CAN'T GET HOLD OF ROCKEFELLER

He said about 196,000,000 shares of stock were exchanged annually on the exchange.

Untermeyer sought to show that the annual total of brokers' commissions were enormous and that many brokers speculate themselves.

"Do you want to have us understand that the brokers speculate to the extent of one-half of all the dealings?" the witness was asked.

"Some of them have many members. It is impossible to tell whether they are operating for themselves or customers."

Sturgis said there were 400 or 500 active members on the exchange daily, and that there was a non-active membership of about 150.

The broker said that a fair average of the daily transactions would be one-third of the trades for private account of the brokers and not for customers.

"Split" commissions were explained by Sturgis. He said the division was regulated by exchange rules.

The broker then explained "short selling."

"There are different kinds," he said. "One is where it is purely speculative, which is commonest."

"That's where a man is selling something he hasn't got and expects to buy it later at a low price?"

"That's right. It amounts to a great many thousands of shares in a year."

"What's its purpose?"

"Generally to make a profit."

"Gambling on a proposition?"

"That's the process of buying something later on at a profit."

"Do you regard that as legitimate and defensible?"

"It depends on circumstances, as if a panic was raging over the country."

"If a panic was raging, wouldn't the short selling make it worse?"

"It might. Self-preservation is the first law of nature. I certainly think it's defensible. If a broker makes a profit on that sale he cannot sell."

"His only purpose would be to make money?"

"Yes, and protect himself," said Sturgis.

FRIDAY THE THIRTEENTH OREGON'S BLOODY DAY

Professor spent the morning with the doomed man and said: "Mike will go quietly to his death." Garrison spent most of the night polishing the speech which he insists he will deliver standing on the trap. He protests his innocence and declares he will shout it to the world from the gallows.

Roberts remained sullen and taciturn today. Last night he handed Chaplain Bauer his farewell letter to his sister—a rambling epistle full of love and references to religion.

Chaplain Bauer will be present at all the executions and will say the prayers for the dying while the black caps are being adjusted. About twenty "guests" will be present.

Prison Superintendent Lawson this morning notified Warden Bergen and Snodgrass that they must spring the traps.

SUPERVISOR IS SUMMONED HOME

E. D. Smith Passed Away at His Home in Fort Madison This Morning After Long Illness.

SERVED NOT FULL YEAR

Vacancy on Board Will be Filled by Clerk, Recorder and Auditor According to Law.

E. D. Smith, one of the three members of the board of supervisors of Lee county, whose death was not unexpected, passed away this morning at 12:20 o'clock at his home in Fort Madison.

The deceased had served not quite a year of his term as a county official and had entered the office in poor health. Kidney and heart trouble were the causes of his illness and for weeks past he had been in a serious condition.

He was for many years a prominent hardware merchant of Fort Madison and had retired from business a short time ago. As a citizen and business man he had the respect and confidence of all and proved to be a valuable county official.

He was about seventy years of age and is survived by his wife and a brother, Frank, present assessor of Fort Madison. Mr. Smith was a veteran of the civil war and a member of the Masonic fraternity.

The funeral is to be held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family home at Fort Madison.

Filling the Vacancy.
Mr. Smith having three years yet to serve on the board, his death causes a vacancy and according to law, this will be filled by the county clerk, county recorder and county auditor, who will appoint some man to fill the office until the next county election is held.

It was Mr. Smith's request that his brother Frank, be appointed, this desire being expressed to Supervisors Young and Sheffield by the sick man while on his death bed. He was told that the law provided for the appointment, but that the two members of the board would do all they could to bring about the request.

In speaking of Mr. Smith this morning, D. A. Young, chairman of the board of supervisors, spoke highly of the deceased official, whom he respected as an honorable capable citizen and his death was a sincere sorrow to Mr. Young.

RESIGNS FROM PEACE SOCIETY

Socialist Editor Charges Organization With Criminal Alliance With the Jingles.

[United Press Leased Wire Service.] WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Charging that the American Peace society is "in criminal alliance" with the forces that clamor for war and that it does not want to prevent unnecessary bloodshed, A. M. Simmons, editor of The Coming Nation of Girard, Kansas, today wrote Benjamin F. Trueblood, general secretary of the society, discontinuing his membership.

Secretary Trueblood replied that Simmons evidently was incensed because the society would not join in the socialists' world-wide demonstration against war.

One paragraph of Simmons' letter to Secretary Trueblood read: "The quiescent cowardice of the peace society during the last few weeks in the face of a tremendous opportunity and a pressing duty to act against war has convinced me that whatever it may profess, that the society does not want to prevent war.

Insisting that he cannot understand Simmons' charges as to the society's cowardice, Trueblood today replied: "You ought to know that it is impossible for a society constituted as ours is of members of all classes and ranks of men to take up and limit itself to the special promotion of the socialist side of the movement. You do not believe, of course, that any capitalist is a friend of peace. But we do, and we cannot therefore deliberately slap these friends of ours in the face."

"Your feeling that the American Peace society is in 'criminal alliance' with the forces that clamor for war" is as far from the real state of the case as anything could possibly be."

