GOODING GLAD G. O. P. HAS WON STATE CONTROL

Frank R. Gooding, who has lost the election for the short term in the United States senate from Idaho, has given out the following reviewing the recent political campaign in Idaho, and its results:

"It is not unusual in a great fight like the one we have had in Idaho that someone should be called upon to make sacrifices.

"As soon as I learned the true conditions in Idaho I knew the state could be saved only through a campaign of education, exposing Townley, LeSeuer and his gang, showing them up to the people in their true light.

"Someone had to make the fight for Idaho and I would rather have made the fight and lost than not to have made the fight and won, for, after all, a seat in the United States senate is an empty honor compared with a place in the hearts of the good people of this state. There is only one thing worth living for in this world and that is the respect of the people. A public servant, or a man who serves the people as a public servant and retires from office without the respect of the good people of the state or nation would better have never served the people at all.

"Many things are very gratifying to me in this campaign, one of which is that I had the support of a large per cent of the laboring men of the state. Especially is this true of the railroad men in Pocatello and other places. The I. W. W. forces have for years been trying to poison the laboring men against me. I want to assure the laboring men of this state that wherever the fortunes of life carry me, in the future as in the past, I shall always be their friend. For 14 years of my early life I worked for day's pay and I know and understand that if this government is to prosper the laboring man's interests must be considered and he must be given a square deal. What we want in this country and must have is a square deal all around and that is what I have always fought for, as my record shows.

"If anyone thinks this fight is over because election is past they have made a mistake. I promised the people in this campaign that I should continue my fight against anarchy, treason and rebellion until the end. Many new people have come to the state since I had the honor of serving Idaho as chief executive and I am glad to have them know something through me of the assassination of ex-Governor Steunenberg and the blot left upon the fair name of Idaho by the acquittal of Haywood and Pettibone.

"I had but one thought in this fight and that was to educate the people as far as possible to the danger of such men as Townley and LeSeuer and those associated with them, who, it is proven conclusively by court records, were in sympathy with Bill Haywood and the I. W. W. organization—the greatest criminals this country has ever produced.

"It is this dangerous element that the good citizenship must fight against at all times and I accept my defeat with the knowledge that, for the time, at least, I have saved Idaho from the greatest disgrace that can come to any commonwealth—the success of Townley, LeSeuer and McKaig.

"It is gratifying to me to know that the state ticket is elected by an overwhelming majority and that both the house and senate will be safely republican.

"I have confidence in Mr. Davis and those elected with him on the state ticket. I am satisfied that the people can look forward to a clear, vigorous administration that will mean much for the upbuilding of Idaho."

SOME THINGS THE ELECTION RETURNS SHOW

Boise, Nov. 11.—Everyone knows how the election went but there are many who do not know exactly why. It would really be difficult for the average man to figure it out, but those on the outside, who no longer observe the secrecy maintained during the campaign, are talking and making it easier to form safe deductions. Besides, the election returns show some things.

The outstanding result of the election is that the democratic party of Idaho has been reduced to a nullity. It was first stolen by the non-partisan league leaders in the primary election. In this process it had democratic aid from Nugent and former Senator Fred T. Dubois. Senator Nugent and his advisors in Washington realized that he had no show as against a republican line-up in Idaho. They felt it would be possible to hold most of the democratic voters through the influence and pleading of the national democratic administration and with the league vote, manipulated by shrewd politicians, it would be a cinch.

It was hardly that because Senator Nugent won what must be to him a humiliating victory—barely scratched through. If there had been anything like the normal vote in the state he would have been decisively defeated.

He won by a few votes but he takes his seat on the wreckage of the democratic party in Idaho, perhaps the most notable party sacrifice in the history of politics for the sole benefit of one man.

In the operation not only was the democratic party ruined but the non-partisan league was slaughtered as a political entity. The one-man ambition for office permitted no obstacles, whatever the cost.

