ARENA VALLEY NOTES.

(By "Arena")

Mr. Frana was a business visitor in Parma, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mundle and Alice were in the valley Sunday.

Charley Ford's team became frightened and ran away with the mowing machine a few days ago. The machine was broken, but neither man nor team was injured.

Frank Shepard lost a calf from a blot a few days ago.

Arthur Burton has finished the concrete drops on the Clark lateral.

Mrs. Z. B. Barker is improving, but was not able to accompany her mother when she returned to her home in Meridian last Sunday as she had planned.

Sunday school every Sunday afternoon. Everyone is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Cope were dinner guests of Butlers, Monday.

Burket Bray and wife of Fargo were guests at the Cope home the first of the week.

J. P. Butler, T. J. Cope, John Bauman and Ben Sundblad were Parma visitors Monday. That looked like the boys had gotten up their third crop of hay.

Letters received from Fritz Lund, who joined the marines in Portland last January, states that he is in good health and happy. Pictures of himself sent his mother and sister bears him out in his statement. He is at Guam.

Theodore Johnson has bought an 80-acre farm near Wilder.

Now is the time to list your property. We have the cash buyers.

Boise, Oct. 10.—Idaho must invest $7,900,000 in Liberty Bonds. The executive committee of the twelfth district has fixed this figure as the minimum for the state. The maximum is $13,000,000. In order to have the state keep up its record for supplying funds for war purposes and to come up to the expectations of the executive committee of the twelfth district, Idaho must buy bonds to the amount of $10,000,000.

The government must have $3,000,000,000, and to get this minimum amount Idaho must subscribe $7,900,000, but this figure should be by no means the maximum. Chairman Davis says that $9,000,000 must be taken as the state's minimum and that the full $10,000,000 that the western division headquarters expect should be subscribed.

The government cannot get along with less than $3,000,000,000 and it is asking subscriptions up to $5,000,000. In order to meet the demands of the government it is imperative that Idaho buy bonds up to the full $10,000,000 allotment.

"Some people have the idea that to buy a liberty bond is to make a donation to the government," said former Governor James H. Hawley. "If the government were taking our dollars in the shape of taxes no loyal citizen would have a right to complain. We are, however, offered a government bond that pays 4 per cent interest. Holdings up to $5,000 are exempt from all taxes. All holdings, no matter if one has a million dollars worth, are exempt from local taxes and also from the normal income tax. Can you find a better and a safer investment for the man with money. The man who refuses to buy a liberty bond, if he has the money to buy it, is not a good citizen. The question of investment should be a secondary consideration. The all important thing is that our boys, the sons of mothers and fathers of Idaho, have gone to the front. Their welfare demands that our dollars be handed over to the government. The red-blooded loyal American will give unstinted financial support, whether it is for Red Cross work, for Liberty Bonds, or for one of the other funds needed for the welfare of the enlisted men."

THE WISH AND THE DEED.

A dry goods merchant was starting down town when his wife reminded him of his most important duty during the day: "Now, my dear, be sure and send to the city for that new buggy, so we can have it for Sunday. You know our old rig is getting so that it isn't fit to be seen."

Just a few blocks away the vehicle and implement dealer was sitting at breakfast with his family. The conversation drifted around to the new approach of school. "And that reminds me," said the lady who sat at the head of the table, "I must be going to the city not later than next week. I must get school clothes and see about a fall suit for myself, and while I'm there, perhaps I had better see about a new rug for the parlor and some lace curtains for the front windows."

An hour later a leading grocer stepped into the bank to buy a draft which he was going to send to a catalogue house for a new bedroom suite.

"How's business?" asked the banker. "Oh, not so very good," replied the grocer. "Things are dull just now."

Before the banker finished writing out the draft a dapper young man with a smile stepped up and asked how everything was. The banker seemed glad to see him. He was representative of a big printing establishment in another state. He chatted pleasantly with the banker for a few minutes, after which the young man casually of his friend behind the window if he wanted anything. "Well, yes," replied the banker, "I believe I do. Print us 5000 checks and a couple of thousand letterheads." The young man thanked his friend and hustled out.

That night the business men of the town had a meeting to discuss the growth of the mail order evil. To make plans for bringing greater prosperity to the home town. The merchant, the vehicle and implement dealer, the grocer and the banker all made short talks. They agreed that the ranchers, and the town folks who persisted in buying goods from mail order and outside houses were guilty of treason to the home town, that they were the people who killed prosperity.

But these men stopped short of all the facts. Did you ever see a town making a real success of itself where the business men were not working together? Did you ever see a successful town without a successful local printing shop? Did you ever see such a printer as successful without the support of the home banker, the home merchant, the home grocer, and all the home dealers? The printing of letterheads, envelopes, statements, circulars and cards is the life business for the local print shop. But it doesn't matter if it's job printing or bedroom suites, if you send the business away, give it to outside cities, you deprive the local business of the support that makes the town's prosperity.