TURKISH ENVOYS SLOW TO ARRIVE

Peace Conference Set for Today Has Been Postponed Until Monday.

[United Press Leased Wire Service.] LONDON, Dec. 13.—Because of the delayed arrival of the Turkish envoys, the Turkish-Balkan peace conference did not begin today as agreed in the Baghche protocol. It was said at the foreign office that the initial session would not be held before Monday.

The Bulgarians arrived early today and it was expected that the Turks would reach London late in the afternoon.

The plenipotentiaries remained at their hotels all morning. Owing to the non-arrival of the envoys from Constantinople, Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, said that he could not formally receive any of the delegates at the foreign office today, but it was expected that some of them would call there informally during the afternoon.

The tired representatives of Serbia, Greece and Montenegro arrived about the same time last night and huge crowds welcomed them.

The optimists took great comfort from the statements from some of the peace delegates. Prime Minister Venizelos, of the Greeks, denied emphatically that there was any friction among the allies and said the federation was more cohesive than ever.

M. Novakovich, of Serbia, was quoted as saying that his government, it allowed to hold Durazzo, would never agree to attempt to fortify the town or cede it to another nation.

Advices from Vienna said that Austria-Hungary, as if to meet Serbia halfway, expressed willingness for the Servians to hold Durazzo for a commercial outlet.

It was said that the Turks had prepared two drafts to be submitted to the Balkan plenipotentiaries. The first of these was said to be a rejection of some of the most radical of the proposals made by the allies, at Baghche. When the armistice was signed, The other was said to be a counter proposition. It was conceded that all of the parties to the conference would initially ask for considerably more than they hoped to get. There was no confirmation of the rumor that the allies would insist of the occupation of Scutari, Adrianople and Janina.

APPEAL TAKEN IN FROZEN APPLE CASE

L. M. Hartley Will Carry His Case Against Chicago Firm Above U. S. District Court.

L. M. Hartley, whose case against Lapidus & Holub, of Chicago, was tried in the federal court at the recent session here has taken an appeal in the case to the United States circuit court of appeals.

Hartley asked $7,000 of Lapidus & Holub and Judge McPherson directed a verdict of $598.28, the amount of indebtedness admitted. The Chicago firm claimed that it should not pay for the apples which were frozen while Hartley claimed his contract called for payment regardless of that fact. The verdict gave Hartley pay for apples not frozen only. The case will probably go to the U. S. court in St. Paul.

A Des Moines man had an attack of muscular rheumatism in his shoulder. A friend advised him to go to Hot Springs. That meant an expense of $150.00 or more. CAME FROM UTAH FOR FIVE MINUTES

Government Spent a Lot of Money to Bring Two Witnesses to the Hearing.

[United Press Leased Wire Service.] CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 13.—A. E. Woodman of Helena, Montana, was again on the stand today when the National Cash Register officials' trial on a charge of anti-trust law violation, was resumed in the United States district court. Woodman is a former agent for the American Cash Register Co. His direct examination was halted late yesterday when attorneys for the defense objected to a description of the way he alleges he was "shadowed" by National agents.

The government spent several thousand dollars yesterday to put five witnesses on the stand. Two who came from Utah only spoke five minutes and were considered by the defense to be too insignificant for cross-examination.

ARCHBALD TRIAL SPEEDING UP

Prosecution Will Rest Tomorrow and Defense Is to Begin on Monday.

[United Press Leased Wire Service.] WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Owing to the adoption of Senator Root's order that the evidence for the prosecution rest tomorrow and the defense begin on Monday the Archbald impeachment trial visibly increased its speed today. While only four of the thirteen charges against the commerce court judge have thus far been covered and two witnesses on the first charge had yet to appear when today's session began, the house managers felt that in two weeks of presentation of their case they had convinced the necessary two-thirds of the senate that Archbald is unfit for further judicial service. On the rest of the charges the testimony will be brief.

Chief Counsel Worthington for the defense surprised the senate by his estimate that one week will be sufficient for the evidence in favor of Archbald.

A feeling in the chamber that Archbald with be less generally supported, when the roll is called, than was anticipated at the outset of the trial was noticeable today. This adverse sentiment is ascribed to the showing made by the house managers of Archbald's frequent appeals to railroad officials for acts which might result in advantage to himself when the railroads in question had litigation pending in his court.

THE WORLD'S MARKETS

The Grain Market.
[United Press Leased Wire Service.] CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—Firmness in Liverpool today coupled with strength in Winnipeg late yesterday encouraged the wheat bulls somewhat today. Futures in the British market ruled higher. The trade was small. Price making influences in Liverpool favored better values. News of resumption of harvest in Argentina was overshadowed by the prospect of light world's shipments and uncertainty as to Argentina's export surplus.

Northwest receipts were liberal. Corn future opened unchanged to ¼ higher and coming betterment was apparent. Country offerings was free with ideal weather. There was some car shortage.

Oats had a firm undertone with a fair commission house demand and a fair demand for current delivery.

The undertone of provisions also was firm. Shorts covered because of smaller hog receipts than expected. Commission houses sold.