The republican state ticket was elected by about the average republican majority in the state but the republican party had lost a lot of votes through members joining the non-partisan league. The results show that the party recouped and it was not from the non-partisan league, which "stuck." It was also stuck!

The republican state ticket was the beneficiary of democratic votes traded in the interest of Nugent. He was desperate. His managers were desperate, so the word was sent out to trade off the non-partisan state ticket.

That was done. The non-partisans wonder what happened. The story is told here. The democrats lined up with Nugent, abandoned the leaguers, trading against Gooding.

So we have one party wrecked and another murdered so John F. Nugent might stay in office.

ANOTHER BEAR LAKE BOY GETS HUN BULLET IN LEG.

Walter Tippets sends us two letters written by his son, John, who is now in a hospital in France. One was written Oct. 9, and is as follows:

Dear Folks at Home.—As I am lying flat on my back in bed now with a broken leg I thought that I would write you a few lines. Do not worry one bit for I am getting along fine. I was wounded on Sept. 29th. My right leg is broken a few inches above the knee, caused by a machine gun bullet, and there is a hole thru my leg just above my right ankle, but I can consider myself lucky that I was not wounded more severely. I knew that there was some one at home praying for me and I kept up my courage and now I am on the winning side. I will be laid up for two or three months, but I am in a fine American hospital and have the best of care.

From the second one written Oct. 14, we publish the following:

I have nothing to do now days but lie in bed and content myself reading. I am getting along fine. My leg is quite sore, but nothing like it was at first. I would like awful well to get some mail from home once more. Our company is scattered all over France in different hospitals and I guess it is hard to locate us all. I don't think there are many boys left in our company for we had a hard old fight the afternoon that I got mine. But never the less, I am getting paid back for all of the hardships I went through, for I am having the best of care and three meals each day, so what more could I ask for?

You folks at home want to make the best of life, for there are better days coming, and it won't be long, either. And when that day does come I can proudly say that we all took our part to help win the war. I am speaking for you who are at home mostly for I know you are putting every dollar you can in bonds and war savings stamps, but it is for a good cause. Hoping the Lord will bless you all each day and help you win out, I am your son and brother with the colors.

LEGISLATURE OF WYOMING REPUBLICAN

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 13.—The Wyoming legislature will be composed of fifty-nine republicans and twenty-two democrats on joint ballot. Complete returns from the recent election indicate the election of eighteen republicans and nine democrats to the senate, and forty-one republicans and thirteen democrats to the house.

THE BILL OF CIVILIZATION AGAINST GERMANY

By RICHARD H. EDMONDS

What a staggering bill it will be! It will be a bill for four years of the most fearful crimes which the world has ever known.

It will be a bill for the millions who have died in defense of civilization and for the millions who have been blinded and maimed and permanently invalidated.

It will be a bill for all agonies which hundreds of millions have had to endure.

It will be a bill for the tears which have flowed from the eyes of millions of mothers and wives, sisters and sweethearts because their loved ones have had to endure all of the hardships which the vilest ingenuity of hell could instigate as they fight on the side of heaven in the battle against hell.

It will be a bill for such sorrows as earth has never known by dishonored womanhood which in shame and deathless woe cries out to heaven against the criminals.

It will be a bill for mangled children and for tens of thousands of helpless babies done to death by Germans' crimes.

It will be a bill not merely for the tens of billions of money, not merely for the ships that have been murdered, for the towns and the countries that have been ravaged, for the cathedrals and churches that have been destroyed; these are only a part of the material things which must be charged against Germany, in the bill of civilization against barbarism.

It will be a bill which no human words can ever portray, and no auditor can ever state in figures.

These are some of the items in this bill against Germany, the magnitude of which no expert accountant who ever lived could measure by human calculations.

Though the tears can never be wiped away, the broken hearts never be mended, the millions of murdered brought back to life, the dishonored womanhood never restored, the bill must be summed up in the most graphic language known to mankind. It must be written on the pages of human history with a pen fed by the blood of millions of broken, bleeding hearts. There it will stand forever as an unpaid debt from which Germany can never through eternity be cleansed.

