

APPLETON

DEATH OF L. C. HUMPHREY

L. C. Humphrey died Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock, at the home of his son, C. H. Humphrey, at the age of 62 years. He was born April 22, 1857, in Wisconsin. His father was a Baptist minister.

After receiving his elementary education, Mr. Humphrey attended the law school of the University of Wisconsin, of which he was a graduate. While a student there he was united in marriage to Lowe Rickard, and two sons, Ira C., of Chicago, and Clarence H., of Appleton, were born to them. Christmas of 1918 marked the fortieth anniversary of their wedding.

About 1880 the family moved to Bennett, Nebraska, and from there to Lincoln, where Mr. Humphrey was connected with the Nebraska Savings Bank, and instituted the school banking system, whereby many a child was started on the road to a bank account. Each child was provided with a bank book, and one certain day Mr. Humphrey collected the money at the several buildings. It was in this capacity we first knew him.

He was also the promoter of the first electric street car in Lincoln. From Lincoln he went to Chicago, where he lived for several years before coming to the North Side tract seven years ago. He has always been a booster for the helpful things in the growth and betterment of the community. Mr. Humphrey was one of our local members of the council of defense and has spent much time in the interest of different phases of war work.

The first of November he contracted influenza and, having a weak heart the after effects attacked it, finally causing his death. A week prior to his death his home was burned to the ground, a total loss, from which he was carried, barely escaping being burned. The remains were taken by Mrs. Humphrey and C. H. Humphrey to Bennett, for burial. This community extends to Mrs. Humphrey, sons and families, its deepest sympathy in their bereavement, feeling this community has lost one of its best citizens whose interests were deeply at heart.

J. H. Silbaugh is nursing two badly cut fingers, having pushed them too far into a sausage machine.

Clarence Thomas and family spent Sunday at J. H. Silbaugh's.

ORCHARD VALLEY

Miss Helen Gifford entertained a few friends at a slumber party Wednesday night, the occasion being her birthday.

A family named Jaynes moved from Clear Lakes to the former Hoffman place last week.

Mr. Olson disposed of all his property here and departed last week for Sheridan, California, where he has a ranch.

Master David Humphrey, of Appleton, has been staying at the H. deSchepper home since the L. C. Humphrey home burned.

Mrs. Coffall has been on the sick list the past week.

The entire Klages family were sick with the "flu" last week, but are all able to be out now.

Mr. H. deSchepper took Mr. Riley, who has been ill for some time, to the hospital at Twin Falls Sunday. A brother of Mrs. Lundquist arrived here New Year's day from Salt Lake City, for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Ptit entertained a few friends at Sunday dinner in honor of their wedding anniversary. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Coe and Miss Laura Umphrey of Gooding, Rev. and Mrs. Johns, Mrs. S. G. Barton, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. McCoy of Wendell, and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Barton.

ARCADIA VALLEY

While the attendance at the Jensen lecture Friday night was not large, those attending were repaid for the effort made in coming.

We are indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Clark for the use of their organ Sunday night. Our church organ has suffered greatly from the dampness and cannot be used at present.

Mr. Golden Ryan will stay with his brother this year and help him farm.

The Roberts and Mr. Jensen were dinner guests at the Goemmer home Friday.

Mr. Elder, a nephew of Dan Willson, accompanied Dan home from California and expects to make this his home.

Mrs. Bill Peterson was a caller at the Oliver home Tuesday.

Miss Elizabeth Reid, a sister of Mrs. Harry, who has been here for several months, returned to her home in Payette last Thursday.

Those present greatly enjoyed the skating at Lake Arcadia last Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Goemmer and children visited at the Oliver's Sunday.

We were pleased to see Mr. and Mrs. Shoehair and baby in Arcadia Sunday.

Margaret Lind was well known to a number of Arcadians, who wish to express their sympathy with the family in their great sorrow.

Mrs. Cal Boyd, who was once a resident of our valley, is quite ill at her home east of the pole line.

We are glad to note that the Webster family is improving. It made quite a hospital, with Mrs. Webster and all the children ill at one time.

The valley extends sympathy to the Humphrey family in the recent death of the husband and father.

A bunch of sheep, belonging to Mr. Boyle, is feeding on the Porter place.

A daughter of Mr. McGuire has come from Alfalfa, Oregon, to visit her people. She intends to take the little Newall baby home with her.

Owing to the dampness of the church floor and walls, there will be no services Sunday night.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

There is to be no school on Saturdays, but the teachers in high school are assigning longer lessons Fridays to be studied on Saturdays and reported each Monday.

Mr. Massey has been substituting for Mr. Snodgrass in high school and Miss Avant for Miss Nagel, and Miss Stewart for Mrs. Gardner in the grades. Mr. Snodgrass and Mrs. Gardner have been waiting on patients.

The students of the high school are progressing rapidly with their work. The authorities believe that by diligent study in school, two hours extra of solid concentration each day and five hours on Saturday the students will have a chance to complete the work of the school. It has been decided to put off all excitement until the Fourth of July.

Mabel Sinclair, Violet Noble, Helen and Charles McCauley, Raymond Linke and Elsie Gill are back in school again.

A very little mouse caused a great deal of excitement among the group of teachers one day last week, and for a time some of the school furniture was in danger of being broken.

The attendance in high school has been better this week than before, and the students are taking more interest in their work. There are "new" students coming in nearly every day while some have dropped out for good. There are students that have been or still are ill; others fear to come, but some do not care to attend school.

A large majority of the patrons of the school are anxious to do all they can to make the school a success even to the extent of closing places of possible exposure if by so doing the schools can continue and so give students a chance to do the work of the year, as it means much to many of the young people.

The big fan in the basement draws pure air from the outside and renews the air in the rooms every ten minutes. The school building is really a safer place for children than any other public place in town, and better than many of the homes. Miss Nesbit, the school nurse, has gotten acquainted with conditions and is now the "boss" of the institution in her kind and quiet way.

One of the juniors thinks that times are changing, as the freshmen are so well treated—so much nicer than when he was a freshman.

The first year English class recently wrote a composition on "When I heard my name announced I made my way to the platform with my heart in my throat." Now what have the freshmen been up to again?

A nice little freshman girlie thinks that those who intend to make their credits had better hurry back to school.

Teacher—An atom of oxygen has two arms and is not satisfied unless something is on each arm. Student—It's just like a certain young man I know.

The school wagon on route one has been taken off as there are no children in the locality covered, going to school.

School was dismissed Thursday of last week on account of the funeral of Mrs. Vaughn, one of the grade teachers.

Miss Walkington, the teacher of Domestic Science, has introduced certain chapters of physiology which the girls are to study.

The seniors and freshmen have had the best attendance so far. The seniors are working hard for the prized diplomas, which perhaps may be theirs in the spring.

The class in Economics spent last week in the brief study of the Federal Reserve Act and the money system of the United States.

A certain sophomore is especially pleased that his teacher in agriculture thinks people who do well any work that comes to hand are the best people, and that no one need be ashamed to admit that he or she has to work.

Last Sunday Kennedy and Malcolm Stuart, two Jerome high school students, lost their father by death, and Lyle Lind, another student, her sister, Margaret, who was a graduate of the high school class of 1915, and this year teaching at Kimama. These young people and their relatives have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire school in their sad bereavement.
