

Make Safe Investments

The protection of principle should be the first consideration of every investor. But it's not always an easy matter for the ordinary investor to determine the safety of the issues offered him.

The character of an investment, however, is usually reflected in the concern which offers it. Investments offered through this institution warrant your confidence.

Local News

Montpelier, Friday, Nov. 1, 1918

Only ONE in a life time if you buy the Great Majestic Range. Sold by the Nielsen Furniture Co.

A son registered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lindsay of Ovid, last Tuesday.

The local Red Cross chapter has cleared about $50 the past week, making gauze masks.

Order your holiday books now from C. W. Bartsch, Nounan, agent for the Deseret News book store.

Mrs. Fred Hughes received a card the first of the week announcing that her husband had arrived safely overseas. Fred left here for Camp Lewis the first of September.

If you intend buying a range this fall, get the Majestic, the range with a reputation.—Nielsen Furniture Co.

A player piano bargain or will exchange; also a good organ cheap at Nielsen's music store.

Clarence Hess has purchased the Henry Douglas residence in this city and he will move his family in from Georgetown as soon as the siege of influenza is over.

We have the agency for the great over draft Howard heater; will save you 50 per cent on fuel bills.—Nielsen Furniture Co.

During November we will give 20 per cent off on silverware, cut glass and jewelry.—Nielsen's music store.

John Bagley and Miss Pernis Bagley were released from quarantine Wednesday morning. They and the children are now at the home of Mr. Bagley's father, and all are getting along nicely.

One dollar's worth for 80 cents at Nielsen's music store during November.

Tom Barrett will be at the Examiner office all day tomorrow, Saturday, to register the voters of East Montpelier precinct. Remember, the books close tomorrow night at 9 o'clock.

The newest in curtains, over draperies and panel laces for the large cottage windows, at Nielsen Furniture Co.

Judge Budge writes us that his son, Alfred, who is in the medical corps and a student in the medical department of the Columbia university in New York, was stricken about a month ago with influenza, followed by pneumonia and then followed by an abscess in the region of the chest, which may necessitate an operation.

A Diamond Edison or Magnolia, no needles to change, best tone, on easy terms at Nielsen's music store.

The "flu" victims at the city hall and Montpelier hospital, who are now on the road to recovery, would appreciate anything in the way of dainty eatables that people might care to take them. Good home made bread and jelly would no doubt taste mighty fine to them.

On account of getting in another car of furniture this week we are making big reductions in prices to make room for new goods. Come in and see the bargains we are offering.—Nielsen Furniture Co.

C. D. Simpson, supervisor of the Caribou National forest for the past year and a half, left last Monday for San Francisco to take the examination for a commission in the Second Engineering corps. The office is now in charge of George Henderson, who has been deputy supervisor under Mr. Simpson.

A bit pinched for money just now? Don't let that worry you, we'll arrange for that alright. Come right in and select whatever you need. We will make the payments to suit your convenience.—Nielsen Furniture Co.

WALL PAPER AT VINCENT'S.

Frank J. Jones, who entered the service at Coveville a few months ago and was assigned to Ft. Bliss, Texas, stopped off here last Tuesday morning. He was returning to Ft. Bliss from Jackson's Hole, where he had accompanied the bodies of three comrades who died with the influenza. Just before entering the service he was married to Miss Halrup of St. Charles. Upon learning of the quarantine regulations here he telephoned his wife and she came over from St. Charles. He will remain here a week with her before going on to his cantonment.

If you want an all-wool suit, guaranteed to fit, for from $25 to $38, call at Fred Seller's tailor shop and have your measure taken. Mr. Seller announces that he will invest one-tenth of the price of every suit that he makes in war savings stamps.

Frank R. Gooding, the Non-partisan league and the local democratic committee have purchased considerable space in this week's Examiner. The political dope dished up by these parties, together with what we have peeled off, surely gives our readers a variety of reading matter this week. If the quarantine remains on next week, we don't know what we will have to give our readers, as there is nothing doing locally. Of course, we will have to tell them how it happened that the defeated candidates were not elected.

Buy during November and save 20 per cent at Nielsen's music store; big stock.

Sergeant Reo B. Dunford of the medical department 42nd infantry at Camp Devens, Mass., has just been sent to Georgia for the officers' training school, in the machine gun division. Reo enlisted at Fort Douglas a year ago last July. His brother, Stanley, is now at the officers' training school at Camp Pike, Ark. Another brother, Ralph, is stationed at Raymond, Wash., in the spruce division. Reo and Stanley have just recovered from an attack of influenza. All three boys are sons of Oliver C. Dunford of Bloomington, the republican candidate for county superintendent of schools.

