A Full Crop or One-Half to Two-Thirds of One IT DEPENDS UPON THE DRILL

It costs no more to raise a full crop than it does to raise a 1/2 or 2/3 crop. It takes as much seed, as many hours work, as much wear and tear on horse and machinery to raise a small, poorly graded crop as a large, high grade one.

The size and quality of your crop depend largely upon the drill you use. There are scores of drills that scatter the seed at various depths—much of it stays on the surface to be eaten by birds or withered by the sun. Perhaps 50% to 75% of this seed grows. It germinates unevenly—it comes up unevenly—it ripens unevenly and does not grade high.

But there is one Drill that is different. Why not use the one Drill that places every seed where it should be?

Monitor Double Disc Drills

deposit the seed at the bottom of a clean, wide furrow in two rows and cover it uniformly with moist earth, giving it abundant room to root. You get a good stand with one-fifth less seed.

Every good seed grows—germinates uniformly—all comes up at one time—ripens evenly and grades the highest.

The Agricultural Colleges in various parts of the country have made exhaustive tests and find that the Monitor Drill produces crops which are not only larger but grade higher than those produced by any other.

The Monitor Double Disc Drill is the only Drill that drops the seed in front of the axle with the downward turn or the disc, carrying every grain to the bottom of the furrow—this device is covered by patents.

The Monitor Drill will operate successfully in any kind of soil. Every feature of the Monitor Drill is a strong one. Steel draw bars and hangers—steel levers—steel ratchets. It is made of the very best materials and will give excellent service after many other drills are in the scrap heap. Don't buy a drill until you have learned all about the Monitor.
