The literary and dance given by the International Community Association on last Friday evening as the opening of a series of these events to be continued throughout the winter, proved a very successful affair and was highly enjoyed by the large audience present.

The early part of the evening was devoted to a program of music and recitations after which the seats were removed and the children had the free run of the hall for an hour or so with their games, much to their delight.

One youngster was heard to remark: "The kids are having the best time they ever had." Which voices the sentiments of the older ones too. They were treated to cider, apples and candy and then went home. When they were gone the older people indulged in dancing until a late hour. There were quite a few present from Addie, Round Prairie and Yakt.
