

SPANISH INFLUENZA RAPIDLY SPREADING

Persons Weak and Rundown Are Easy Victims—Fortify Yourself Against it by Taking Tanlac.

According to late reports issued by State and Federal health authorities the Spanish Influenza epidemic is rapidly spreading to all parts of the country, and it now seems that practically every state in the Union will be seriously affected before it runs its course.

It has not only become a great and terrifying menace to the public health, but unless checked, it is apt to seriously affect the progress of war work in all the various departments. Already the Shipping Board has announced that ten per cent of its workers had been affected.

The disease has made its greatest progress in the East where it has claimed its victims by the thousands. Reports from other sections, however are equally alarming; and both civil and military authorities have warned the public to take every precaution to prevent its further spread. In many cities schools, churches and theatres have been closed and public gatherings of all kinds forbidden.

Medical authorities agree that people who are weak and rundown are the earliest victims of the Influenza epidemic. If you find yourself tired, weak and losing flesh, or if you catch cold easily this warning should be heeded promptly. You are really in danger, because the germ of this disease is very catching and you are apt to fall an easy victim if you come in contact with the germs. People who are well and strong are not likely to contract the disease because they are able to throw it off. The common-sense way to keep from taking it is to fortify the system against attack by building up the constitution.

In other words to use the old adage, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." And if you are in a sub-normal condition the proper thing to do is to begin immediately to build up your powers of resistance. To accomplish this, nothing on earth will strengthen you and build you up like Tanlac, the powerful reconstructive tonic, which contains the very elements needed by the system to give you fighting strength and ward off the influenza germ.

First of all, Tanlac begins its action by creating a good healthy appetite for wholesome, nourishing food, and assist every organ of the body to perform its natural functions, thus helping to build up health and strength in the natural way.

Tanlac is also the ideal strengthening tonic for persons who are suffering from the after effects of Influenza, grippe or bronchial troubles and hundreds of thousands are using it daily with the most gratifying results.

In connection with the Tanlac treatment, it is necessary to keep the bowels open by taking Tanlac Laxative Tablets, samples of which are included in every bottle of Tanlac. It is also important that the every day rules of hygiene be observed; that is, sleep in well ventilated rooms, get plenty of fresh air and exercise and keep away from crowds.

Tanlac is sold in Emmett at the H. T. Davis, and at Montour by A. C. Vadney.

"Spokes"—and the Swift "Wheel"

What would you consumers think of a wheel without spokes?

What would you think of a man who would take any or all of the spokes out of a wheel to make it run better?

Swift & Company's business of getting fresh meat to you is a wheel, of which the packing plant is only the hub. Retail dealers are the rim—and Swift & Company Branch Houses are the spokes.

The hub wouldn't do the wheel much good and you wouldn't have much use for hub or rim if it weren't for the spokes that fit them all together to make a wheel of it.

Swift & Company Branch Houses are placed, after thorough investigation, in centers where they can be successfully operated and do the most good for the most people at the least possible cost.

Each "spoke" is in charge of a man who knows that he is there to keep you supplied at all times with meat, sweet and fresh; and who knows that if he doesn't do it, his competitor will.

How much good would the hub and the rim of the Swift "wheel" do you if the spokes were done away with?

S. C. D.

The following poem was written by a soldier named Sampson and sent by John Selby from France to his sister Mrs. Everett Barton.

Note: S. C. D. (Surgeon's Certificate of Disability) is used by the doughboys as a noun, adjective or verb. A sick or wounded man gets his S. C. D., is an S. C. D. or becomes S. C. D. These men are given light work to do behind the lines.

They have marked me S. C. D. now, and sent me to the rear; As soft and easy berth as man could want;

No midnight raids, no shell bursts and no gas attacks to fear, You would think I'd rest contented but I can't.

I'm eating food that's fit to eat, and sleeping 'neath a roof, No job in all the army soft as mine; But I'd sooner have my dug-out, tho' it's only splinter proof

And the grueling work we got out on the line.

I know I've got it soft enough—I guess I shouldn't kick; This being S. C. D. is no disgrace, But it makes me feel so miserable to think I couldn't stick

And some other man is up there in my place.

Perhaps he's "standing to" tonight, while I lie here in bed, Or bringing ammunition from the truck,

Or on patrol cross No-Man's Land; where I should be instead Of being here a-cussing out my luck.

It's funny when you're up there, how you long to get away, And for the rear you gladly hit the track.

But when you've been back here a week or so you say

That the only thing you want is to get back.

To get back to the trenches, and the fury of the fight

Where every second has its share of strife; The whistle of the shells o'er head, excitement day and night— Of course it's full of danger—but it's Life.

Sometimes you feel just full of nerve; there's times you're awful scared,

But you find satisfaction in each thrill, For you know you've done your dearest, and, back home 'mongst those who cared You've earned respect, and honor, and good will.

That's why I'm discontented—why I hate this easy game;

There is no satisfaction here for me; Same like this life behind the lines—but honest! It's too tame.

My God! I wish I wasn't S. C. D.

If Eve hadn't listened to the serpent in the garden, she would not have raised Cain—and there would have been no Kaiser to raise hell in Europe.

"The Merciful Man Considereth His Beast"

"When the frost is on the punkin' And the fodder's in the shock—"

These beautiful lines of Riley's recall a mental picture of purpling autumn; of the harvest moon and nature's fulfillment of her generous promise. They also convey to the forehanded farmer the bleak winds of winter and the discomfort of drifting snow.

Have you made provision for THE COMFORT OF YOUR STOCK? Aside from the merciful consideration a farmer has for his livestock there is always confronting him the question of DOLLARS AND CENTS. A leaky roof, sides unbattered, a poorly constructed foundation; any or all of these things have a tendency to reduce PROFITS.

Comfortable stock is PROFITABLE STOCK. If you lack shelter see—
