Latter Day Saints.

Services every Sunday as follows: Sunday school at 10:30 a. m., services at 12:20. Mutual at 8 p. m. All are invited. Geo. F. Smith, Bishop.

Catholic Church.

Father Dwyer: Nampa, Phone 515. Services on the first, second and fourth Sundays. Mass during the summer at 8 o'clock, followed by Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament. Confessions are heard on Saturday evening.

Christian Science Society.

Meets every Sunday morning in the Moose hall at 11 o'clock. A cordial welcome extended to all.

Methodist Episcopal Church.

Elmer Grant Keith, Pastor. The outing Sunday services were very helpful and pleasant, and enjoyed by a large number of people. The socialibility of the after service was a very pleasant feature.

The Sunday School will convene at 10:00. It is very gratifying that despite the vacation time the attendance has been well sustained. The pastors theme at the 11:00 o'clock hour of worship is to be "Changing Needs and Changing Creeds." A study of the question of revising ideas of some things fundamental.

At 6:30 p. m. the Junior League will be conducted. Mrs. R. E. Shaw is the efficient superintendent. The Epworth League will hold their devotional meeting at 7:00 and the Evening hour of worship will be at 8:00. This is a Union meeting with the Rev. A. C. Lathrop preaching the sermon. The services will be held at the Methodist Church.

Baptist Church

A. C. Lathrop, Minister

Sunday services are as follows—10 a. m. our Church School, 11 a. m. Morning worship, 7 p. m. Young people's meeting, 8 p. m. United service in the Methodist church. The regular mid-week service on Wednesday at 8 p. m.

After a pleasant and restful vacation in Idaho's beautiful hill country, the pastor and family returned home this week. Pastor Lathrop announces that he is ready for full service and invites all the community to call on him for any help he can render. He is always glad to be used for every possible ministry.

For the information of recent arrivals in Emmett we desire to announce that the doors of the Emmett Baptist Church are open to you and a hearty welcome awaits you to all services and use of the church. Ours is a home church desirous of doing every possible service for the good of the community and people. Make it your community center and use our building for all reasonable purposes. The pastor resides just outside the city limits North East of Emmett. His phone number is 78w.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Emmettsville Lodge I. O. O. F.

Regular meetings are held Monday night of each week, beginning at 7:30. Visiting brethren invited.

A. L. HETHERINGTON, N. G. H. HAYLOR, Secretary.

"The Wonder City."

London radiates from two main points—first, the city of London, the center of which is the Royal exchange and the Bank of England; the city of London, the birthplace of the commercial life of the Anglo-Saxon race, and still the greatest financial and commercial city in the world; and, second, Westminster, the center of which is the houses of parliament—the birthplace of free institutions which have been followed in every part of the globe.—From Editor and Publisher, New York.

The Everyday Sins.

I have heard men, in family prayer, confess their wickedness and pray that God would forgive them the sins that they got from Adam, but I do not know that I ever heard a father in family prayer confess that he had a bad temper. I never heard a mother confess in family prayer that she was irritable and snappish. I never heard persons bewail those sins which are the engineers and artificers of the moral condition of the family. The angels would not know what to do with a prayer that began, "Lord, Thou knowest that I am a scold."—Henry Ward Beecher.

Neon's Peculiar Property.

Neon, one of the rarest elements of the air, has the peculiar characteristic of glowing bright red when an electric current passes through it, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. This has been utilized in a new spark plug tester, consisting of a hard rubber shell that contains a small glass tube of neon. When the metal cap, sealing the tube, touches a spark plug, the action of the neon quickly shows whether the plug is working or not.

Infection Confers Immunity.

Dr. F. Neufeld, who was assistant to Koch, reviews in the Zeitschrift fuer Tuberculose (Leipzig) all the efforts that have been made to produce immunity from tuberculosis, and asserts that there is no method of vaccination applicable to man. The only immunity attainable is that from mild infection. Dr. A. von Wassermann comes to a similar conclusion.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

By CORA E. CRAWFORD.

(©, 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Aren't they lovely!" Betty was caressing the blooms that had just arrived via messenger.

"Who's the nut?" sardonically inquired her brother.

"Robert, do you think that's nice?" remonstrated mother, as Betty's face took on the deeper flush of temper.

They were at dinner. Betty was dressed in readiness for that cavalier who would shortly follow his floral offering. Bob had been silent and noticeably downcast during the meal.

Just then the phone rang and put an end to any further bickerings. Bob arose with alacrity and flushed eagerness, not unmixed with hope, and dashed to answer the call. His vibrant voice was quite audible in the dining room.

"Yes—yes, it's Bob! . . . No, I wasn't going! . . . You—you mean it? . . . Oh, I say, don't. You needn't be sorry; it wasn't your fault—it was all mine! . . . Well, let's forget it! . . . Forgive you? 'Course! When will you be ready? . . . Be there? You betcher! . . . Am I glad you called! Say, I'll tell the world I'm tickled silly! And I'll tell you tonight!" lowering his voice. But the very intensity of his whisper burned its way to the ears in the dining room.