The home town must hold the business of its citizens, it needs the business of its business men also. But none of the ranchers, citizens, bankers, printers or merchants can argue business into a town; it must be demonstrated.

Ever hear of Chicago or New York City sending their orders out of town? Reckon not.

Of the two plans submitted for a new church at the congregational meeting of the First Presbyterian church, Friday evening, those for the larger and more expensive church were judged to be more suited to the present and future needs of the community and were favored. About 75 persons were present a fine attendance for the fruit harvesting season of the year when everyone is working overtime. Among those discussing the subject of the new church both as to plans and building fund, were J. W. Price, G. M. Kirkpatrick, J. C. Blackwell, Rev. Paul W. Gauss, H. C. Baldrige and F. J. Walmesley. Mr. Blackwell, as chairman of the board of trustees, received instructions from the congregation to proceed with pledges and ascertain how much money can be raised for a new church. Following the business session, light refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

THE RED CROSS HARVEST HOME SOCIAL

The Red Cross Harvest Home Social that has been arranged for Friday evening, Oct. 12, is attracting wide attention and everyone in the community is planning to attend.

The Harvest Home auction will be held at 8:30 p. m. and will be immediately followed by a White Elephant Auction Sale. Useful articles are requested for each of these sales and they will give you an opportunity to purchase some long-sought articles for yourself.

Come to have a good time and help a good cause.

GOES TO NEBRASKA FOR BRIDE

Max Schmid returned Saturday from Chappell, Neb., where on Wednesday of last week he was united in marriage to Miss Ostermeyer, of that place. The parents of the newly wedded couple returned with them and are looking over this section with a view to locating.

THRIFT VERSUS WASTE.

These are days for real thrift and economy. We need both to win the war. Economy does not mean stinginess, or hiding your money away—but it does mean your best judgment in buying.

It is never economical to buy poor goods; they cost more in the long run.

GOOD goods have value that will give you service and satisfaction. Let it be SHOES, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, or wearing apparel of any kind, it is a question of this character that you will find at THE GEM.

RED CROSS BENEFIT.

The Red Cross Benefit will be held Friday night as per schedule. The Harvest Home auction will be held at 8:30 p. m. and the White Elephant auction immediately following.

Committee Works Hard.

Boise, Oct. 8.—There is no such thing as an 8-hour day at the state headquarters of the Liberty Loan committee. D. W. Davis, chairman of the state committee; Colonel E. M. Hoover, secretary; H. S. Boone, direct representative of Secretary McAdoo; Rellly Atkinson, in charge of the public speaking and publicity, and all others, have forgotten their private business and at the end of the campaign will be strangers in their own homes.

When Chairman Davis came to Boise from American Falls, he shed his coat and he has not had time to put it on. "We must have an organization," said he. "It must reach every corner of Idaho. When we are thoroughly organized, then we shall strike and the people of Idaho will know that the call for finances is not to be treated lightly, but that it is the most serious proposition that has to be met in connection with the big war. We must not only finance the United States, so that our own brave men will have every care and the best equipment, but we must also see to it that the heroic soldiers of our allies are kept in food, clothing and ammunition. If we could just get hold of every man and woman in Idaho who has money enough to buy a liberty bond and make them feel and see their patriotic duty, we could get four times the money the government is asking of us."

"The crops of Idaho this year are worth millions. The livestock and the output of the mines have added many millions to our wealth, all of which makes it possible to buy bonds in the amount demanded by the federal government."

PLANS COMPLETED.

R. E. Field, architect, has just completed the plans for the addition of the second story to Wilder's new grade and high school building. This district voted for a ten thousand dollar bond issue last spring, and the contract was let for a one-story grade school building. The need for a high school was later generally recognized and an additional $750 bond issue was voted. The plans for the new building provide for a full basement with steam heating plant, two car fuel room, toilets, manual training and domestic science rooms, and large community room. On the first floor are four grade rooms, and on the second floor there is a large assembly and study hall and three ample recitation rooms with a science and physical laboratory with a small teacher's laboratory and store room, and a dark room adjoining an office and library are provided on an intermediate floor over the entrance.

The entire exterior of the building is faced with McGee's Caldwell Cement brick.—Caldwell Tribune.

At a special election held last Saturday, Black Canyon settlers significantly approved of the plan of entering into a contract with the government for the watering of 39,000 acres of the Black Canyon project in the immediate future. The vote was unanimously in favor of the project and 211 votes were cast. From Parma 85 voters were taken to the Notus polls in cars furnished by the Parma Commercial Club.

The Black Canyon projectors will immediately proceed with negotiations with the government.

