PROCLAMATION
Whereas, we are now engaged in the most titanic struggle for human liberty ever known to the world and every strengthening force should be invoked to sustain the hearts and arms of the nations engaged in this holy cause, which can best be done by continuing ever conscious of the righteousness of the cause in which we are engaged and keeping our hearts in harmony therewith.
Now, therefore, it is directed that at the our of eleven o'clock each day, except Sunday all bells in the City of Salmon be made to strike eleven times, and that during the period of such striking every person engage in prayer, meditation or earnest hope for the success of our arms and the safety of our boys.
L. E. GLENNON, Mayor.

UP AND DOWN THE LINE
Just a little plow and a little dirt. Makes a little drain ditch so the won't hurt.
Just a little scraper and a little man.
Hooked up to some horses backed by AMBITION.
Just a bit of time—October sunny days.
This the way the road work goes at Whiskey Springs.
Just a little gravel and a little sand.
Make a dandy holdfast when the dirt expands.
Just a grain of help to see the gravel's laid.
Makes a lasting road bed of that new made grade.
Just a bit of hurry as October sunshine wings.
All, make a MIGHTY LITTLE road up at Whiskey Springs.

The lane adjacent to Nip-and-Tuck, Montana side, came close to having a real casualty to add to its misdeeds when a rat went off a bridge there last week and one of its occupants was quite badly injured, being taken to Salmon for medical treatment. How the county of Beaverhead thinks it can afford to neglect that strip of road is beyond the ken of mere mortal.
Yes, it's passable. Ruts not more than a foot apart and not a mile over hub deep. But should it storm, nothing but a swallow tailed bird could cross. The power of an 8 C. C. is impotent. No, you're mistaken. It's not in the backwoods, it's a county road where your mail is carried daily and the carrier is fined because he can't follow the bird. Let something good be DONE, not said.
George Johnston is having the stage UP AND DOWN THE LINE while George Martin is making some perfectly gorgeous weather cutting little holes in the ground full of perfectly good dirt. In an effort to eliminate some perfectly bad roads. May the dirt rest where it's put and may success crown his efforts. The real gravel helps dirt to stay PUT.
