Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Langroise motored to Payette Saturday evening taking Norma and Will and Miss Margaret Knipe, enroute to Moscow to resumed their school work. Miss Ellen Waring was prevented from accompanying them by sickness in the family.

The government has started an investigation, it is announced, to discover and weed out a large number of alleged fraudulent dependency claims, and intimates that trouble is likely to ensue for many who have been drawing these allowances to which they have not been entitled. The startling claim is made that as a result of this investigation at least one-third of the 400,000 now drawing dependency money will not only have this fund cut off but will be required to pay back what they have received in this way. The ruling, according to the department officials, is that no one is entitled to such an allowance unless she was an actual dependent of the soldier at the time he enlisted or was called. That would mean that many women who have married soldiers since they were called and have been drawing the allowance money will soon get a notice that they will be asked to do a certain amount of explaining to the government men. It is charged that a large number of these women are self supporting and have been, many of them making $75 per month by their own efforts. A great deal of criticism has resulted from sending dependency money to persons alleged not to be in anywise dependent and the government evidently has decided to take a peep into the matter.

Furs Wanted
The New York Store will pay the highest prices for all kinds of furs.

TO THE PUBLIC:

Feeling that some explanation is due to the public concerning the unprecedented scarcity of Victrolas and Victor Records, we desire to make the following statement:

The above condition is due, as all such conditions must primarily be due, to the unquestioned popularity of Victor products. It is also due to the fact that so long as the United States was at war we believed our paramount duty lay in assisting the Government in the prosecution of the war to the fullest extent of our abilities; our facilities had been freely offered and accepted.

Immediately upon the signing of the armistice and our release from the Government obligations, we took all necessary steps to insure the earliest possible return to an increased output of Victor products, but in the interim we would bespeak for Victor dealers and for ourselves some measure of consideration which we believe will be accorded by every American.

The Misses Ellen Waring, Norma Langroise and Frances Jones went to Boise last Thursday to attend a banquet of the Delta Gamma girls of this section of Idaho, given in the Jungle room of the Owyhee. It was a brilliant affair and greatly enjoyed by about twenty young ladies. The Emmett delegation returned home Friday evening.

The bonds of the Fourth Liberty Loan bear 4 1/4 per cent annum. They will mature on October 15, 1938, unless the United States should redeem them on or after October 4, 1933. The interest on $30,000 of bonds is exempt until two years after the termination of the war from income, surtaxes and excess profits taxes. Bonds of the Fourth Liberty Loan are permanently exempt from all other federal, state and municipal taxes.

A trained nurse, who has been nursing the influenza in Canada, tells of a successful treatment given in Canada, which she said never failed in preventing bronchial pneumonia, and saved hundreds and hundreds of lives. The patient is enveloped in a mustard plaster. A sheet is taken and fitted to the patient around the neck and under the armpits. On it is laid the mustard plaster, made with lard, mustard and flour. The plaster covers the patient, back and front, from below the ribs up close under the armpits and up to the neck. The nurse said she wished every paper in the United States would print the mustard plaster treatment.

Mrs. John Burke arrived Monday evening from Bimidi, Minn., to visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Jones. She expects to remain about three months. Mrs. Burke had the unusual experience of being snow bound 18 hours in one of South Dakota's snow banks. She says the passengers were given the best of accommodations with the exception of heat, the service in this line being quite inadequate.

Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Dillon returned Monday from an extended visit at their old home in Smith Center, Kans. Mrs. Dillon had a severe attack of influenza while away, but has fully recovered. The Dillon people are more delighted with their Idaho home than ever, and are fully decided that this is "the place." They were accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cannon, who stopped here a few days to visit several families of former Smith Center people. Mr. and Mrs. Cannon were enroute to Tacoma for a short stay.

When our soldier lads began to go to France, the girls here figured that half of them would stay. There sprang up a nation-wide work of changing the minds of the boys. Soon it began to be evident that not more than a quarter of the soldiers would remain forever in France. Later the wise heads figured that not more than ten per cent of them would marry the pretty French girls and stay among the vine clad hills and citron groves. Now one boy who has had an unusual and exceptional career in the navy and who is now ashore in France, living in a castle much of which was built two thousand years since, and where Napoleon dined and wine and slept and where Dad Nelson anchored while his ships had the French fleet bottled up, writes his folks that the good U. S. beats it all. This lad is exploring old musty passages and tunnels in a castles and opening up niches and corners never before seen by any American. He says no French girls for him, but that he is coming back to Idaho and get him a pinto girl with red blood and a heart like the engine of the Winslow six, and with a cherry laugh and with eyes like the Idaho sunrise and cheeks like the sunset. It is thought now that fifteen boys out of the million will remain in French territory.—Caldwell Tribune.

Mr. and Mrs. D. McMillan left yesterday for San Francisco to make their home with their sons. For six or seven years they have lived on the Big Four ranch on the bench and have made a host of warm friends not only in that section, but also in Emmett and vicinity. Advancing years have demanded a cessation of the toil incident to ranching and they will now retire from active work. While they will spend most of their time in California, they expect to make an occasional visit to Emmett. Their going is regretted by themselves almost as much as by those they leave behind, for they have enjoyed their home here and the hospitality and friendship of neighbors. The Big Four has been turned over to the efficient management of Ed Beutler.

at the mill. He was accompanied home by O. J. Jones of the local management, who spent a couple of days in the Boise office.

John Atkins arrived last week to take the position left vacant by the recent resignation of George Hines. Mr. Atkins comes from the fire swept district of Minnesota, his former home being in Cloquet. He was a heavy loser in that terrible disaster. His family is visiting at present in the northern part of the state and will join him here to establish their home as soon as suitable quarters are obtained.

Perry Oxley, formerly employed as engineer with the B. P. mill, stopped off to call on friends in Emmett today on his way home to Boise from Cascade, where he has been a couple of weeks. Mr. Oxley will be remembered by many of Emmett's basketball fans, because of his enthusiasm over the game and his popularity as referee in many a hard fought battle. He was recently discharged from army service.

"Scotty" Henderson, who has had a serious attack of influenza is reported improving. In fact, we learn that there are no dangerously ill ones among the mill employes at present. Mr. Woodstein, who has suffered a most painful affection of the ear accompanying influenza, is somewhat improved.
