Beware the Pedler

The people who get stung most frequently are the ones who buy from the peddlers who travel from town to town, disposing, as a rule, of inferior and shoddy goods which the home merchant would not give room on his shelves.

Beware of the pedler. He is here today and gone tomorrow. If defects show up in your purchase you have no way to get redress. Your money is gone. You have no way of knowing whether or not the goods you are buying have been stolen. If they have been stolen they can be taken from you and your money is lost.

The pedler is following the most expensive manner of merchandising and it follows that you either pay the pedler more than your local merchant would charge or else you are getting cheated in some way.

Remember, the pedler, takes your money out of your community. He pays no taxes, does not help to keep your county, city or school governments running. You never find his name on any subscription list for any public welfare movement.

Beware of the pedler. Keep your money at home where it will grow and have a chance to return to you again. Buy from your home merchant. If your purchase is not all that is represented he will replace it or refund your money.

MEADOW CREEK NEWS

Alvena Glen and Vernon Campbell won the dictionaries for September. A good deal of rivalry is being shown by all of the grades. The primary grades are trying for a prize but Mr. Burke won't tell what it is.

Hallowe'en was spent in the most enjoyable manner. We all gathered at the hall dressed as fairies, ghosts, witches, Old Mother Hubbard, a black cat, Satan, brownies, Mexican girls and many other people. About 8:30 our parents began to arrive and then the fun began. We played games, danced, ducked for apples, guessed who the other people were and everyone mimed the tail on the donkey. About 2:30 the party broke up. Our only regret was that we couldn't stay longer. The people from the Bonner Tie camp want to come again and we may give them a chance to come soon.

Lela Campbell celebrated her twelfth birthday on Wednesday, November 9. She had a party in the evening for all her friends. After a very sociable time we went home, hoping that birthdays would come oftener.

On Friday we are planning to observe Armistice Day with a little program. Our program is given below:

America Pupils
Lincoln's Gettysburg Address
Alvena Glen Flanders' Fields Ethel Hartman
Song Pupils
We Are Men of Coming Years
Leonard Freeman, Walter Sayre
Little Hands and Little Hearts
George Sayre
Our Salute
Nellie Yerkes, Lenna Glen, Squire Glen, Claude Campbell
Song Pupils
November 11th Emily Glen
Armistice Talk
Rev. Geo. Fowler, Bonners Ferry Pupils
Americans' Creed in Union Pupils
Song Pupils
Closing Remarks Mr. Burke
Song Pupils
Salute to Flag Pupils

We are also planning to have a program on Thanksgiving and Mr. Burke expects to have another speaker from Bonners Ferry, possibly two.

COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETS

Owing to the fact that many members had gone to Sandpoint to attend the Rebekah lodge meeting, the attendance at the commercial club meeting Monday night was not as large as usual.

A report was made by C. W. King of the meeting of Idaho and British Columbia engineers on Saturday. This report is covered in another column of this paper.

A. B. Ashby, station agent for the Great Northern Railway company, was invited by President Fry, to present the railway company's side of the discussion started at a previous meeting when grievances against the G. N. were aired by club members.

Mr. Ashby stated that he believed the discussion was ill advised and that no good could come of the commercial club starting a fight against the railway company; that he believed that requests of the town and county officials for improvement work by the Great Northern had not been made through the proper officials; that, as far as he could learn, no Great Northern officials had made exact promises of having any particular improvements done but had only stated they would recommend such improvements. Mr. Ashby thought that the proper way to secure results would be to make application for improvements needed along the Great Northern right-of-way through the traffic department, inasmuch as this department is the first to suffer when the railway's patrons do not secure proper treatment.

He stated that two members of the traffic department had visited Bonners Ferry last Wednesday and that the alleged grievances of the district had been laid before them. These gentlemen, Messrs. Doyle and Merritt wired to Mr. Ashby yesterday that authority had been secured to put in the railway crossing signal at the Main street crossing (this signal is now being installed) and that Mr. Doyle had submitted recommendations covering repairs to other crossings and the filling up of holes along the right-of-way through Bonners Ferry.

O. C. Wilson defended the action taken at the previous club meeting, saying that the people were tired of promises and that he felt, considering the revenue the Great Northern derives from this district, it should in common justice, make some returns. He stated that the sentiments expressed at the previous meeting were not directed at Mr. Ashby or any particular Great Northern official and that he was glad to learn, after many years, that requests should go through the traffic department in order to secure results.

Commercial club members feel that headway has been made in the effort to secure recognition from the Great Northern Railway Company and that any antagonism against the company should be forgotten if the company will meet the community half way in taking care of much needed improvements along its right-of-way.

Union Church Services

"The Pilot of Civilization" will be the first of two great themes, very opportune at this time, and "Creators of Faith, Or God In History." If you believe in either man or God or have a serious thought for the future of humanity, we invite you.

Our Christian Endeavor has been a surprise to us in both the attendance and interest taken. The spirit of the young people is in the ascendancy. "In What Way Does the Divinity of Jesus Differ from Man?" will be the evening subject.

Sunday school 10; preaching 11; Christian Endeavor 6:30; evening service 7:30. GEO. FOWLER, Pastor. Phone 124

Card of Thanks

The undersigned desire to express their heartfelt thanks to neighbors and friends who rendered assistance and extended expressions of sympathy to us in our recent bereavement. We desire to especially thank the nurses of the Bonners Ferry hospital, the I. O. O. F. and Rebekah lodges, and those who expressed their respect for our loved one with beautiful flowers. L. R. Hamilton and Children. Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Hamilton. Mr. and Mrs. Gus Riefsteck.

Methodist Church Notices

The Sunday school at 10. Communion service at 11. Junior League at 3. The children enjoy this service because it is their meeting. Epworth League at 6:30. This is a live meeting, true to the life of young people. Song service at 7:30. You will find a home like church and a warm welcome. A. H. MORTON, Pastor.

FOR SALE—Pedigreed Tamworth pigs; three boars and one sow. Sow to barrow soon. Geo. E. Eberhart, Lena, Idaho. advtf

Is An Absorbing Love Story

A strong man's love is a wonderful thing. But even the love of a strong and splendid man needs faith to tide it over the cross currents of life.

In "The Tiger's Coat," the Dial Film company production released through W. W. Hodkinson which will be shown at the Amazon theatre on Armistice Day, you will see enacted one of the most absorbing love stories that has thus far been brought to the screen. You will see Alexander McAllister, strong, self-willed, a ruler of men and their destinies, brought to a realization of the need for Faith in his love for the woman who had become more to him than life itself.

Three well-known and popular players are featured in this dramatic production. Myrtle Stedman, Lawson Butt and Tina Modotti, the Italian beauty who has been so successful in motion pictures abroad, each have a role suited peculiarly to their own individual talent and personality.

Also a special two reel comedy, "Brownie, the Dog." Don't fail to see this special Armistice Day program at the Amazon theatre.

Your Home Creamery

Needs the cooperation of the Dairyman, the Merchant, and every individual of this district in its effort to build up the Dairying Interests and an institution of which Boundary County may be proud.

We are not asking "something for nothing." If we cannot give the dairyman just as good and fair treatment as he gets in Sandpoint or Spokane, we can not expect to get his products. But we can and will.

If we do not give the public as good if not better Butter than can be bought from outside creameries we will not complain if we do not get the business. Try BOUNDARY BUTTER. If it is just as good then why not keep your money at home and help build up a home enterprise?