Rather sheepishly Bob resumed his seat at the table. The fond sympathy in his mother's eyes did not make the mocking rillery in Betty's any the easier to bear.

"Who's the nut, Bobbie? That fluffy little Kitten that has been purring round you lately? Imagine a girl answering to the name of Kitten! You've rubbed her fur the wrong way, have you? That's why he couldn't eat his dinner, mother!" jeered Betty, provokingly.

"Betty, dear, don't. You know Kitten's very sweet. And she likes Bob, I'm sure," mother hastened to soothe with a fond glance at her son.

Then Betty hastened to put on those few necessary finishing touches, and Bob dashed upstairs to dress. Both were very happy and satisfied with life. A troublesome problem had been solved. Mother sat dreamily on at the table. She was smiling quietly and enigmatically to herself. For she had a thought all her own!

Three weeks later the grand masque of the Literary club "came off." The masque was the unique climax of the successful season.

Following announcement, each character, made immortal by some famous author or poet, was obliged to walk the full length of the hall, the orchestra playing proper accompanying strains. Appropriate applause greeted each presentation, but it was when Romeo and Juliet were announced that the "house came down," so to speak. There was much applause, a great deal of laughter, and some sighs. For there were six Romes and six Jullets! (When will this romantic tale cease to intrigue the heart of youth?) But by what tragedy had one Romeo been Julietless! The sighs of relief went up to the God of Chance, who had thus ordered an even number!

It was an absolutely perfect evening—"the best ever," both Romeo and Juliet thought to themselves.

"You dance divinely!" breathed Romeo, once, emerging from his assumed character.

"And you!" she murmured, giving his hand a responsive pressure.

Again, just before unmasking time, "Who ARE you?" demanded Romeo, intensely. He was quite sure she was no one he had ever known.

"Why, Juliet, to be sure—till 12 o'clock," demurely.

"And then?" leaning closer. "I shall always be—Romeo, but who will YOU be?" His voice trembled a little.

"Maybe—Juliet!" She skillfully evaded his embrace and he followed her into the hall again, for well he knew that there were five other Romes that had cast covetous eyes upon his Juliet, and many other youths who evidently forgot that only Romes should be eligible to Jullets. As for Juliet, she was not averse to her cavalier's insistence.

Almost before they knew it, unmasking time was upon them. They were thrilled through and through! Palpitating masks were removed and eager eyes sought eager eyes. Then, across their faces, there chased in rapid succession many, many emotions. Eagerness gave place to blank astonishment, swift and startling, not unmingled with wonder and incredulity! Then unbelief, wild denial, cold horror, a great deal of sheepishness and embarrassment!

But a keen sense of humor finally asserted itself and there came a twinkle of amusement, followed by a burst of healthy, hearty, appreciative laughter. Admiration was the final expression in the eyes of both.

"Some Juliet!" whole-heartedly conceded Bob.

"Some Romeo!" echoed Betty. Then, as both caught mother's merry and satisfied eye in the balcony, "Some schemer!" they murmured.

A Bad Beginning.

"Your new salesman didn't last long."

"No brains."

"Eh?"

"The first thing he did was to call on one of our best customers and park a lighted cigarette on a $300 mahogany desk."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"Bulldozing."

The bull-whack, also called bull-whip, is a terrible whip, with a short handle, and a long heavy lash. In Texas and Louisiana it is used by drovers to intimidate refractory cattle. It is said that the use of this weapon gave rise to the term "bulldozer." The term first found its way into print just after the Civil war, when it came to mean intimidation for political purposes by violence or threats of violence. Since that time the word has acquired a wider significance and may be used with reference to intimidator of any kind.

Mail to the Chief.

"At one moment," an afternoon visitor to the lounge of a London hotel writes, "I counted five women powdering their noses; three were attending to the intricacies of manure; another was tactfully brushing her cheek with rouge, while the majority were puffing away at cigarettes of various shapes and sizes." Did he expect them to be singing a chorus of welcome as he made his entrance, or what?—Westminster Gazette.

The Purpose.

Proportion is almost impossible to human beings. There is no one who does not exaggerate. In conversation, men are encumbered with personality, and talk too much. In modern sculpture, picture and poetry, the beauty is miscellaneous; the artist works here and there and at all points, adding and adding, instead of unfolding the unit of his thought. Beautiful details we must have, or no artist; but they must be means and never other. The eye must not lose sight for a moment of the purpose.—Emerson.

The Hope of Middle Age.

After a man has reached middle age he finds that all the bright ambitions of youth have degenerated and merged into the one uncertain hope that he can keep his stomach and allied organs functioning with reasonable efficiency and regularity from day to day.—Ohio State Journal.