I. O. O. F. DELEGATES WILL ATTEND GRAND LODGE

The grand lodge, grand encampment and Rebekah state assembly of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will convene in annual session at Nampa next week. The grand incumbent and Rebekah assembly will meet Monday morning at 10:00 o'clock, and the grand lodge Tuesday afternoon at 1:30. Adjournment will be had Thursday.

Quite a delegation of Parma Odd Fellows and Rebekahs will be in attendance. Officers and delegates who will attend are: Mrs. C. B. Ross, president; Mrs. M. A. Bates, inside guardian and Mrs. Nellie Watkins, Miss Elise Boehringer and Mrs. Nellie Baldrige, delegates of the Rebekah assembly; C. B. Ross, grand senior warden; S. G. Tucker and M. A. Bates, delegates of the grand encampment; J. C. Baldrige and W. B. Mitchell, delegates to the grand lodge. Several other members of the different branches, probably 20 in all, will attend.

Nampa is making great preparation for the grand lodge of the 1,000 members of the order that will visit that progressive city during the week.

PARMA HAPPENINGS

Now is the time to list your property. We have the cash buyers.

Hudson & Elerick, Wilder, Idaho.

Dr. Boone, president of the College of Idaho, will preach at the First Presbyterian church next Sunday, Oct. 14, morning and evening.

The high school was dismissed for a couple of weeks Monday to allow the pupils to help in harvesting the fruit crop.

The other day Mrs. O. G. Boyd received a letter from her son, Elwyn, who is with the boys at Camp Greene. The boys were considerably disappointed at the dismemberment of the Second Idaho, but all are well and full of "pep." The Oregon Engineers head the regiment to which G company was assigned.

Fred Chapman returned Friday from Seattle, where he has been for some time past.

Frank Chapman and son, Fred, spent Sunday with Mrs. Chapman who is recovering nicely from a rather serious operation at a Boise hospital. Mrs. Chapman expects to be able to return home Sunday.

Mrs. C. B. Ross, Mrs. H. C. Andersen and Miss Helen Usadel returned to Caldwell, Monday.

Several Parma people attended the round-up at Weiser the latter part of the week. It was pronounced the best attraction of the kind ever pulled off in the west. Weiser certainly made a great hit, and has a right to feel proud over the results.

Mrs. Hedwig Nilsson, of Portland, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Schmid, and sister, Mrs. Carl Eisenminger.

M. A. Bates attended the 25th anniversary of Parma Lodge No. 29, A. F. & A. M., at Nampa, Tuesday night, and reports a splendid time.

Mrs. S. A. Mitchell, Mrs. I. H. Kellar and Mrs. D. W. Gromer are attending a W. C. T. U. meeting at Caldwell.

While riding a bicycle on the street the other day little Alvin Hervey collided with George Wood's Ford at the bank corner. He was considerably bruised, but no bones were broken and he is able to attend school again.

Sidney M. Knox and Mrs. Elizabeth Helfer, of Roswell were married Tuesday, Oct. 9, in Caldwell, by the Rev. B. W. Rice. Mr. Knox has been a resident of Roswell for the past two years and Mrs. Helfer for one. They both have numerous friends, who accorded them a hearty welcome to their new home, Tuesday evening, a large chivari party turning out for the occasion.

George Obendorf, who lives six miles south of Parma, reports that a Chester White sow belonging to him had a litter of 21 pigs recently. Up to the present time the sow, which is four years old, has had 105 pigs. A sow of the same brood has had 98 pigs.

Fanny Lyon Cobb, wife of Calvin Cobb, publisher of the Statesman, died Thursday morning, Oct. 11, at 1 o'clock, at the family home in Boise. She had been ill for some weeks. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock and the remains taken to Chicago for interment.

Mrs. B. M. Campbell, of Roswell, has received word from her son who is with the American troops in France, that the boys are badly in need of the warm knitted sweaters, caps, etc., which the women at home are making and are anxiously awaiting their arrival. Many of the Parma women are making complete sets according to government regulation and will soon have them on the way.

Twenty-two carloads of sheep shipped by Stamford & Vernon, from Riverview, Ore., arrived in Parma Tuesday night to be fed in the nearby country in transit to Chicago.

THE GOOD JUDGE VISITS ARMY HEADQUARTERS.

FINE, GENERAL, BUT YOU KNOW THE BOYS IN THE TANKS ARE WANTING W-B CUT—THAT REAL TOBACCO CHEW

COLONEL, HOW IS YOUR REGIMENT TO-DAY?

GOOD TOBACCO IS THE SOLDIER'S COMFORTER.

WHEN you trim your outfit down to military bedrock, W-B Cut Chewing scores a bull's-eye. A soldier gets more from his pouch of W-B than from a bulky ordinary plug—rich leaf plump full of sap, all tobacco satisfaction, every shred of it. And the water-proof pouch keeps it clean and fresh in the pocket of his khaki.
