DEATH OF W. DOLLOWAY.

Was Well Known Old Resident on Hawaii. Walter Dolloway died at Pahala last Thursday from a hemorrhage. The funeral occurred at 5 p. m. the same day. The funeral was attended by Manager John Sherman, manager of Hawaiian Agriculture Co., and most of the residents of Pahala, Rev. Kauhanu officiating. The deceased was well known on Hawaii. He was a native of one of the New England states. He came to the Hawaiian Islands in 1878, and went in with the Canadian planters. This organization planted cane at Pahala when the plantation was first started and when they gave up cane planting, Dolloway went to work on the plantation. He remained with the plantation for a number of years, until engaged by Peter Lee to conduct the half-way house. Dolloway held this position at the time of his death. Dolloway was one of the best known men in the islands as he had come in contact with tourists and island people traveling between Hilo and Kau for over fifteen years. He will be greatly missed by those who travel by the half-way house. About two years ago, he lost his voice and his health has been failing ever since. He married an Hawaiian woman who died about seven years ago.

METEOR WAKES HILO.

Aerolite Comes Close to Earth Before It Burns Out. Many Hilo people were awakened at 5:30 Thursday morning by a thundering roar, supposed generally to have been a thunder clap or the rumble of an earthquake. Those who were up early, however, were privileged to see the brilliant cause of the morning disturbance. It was the flight of a meteor, which came so close to earth that the blazing aerolite left a trail of fire hundreds of feet in length behind it. Its velocity and the increasing density of the atmosphere as it neared the earth produced such consuming heat that, when scarcely a mile above the earth it exploded, leaving a cloud of smoke which floated over the city. No portions of the aerolite were seen to strike the earth or sea. Mr. Kuhns of Kaunama saw the phenomenon. He says it was a ball of fire two feet in diameter describing an arc over the city and falling toward the sea. When apparently lower than ordinary clouds it exploded leaving a great cloud of smoke, which remained visible for several minutes. It was about one minute from the time that the smoke appeared when a long thundering detonation was heard. Sound travels 1112 feet per second, therefore the celestial visitor was not more than four miles distant at most when friction heat caused its extinction. C. E. Wright, manager of the Volcano Stables, also witnessed the heavenly pyrotechnics and gives the same description.

BOUNDARY DISPUTE.

J. U. Smith, Once U. S. Commissioner at Dyea Called to Stand.

In response to an order from the Attorney General of the United States, J. U. Smith has been summoned to Honolulu to testify in regard to the Alaskan boundary dispute between the United States and Great Britain. Mr. Smith leaves by the Kinau today and does not know whether his mission will take him to Washington or not.

Mr. Smith was United States Commissioner at Dyea and Skagway during the Klondike rush, and as such exercised magisterial jurisdiction at the furthest inland point claimed by the United States, and consequently will be able to materially strengthen this country's contention in the noted dispute. Priority of possession will be one of the main points to be determined by the International Commission and Mr. Smith's testimony will be of special importance on this phase of the question. Mr. Smith with other United States officials were stationed in Southeastern Alaska in July, 1897, and ousted British officials who were attempting to locate at the Coast, and prevailed upon them to remove their "Custom house tents" to a place beyond the disputed line. Subsequently for mutual and temporary convenience the Dominion customs officials were permitted to locate at a narrow pass on the summit of the range, where they collected duties under protest from American citizens.

Kahuna at Puna.

Judge Kanama, District Magistrate at Puna tried and bound over to the Grand Jury under bonds of $500 a Hawaiian Kahuna, charged with manslaughter. The Kahuna had exercised radical measures to cast out devils in the case of a sick man, resulting in the extinguishment of the man's life. The sick man was roughly handled in many ways, being beaten with particular vigor over the head with a volume of the Holy Scriptures. The Kahuna had such power in the household that the wife of the deceased was obliged to join in the torture that left her a widow. At his examination before Judge Kanama, the Kahuna admitted his practices but justified them by biblical instructions to cast out devils.

THE ALLIED TRADES.

Oyer One Hundred New Members Taken in Monday Night.

Judging from the increase of membership every meeting, the Allied Trades of Hilo will become the most powerful organization in the city. A new phase of usefulness of the organization is shown in the possibilities of making new citizens. At the meeting Monday night, it was found that about sixty of the membership are aliens. The organization proposes to make American citizens of these at the earliest opportunity and in this way alone has justified its existence if it never does another thing. A special committee consisting of Frank Bento, E. Harbottle and Henry James, was appointed to look after the naturalization of members.

When President Kendall called for new members, fully one hundred walked to the Secretary's desk and paid their dues and signed the roll. The charter closes next meeting and all who are in sympathy with the movement should join at this time.

The matter of stevedores was brought up. Mr. Hale reporting that he had over fifty new members of the organization, available for this work. The committees appointed to wait upon Hackfeld & Co. and the Mercantile Co. were not ready to report at the last meeting.

The meeting then took up the matter of completing the election of officers. Mr. Clement of the Hawaii Herald was unanimously elected to the position of Secretary, the rules being suspended for the purpose.

The following standing committees were appointed: Arbitration—C. L. Clement, chairman; Wm. Todd, Frank Bento, I. Erickson, Wm. Graf.

Labor—H. Ludwig, chairman; P. Hale, C. Lehmann Sr., T. B. Ah Leong, Jas. McDonald.

Membership—A. R. Hancock, chairman; John Herring, J. Rocha, E. Harbottle, Fred Naylor.

President H. Kendall, in view of his departure from the city for some weeks, on work in Hamakua made an address, urging the organization to work in season and out for its objects. During his absence Mr. Cameron will occupy the chair.

SHAM BATTLE AT PUNA.

Company D Will Give an Excursion May 10.

Captain Fetter and other officers of Company D went to Puna last Sunday, inspected the topography of the environs of Kapoho and decided that the field was a good one for a sham battle. As a result it has been conclusively settled to array the soldiers in Company D in battle line, Sunday, May 10. Arrangements have been made with the Hilo Railroad Company for an excursion train to leave Hilo at 9 a. m., returning in the evening. The round trip fare will be only $1 and tickets are on sale at a number of stores in the city.

Captain Fetter in speaking of the excursion said it was his wish to have the outing and sham battle some week day but such a thing was impossible. The members of the Company are all workers and all could not get away on any week day; hence Sunday outings are necessary. Captain Fetter said also that beer or liquor would be strictly forbidden on the excursion and that no one could find any ground for objection to the department of his men. "If our boys are ever called upon to go into active service," said Mr. Fetter, "they will be on duty on Sunday and every other day and I do not believe the drill on May 10 can properly be called Sabbath desecration."
