MRS. MARY DOOM

Estimable Woman Succumbs After Long Suffering.

Mrs. Mary Doom, after occupying an invalid's couch for four years, suffering intensely from inflammatory rheumatism—also, during the past few weeks, a severe attack of erysipelas—died about 8:30 o'clock Friday morning, January 5, 1906. Had she lived until the 4th day of February she would have been 71 years old. Mrs. Doom had lived for many years in this section of the West, and was held in the highest esteem by all who became acquainted with her. She had not taken a step for many months—nearly two years—prior to her death, and the last time she was able to be out to the front gate was four years ago last October.

The funeral was held at the residence on the West Side Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. C. E. Mason officiating. There was a large attendance, and many fragrant blossoms, the order of Eastern Star, of which she was a member, sending a set piece composed of the most beautiful roses, in the form of a star. Music was provided by a quartet—Fred Moore, L. C. Barrett, Mrs. Nile A. Carr and Mrs. Millie E. Longfellow. Her personal Bible was used, and many of her marked selections read.

Mary Ann Ethell, daughter of John and Sarah Ethell, was born in Boone county, Missouri, February, 4, 1835. Removed with her parents to Davis county, Iowa, about 1845. Married there in February, 1859, to M. L. Doom. Removed that spring to California. About 1867 they removed to Idaho, and lived about Pine and Rocky Bar until the fall of 1873, when they went East. Mr. Doom attending medical college at Cincinnati that winter, and Mrs. Doom remaining with her relatives in Iowa.

Dr. Doom established himself in practice in Moulton, Iowa, and they made their home there until the beginning of 1884, when her husband deserted her. In the fall of 1885 she came to Idaho and made her home with her brother Fielding, then living on Bennett Creek: afterwards in Mountain Home, until his death, in 1894, caring for him in his last long sickness.

She was the youngest of 13 children. One brother and one sister survive: George W. Ethell, of Sonora, California, who lived here many years; and Mrs. Susan Beaman, of Red Willow county, Neb. The relatives in this vicinity are: Rev. H. C. Ethell, now of Caldwell; Mrs. Clara Blackwell and Miss Libbie Ethell (with the family of Mrs. Blackwell) of Glenn's Ferry; and Mrs. Josie Macy of Boise, all children of her brother, Sanford Ethell, late of Davis county, Iowa.

An adopted daughter—Jessie Boyer, now Mrs. Osier—is living near Middleton, Idaho. Sickness prevented her from attending the funeral.

Her parents were members of the Regular Baptist church. Mrs. Doom was converted in childhood, as early as eleven or earlier. About the age of thirteen she joined the Missionary Baptist church, as most of her brothers and sisters did. After her removal to California she united with the M. E. church, and continued in connection with that church until March 5, 1899, when she united with the Congregational church, Mountain Home, 16 others being received at the same time.

Mr. McGinness left a will, which has not yet been made public. A number of statements regarding his wealth have been published in a number of different newspapers, but the figures and data given are not correct.

It is a safe estimate, however, to place the total value of the estate at more than a quarter of a million dollars.

Hungerford, one evening early last week, secured the services of the Cox orchestra and invited those who were minded that way to pay tribute at the shrine of Terpsichore, which happened to be located, on that particular evening, at the opera house. It was voted a great success, there being many devotees and much enjoyment.

LOOKS BAD

All Indications Point Toward Guilt of Harry Orchard.

The remains of former Governor Frank Steunenberg (whose tragic death occurred Saturday evening, December 30, 1905, by the explosion of an infernal machine) were laid to rest on Tuesday, January 2, 1906.

The police, from the flash of the explosion up to the present moment, have not relaxed their efforts to unearth and bring to light the details of this despicable anarchistic plot.

The officers are confident that no mistake has been made in the arrest of Harry Orchard, alias Thos. Hogan. The coils of circumstantial evidence are slowly but surely tightening around him, and it is hard to see how he can offset the terrible mass of accusing indications.
