce, brother of the secretary, as the man who placed dynamite under the Los Angeles Times building and as being immediately responsible for the destruction of the plant and the killing of twenty-one men. He charged J. J. McNamara with complicity in the same crime. It was Secretary McNamara, he said, who conceived the crime, planned the details and delegated his brother to carry them out.

How Plan Worked.

He said J. B. McNamara, who was known as Bryce, placed the dynamite, with the alarm clock attachments, in the "ink alley" of the Times building, broke a gas pipe to make it appear that an explosion of gas had caused the disaster, and hurried away to take the "Lark" train on the Southern Pacific for San Francisco.

The Lark leaves Los Angeles at 8 o'clock in the evening, and the explosion did not occur until 1 o'clock in the morning.

Hence, according to McNamara's statement, McNamara was five hours out of Los Angeles before the clock had ticked the tragic moment.

The concealer of the alarm, he said, was J. J. McNamara, who had pronounced it the most cunningly arranged agent of destruction ever invented.

McNamara said that J. B. McNamara (using the name of Bryce), David Kaplan and M. A. Schmidt bought the dynamite from the Dupont powder works across the bay from San Francisco, and that Schmidt and Kaplan remained in that city.

LANDLADY IDENTIFIES McNAMARA AS "BRYCE"

LOS ANGELES, Apr. 26.—"It's undoubtedly Bryce."

With these words Mrs. D. H. Ingersoll of San Francisco, who gave the police a detailed description of the man known as J. B. Bryce, said to have been the person who purchased the dynamite from the powder works at Glant, a part of which, it is alleged, was used in the blowing up of the Times plant, today made her first identification of J. B. McNamara as Bryce.

Under instructions from District Attorney Fredericks, Mrs. Ingersoll returned here Tuesday from San Francisco, where she has been since testifying before the special grand jury which investigated the Times disaster.

BIG CHALMERS AUTO FOR BUSY HUSTLERS

In order to mark the opening of the Asahi Theater by the Independent Theater Company, Monday night next, the management has decided to give a fully-equipped $2200 Chalmers-Detroit automobile. The car comes from the Associated Garage and is complete in every detail. The voting competition now being carried on by the Independent company will be run in conjunction with the Asahi Theater, and votes will be received and credited at both theaters.

The Asahi Theater has been entirely remodeled and is one of the most comfortable theaters in the city. It is on Maunakea street, between Hotel and Beretania, and two blocks down from Nuuanu. In order to mark the opening, special artists have been engaged. They include the Russells, clever singers and actors, who will be seen in a number of comedy sketches; Madam Carmen, the wonderful-voiced singer; the Middleship Sisters, refined song and dance artists. Besides these there will be several other good acts and the latest moving-picture films and illustrated songs. The automobile will be on view Saturday night in front of the Independent Theater.

Some of the films for the moving pictures have been tried over and are said to be the equal of any imported here. The special screen on which they will be thrown gives a brilliancy and non-flicker effect that is easy for the eyes.

MAY CELEBRATE CORONATION

British residents of Honolulu as well as all others interested in arranging a special celebration here of the coronation of King George will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the ballroom of the Young Hotel. British Consul Ralph Forster is calling the meeting at the request of prominent British residents here.

Mr. Forster said this morning that the meeting is not restricted to British subjects. On the contrary, the occasion is planned for one of general commemoration, as it is one of the notable events of the year and of international importance. In all probability there will be some kind of a general demonstration arranged.

Mr. Forster said it had been hoped that the British cruiser Kent might be in port on that date, returning to the Asiatic station, and if so the naval station authorities would recognize her by the firing of a salute. However, it appears that the Kent will not arrive until June 28. Coronation Day is June 22.

No plans have been made in advance for tonight's meeting, but all interested are asked to attend.

McNAMARA NOT HURSTED INTO AUTO.

When McNamara, handcuffed to Private Detective Barry of the Burns agency, was taken from the Santa Fe Limited, he was rushed to the sidewalk, but was not hustled into an automobile, as had been McNamara a few minutes previously, being compelled to stand for a few moments awaiting a car.

The delay was intentional. Close by, in another machine, sat Mrs. Ingersoll with the woman detective.

"That's McNamara," said Mrs. Hitchcock, indicating the prisoner.

Mrs. Ingersoll gazed intently at the man a few seconds, and then as his hand, with which he had been concealing his features from the press photographers, fell away for an instant, Mrs. Ingersoll sank back in her seat and was heard to say: "It's undoubtedly Bryce."

TEACHERS WILL HEAR OF HAWAII

Hawaii will be advertised extensively to teachers, in fact, an especial effort will be made to show to the thousands of teachers who assemble in San Francisco next month for the convention of the National Education Association that Hawaii is just the place for them.

Secretary H. P. Wood of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, reported yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the committee his plans for "circulating" the convention in a thorough and effective way. Five thousand circulars will be sent to the convention, the most attractive promotion literature available being used, and the advantages of Hawaii as a vacation-resort will be set forth fully.

Secretary Wood presented also plans for interchanging steamer tickets, and if they are carried out, it will be a big boom in a tourist business for the islands. The plan is for the steamship companies to come to some kind of an agreement so as to allow the through passengers stop-over privileges and the further privilege to proceed on the journey to the coast by some of the intermediate steamers. Secretary Wood reports progress in getting this plan underway and hopes that it will be formally adopted without delay, although some time will be necessary to conclude negotiations.
