NEWS REVIEW OF THE GREAT WAR

Kaiser's Back Wall Has Fallen and His Front Wall Is Crumbling Fast.

HINDENBURG LINE SMASHED

Bulgaria Surrenders Unconditionally and Turkey is Wobbling—St. Quentin and Damascus Captured—Huns Preparing to Get Out of Belgium.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

The Kaiser put his back to a wall in the vain effort to check the allies on the western front, and the wall collapsed.

Meanwhile the allies kept up their ceaseless hammering at the Kaiser's front wall—the Hindenburg line—and by smashing through it at many points proved it was not the impregnable system of defense that the Germans had supposed it to be.

Report of the committee on legislation to fix the state tax levy for district schools at 2.6 mills, instead of the present tax of 2.4 mills, and the rate for the state high school fund at 3 mills, instead of the present tax of 2 mills, was adopted at a meeting of the house of delegates of the Utah Educational association.

For the third time in less than 18 months, the Goshute Indians on the Hapah reservation, near Deep Creek, Utah, have gone on the warpath, according to information received in Salt Lake.

With Spanish influenza already raging at Libby, in Northwestern Montana, at Chateau, in central Montana, at Billings and Scooby, in eastern Montana, and at Whitehall and Twin Bridges, in southern Montana, health officials are of the opinion that only good luck, coupled with hard work, can prevent a widespread epidemic of this disease in Montana.

Forest fires, driven by high east winds, swept an area 25 miles wide near Shelton, Mason county, Wash., destroyed all bridges on the upper line of the Peninsular railway, and burned out three logging camps of the Simpson Logging Co.

With a percentage of 5.41, Nevada stands .42 per cent below the national average and is twenty-seventh in the list of states in percentage of rejections from military camps because of disqualifications, from February 10 to July 18 of this year.

Granville Stuart, pioneer, and one of the best-known figures in the history of Montana, died October 3 at Missoula. Mr. Stuart had been a resident of the state since 1857 and was among the first to discover gold on Gold creek. He was an author and historian and was United States minister to Paraguay and Uruguay during President Cleveland's second administration.

Although there are many wild ducks being shot since the season opened in Utah on October 1, there is none for sale on the market. Offering wild ducks for sale at market places is against the law in Utah.

The time limit for entering the University of Idaho students' army training corps has been extended to October 15, in order to give many boys, who at present are engaged in the harvest fields, an opportunity of joining this department of the service.

Probably one of the youngest men in the service to receive a commission is Albert P. Stark, Jr., of Livingston, Mont. Young Stark has received a commission as second lieutenant and is at present stationed at Camp Perry, Ohio. He will not be 21 years of age until next December.

In Champagne there was no marked change during the week, though both the French and the Americans continued to move forward. The Yankees were up against a hard proposition in the forest of Argonne, where the dense woods were full of machine gun nests and the fighting was almost like a battle in the dark.

The most spectacular exploit of the week was the raid on the Austrian naval base at Durazzo. American, British and Italian warships made their way through the mine fields and completely destroyed the base and all the Austrian vessels in the harbor except a hospital ship.

The Bulgarians in signing the armistice submitted to every demand of the allies, which included demobilizing their army and surrendering the control of all their means of transportation, besides breaking entirely with the other central powers. They even said they were willing to attack Turkey, in conjunction with the allies.

In the attack on Cambrai the British, with whom an American contingent was fighting, met with desperate resistance and here and there suffered a local reverse, but they could not be long checked and pushed ahead with dogged determination until they had the city at their mercy.

Next to the south comes the St. Quentin sector, and there the French under General Debency won a great victory, capturing the city after tremendous fighting, which was fiercest in and about the St. Quentin canal.

Between the Oise at La Fere and the Aisne the French pushed on toward Laon and succeeded in passing beyond the elaborate system of waterways that comprised the chief defense of the enemy and reaching open country where the tanks could operate to advantage.

Ignation of Chancellor von Hertling, Vice Chancellor von Payer and Foreign Minister von Hintze, and the invitation of the Kaiser and of Emperor Charles to their people to participate in the government. Late in the week it was announced that the Kaiser had selected Prince Maximilian of Baden for the post of chancellor. He has been known as head of the Delbrueck moderates and opposed to the schemes of the pan-Germans, and it is presumed he will make great efforts to bring about a negotiated peace.

News from Russia and especially from Serbia is scanty and belated these days. The most important coming lately concerns the anti-bolshevik government set up in Omsk. Minister of War Michaelov attempted to make himself dictator by forcing the resignation of the cabinet and organizing an administrative council to succeed it.

In northern Russia the allies are making progress southward from Archangel along the Dvina river, and Americans are holding the point farthest south, only forty miles from Bielsk, the bolshevik base.

The state department at Washington was informed of a big uprising of the Ukrainians against the Germans, in the course of which the Huns lost 1,500 men and were forced to evacuate two cities. This news, together with the knowledge that Roumania was about ready to re-enter the war on the side of the allies, was considered of great military importance.

The apparent determination of the Germans to destroy utterly every city in France and Belgium that they are compelled to relinquish has given rise to a general demand that the allied governments shall warn the Huns that for every place wantonly destroyed a city or town in Germany will be laid in ruins by them later on.

On Monday the master numbers in the new draft were drawn, President Wilson taking the first from the bowl. The classification of the men is progressing well, but the sending of those selected to the training camps may be delayed by the serious spread of the epidemic of influenza. Rigid measures are being adopted to check the disease, with prospects of success. Considering its nature, the number of deaths is not extraordinary.