We are showing a beautiful line of dinner sets. Nothing nicer in the home than a complete dinner set. Our prices are very low on these handsome sets. They make a nice Xmas present. Come in and see them.—Nielsen Furniture Co.

Willie Ansell writes to a very near friend that "the Dutch are getting it on all sides and this war is about over." He expresses the hope of soon seeing "the old statue of liberty" and also adds that it will be a long time and then some before he takes another ride in an airplane. Speaking of the "joyride" he says: "We were billeted close by a French aviation field and two of my chums and myself strolled over one afternoon. A French lieutenant invited one of us to go up with him, and of course I had to be the fall guy. Well, anyhow, I got in and he started the engine. Some noise—it sounded worse than a boiler-room. When he started up I lost my breath and don't believe I breathed the whole time we were up. Believe me, this old world looks funny from an aeroplane. We kept going up and up until I thought we were bound for heaven. We stayed up for about half an hour, but it seemed like four hours to me and I was nearly frozen. When we landed I thought we were going down thru the earth to China or some other place, so I closed my eyes and waited for the catastrophe, but we landed O. K."

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Phelps wish to extend their heartfelt thanks to all who rendered assistance on the occasion of the death of their beloved son and husband. They feel especially grateful to the railroad boys for what they did.

If adversity does not crush a man, posterity will not crush him.

WHERE AND WHEN TO VOTE.

The polls for the election next Tuesday will open at 8 o'clock in the morning and remain open until 7 o'clock in the evening. The judges and clerks should make it a point to beat the polling places not later than 7:40 Tuesday morning so as to have everything in readiness for the opening of the polls promptly at 8 o'clock.

Owing to the fact that the city hall has been converted into an emergency hospital, the pavilion has been selected as the polling place for east Montpelier precinct. All voters living east of Eighth street will vote at the pavilion.

The polling place in West Montpelier precinct will be in the room known as the Red Cross room, opposite the First National bank.

Some people may hesitate about voting next Tuesday because of the influenza. But we feel that there should be no hesitancy about going to the polls on this account. The judges and clerks will no doubt be "adorned" with the regulation gauze masks and as it will not require to exceed five minutes of one's time to vote, there can be no danger in the matter, especially when it is known that no person will be permitted to vote or be about the polls who has been exposed to the influenza or who does not possess a clean bill of health.

It will be well, however, for more people to vote during the forenoon. Generally about two-thirds of the vote is cast after 2 o'clock in the afternoon. This is especially true in Montpelier. Many needlessly put off voting until the afternoon. This often causes a congestion at the polls. Two years ago there were 923 votes cast in Montpelier, but we doubt if there will be 700 cast next Tuesday. If there should be that number cast, at least half of them should be cast before noon. This would prevent the possibility of a crowd at either polling place at any one time.

American citizens have no duty which is more important than that of exercising their right of suffrage, and the indications are now that health conditions in Montpelier will be such next Tuesday that no well person should hesitate about voting.

JAS. T. BUNN OF LANARK A VICTIM OF APOPLEXY

James F. Bunn died at his home in Lanark on Friday, Oct. 25. Death came while he was sitting at the table partaking of his noon-day meal, and was caused from apoplexy. He had been an invalid for the past year, being practically helpless during that time.

Mr. Bunn was born in England 70 years ago. His parents came to this country when he was a lad. They were among the first settlers in Lanark, in the early days in the county Mr. Bunn taught school for several years. In 1906 he was elected county treasurer and served one term. He is survived by his wife, three daughters and three sons, one of whom is now in France. The remains were taken to Liberty for burial last Sunday afternoon, open air services being held at the grave.

CITY HALL SERVED AS MATERNITY HOSPITAL

The city hall has been useful in more ways than one during the past year. In addition to becoming an emergency hospital for influenza patients during the past week, it has served as a maternity hospital. Last Friday Mrs. Leland Bolles, who was ill with the disease, was taken to the city hall and on Saturday night she gave birth to a nine pound son. For about 48 hours her condition was serious, but she has passed the critical stage and she and the babe are doing nicely under the care of a competent nurse. Mr. Bolles left her last August for Camp Fremont and is now at some point in the east awaiting orders to sail for France.