As well might Judas have sought to blot out the reality of the betrayal of his Lord and of the agony of the Cross as for Germany to hope ever to wipe out the record of its crimes. In fetters of fire, burned into the soul of every man and woman living now, or in the centuries to come, they will forever stand.

Germany will for ten thousand years be regarded as more typical of rotten-heartedness than Judas and Nero.

Though Germany can never wipe out this bill, there is a bill for material things which shall represent every dollar spent by America and our allies in saving civilization from being destroyed.

There is a bill for every ship that has been murdered, for every pound of foodstuffs and raw materials of which Germany has robbed others.

There is a bill for the disruption and disorganization of every business on earth.

There is a bill for every fruit tree cut down, for every town looted and burned, for every car and locomotive stolen. These things must be summed up and Germany be made to pay to the uttermost farthing.

To require anything less of Germany would be to condone its crimes, to become an apologist for them, and a co-worker with Germany in sapping the world's moral strength.

There is also a bill which can be paid only by the death upon the gallows of the leading criminals.

PARIS PEOPLE HAD BIG CELEBRATION MONDAY

Paris celebrated the ending of the war last Monday in a gala manner. Couriers in autos carried the good news to Bloomington, St. Charles and Fish Haven, and upon their return they were accompanied by something over 190 autos. In the evening a huge bon fire was built on the tabernacle grounds, and a number of speeches were made. Joe Denio delighted the crowd with one of his characteristic talks and it is said that he made the speech of his life.

LIGHT VOTE CAST ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

In years past the proposed amendments to the state constitution were printed on pink paper and the ballots were handed to voters along with the official ballots. The result was that many voters left the pink ballots in the booths. In fact less than 50 per cent of the voters failed to express themselves either for or against the amendment. The last legislature thought to remedy the matter by enacting a law requiring that proposed amendments to the constitution should be printed on the official ballots. It was thought by doing this the voters would not overlook the amendments.

We do not know how the law worked in other counties but the official canvass of the returns in this county reveals the fact that only about one-third of the voters paid any attention to the amendments. The total vote for and against the five questions submitted this year averaged 774, while the total vote cast in the county was 2204. This is even a poorer showing than was made when the proposed amendments were printed on separate ballots.

Below is the vote on the five questions submitted this year:

- No. 1—Yes 314; No 465.
- No. 2—Yes 476; No 362.
- No. 3—Yes 379; No 453.
- No. 4—Yes 422; No 346.
- No. 5—Yes 276; No 377.

FISH HAVEN NOTES.

Fish Haven, Nov. 13.—Funeral services were held at the Fish Haven cemetery on Nov. 7 for Henry Smith, who died at Aberdeen, Wash., on Oct. 31. Death was caused from diphtheria, following the influenza. The loving sympathy of the entire community goes out to the widowed mother in her terrible bereavement.

Mrs. L. S. Conley is slowly recovering from a severe attack of rheumatism, which has confined her to the house for nearly a month.

The news that "the war is over" was received here with cheers and rejoicing, firing of guns and driving decorated autos through the street with the boys and girls waving hats and handkerchiefs. At night a great bonfire was built and the kaiser was burned in effigy at nearly every home as well as in public. A number of autos drove up from Paris, all decorated with flags and bunting. Loud cheers and greetings were exchanged with the people of Fish Haven and the visitors raced back as though they were afraid they would not get a chance to fire a shot at the kaiser if they didn't hurry. The frolic kept up until a late hour, when all retired with hearts filled with joy that the terrible war was over and suspense ended at last.

Mrs. L. S. Conley received word this morning that her daughter, Mrs. O. L. Schenck, who lives near Raun-dolph, was very low with influenza and that other members of the family were also ill with it.

So far, there are no cases of the "flu" here, for which we are truly thankful.
