Editor Caleb F. Davis of the Enterprise, died at Malad last week after a long illness of typhoid pneumonia. The deceased was a young and unmarried. The EXAMINER force tenders its sympathy to the bereaved relatives.

Don't forget that taxes become delinquent on the 2nd of January after which a penalty amounting to about twenty per cent will be added. Assessor Winters will be at the bank next Tuesday and Friday to receive taxes on this side.

The streets of Montpelier have been jammed with teams during the week. People have been in town from every section of the country buying supplies. All of the merchants report a good business and holiday stocks are well cleaned up.

Thus writes the editor of the Belevue Leader: The other day as we were laboriously running off one side of our paper upon our double-back-action press, one of our friends came in and watched the process awhile and finally inquired: "Why don't you buy a steam press and save all that hard work?" Why don't we start a national bank; why don't we buy the Star mine; why don't we raise h—l on four dollars and a half. Running a paper in this country is just as profitable as peddling peanuts in a graveyard.

Dr. Hoover, after years of incessant toil brought about by an exceedingly large practice, is going east for a rest and to study for three months in one of the famous hospitals of the United States. He expects to leave about January 20th, and to that end is straightening up his business affairs here. The drug store will be in charge of Ed Hoover during his absence. The Doctor has certainly earned a vacation and it is doubtful if any physician in the west has attended to the wants of so many people scattered over such a large area as he has and for so many years without scarcely a day's rest. The best wishes of the community will be with him during his sojourn.

To Loan—Plenty of money to loan on improved farm property. None but good loans desired. No commissions or charges made until the loan is secured. Apply to T. L. Glenn. 43

The "Trip through Jerusalem", by Messrs. Musser and Hyde at the L. D. S. meeting house Wednesday night was slimly attended. The entertainment consists of a lecture illustrated by magic lantern views on the holy land. The lecture by Mr. Musser is interesting from beginning to end and the views are magnificent being true to life as the cities of Palestine are today. The evenings entertainment was interspersed with singing by Mr. Adams, who has an excellent voice, and also with instrumental music by Mr. Hyde. An exhibition of such merit deserves better patronage than was accorded it here, and those who missed the treat have lost part the knowledge obtainable in this life. The company will give another entertainment Tuesday night.

We want you to call and see our display of holiday goods even if you do not wish to buy. It's the handsomest ever shown here and the goods are unexcelled in quality. Riter Bros Drug Co. 43

Fred Hansen's store is headquarters for fresh fruits, celery, cranberries, candies, bulk oysters and all other delicacies. Call and get prices. 39

Christmas Week.

The holiday week has been a pleasant one. Great quantities of holiday goods were sold by our merchants and all little hearts and many big ones have been made happy. The pleasure part began Monday night at the school house uptown, gotten up by Misses Crowel and Leonard for their school children.

The same evening a Sunday school concert was given in the L. D. S. meeting house by the children uptown. The affair was splendidly given to a good house.

Tuesday evening a dance was given uptown.

Wednesday evening a stereopticon show was given in the L. D. S. meeting house. Thursday night in the same house the public town gave a concert.

The same night the B. of E. F. gave their annual masquerade in the opera house. Although not so largely attended as former ones, all present had a good time.

This same night also a Christmas tree was had at the Presbyterian church for the benefit of Sunday school scholars.

Christmas day a childrens party was given in the L. D. S. meeting house and in the evening the annual ball was held there, both of which were largely attended.

All of the events passed off pleasantly and were immensely enjoyed by our citizens. It is doubtful that a more merry making Christmas week has ever been witnessed in Montpelier.
