

GLEANINGS

The following Kendrick men are called for examination this week at Moscow: John Halseh, Lester Crocker, Sever Nelson, Oscar Slind, Fred Florance, Gustaf S. Nelson.

L. G. Peterson returned the first of the week from his farm near Genesee. He expects to remain here a greater part of his time from now on.

There is still an opportunity for those who did not register before the primaries to do so before the general election. Saturday is the last day upon which registrations will be received. Mrs. G. M. Lewis is the registrar in this precinct. If you do not register you can't vote and a good citizen always votes.

A. D. Ozmun brought a number of samples of peanuts to town this week. They were grown on his place near Kendrick and were fine, large specimens. He also had a nine-pound hill of potatoes of the Burbank variety, consisting of six suds, all uniform in size.

D. F. Waltz brought some beautiful grapes to market the first of the week. They were raised on his farm north of town. The crop this year was light but the quality unsurpassed. He has a small vineyard but averages from 400 to 600 baskets of grapes every year from it. Grapes can be raised very successfully on the bench farms tributary to Kendrick and will thrive with a little care. Mr. Waltz makes his little vineyard pay and it is only one of his many side lines.

Dan Stevens and son, Floyd, were in Moscow the first of the week on business.

W. Kennedy of Clarkston arrived in Kendrick Tuesday to look after business interests here.

Vote for Clarence Fry for commissioner of the Third district.

Mayor Peterson has been directed by the state sanitary inspector to prohibit the dry sweeping of streets and sidewalks at any time. This order has been issued to prevent in a measure the spread of influenza. Streets and sidewalks shall be swept only between the hours of 9 p. m. and 6 a. m., and then only after being well sprinkled with water.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McKeever arrived Friday from Salmon City, Idaho, where Mr. McKeever has had charge of a creamery during the past year. It is probable that they will remain here as Mr. McKeever has an opportunity to rent a farm. They like it so much better here than at Salmon City, which is in the center of a sagebrush country.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Randall spent the week end with their son, Ernest, at Orofino.

Mrs. Joe Ivy returned Tuesday from Portland where she has spent several weeks visiting friends.

O. H. Solibakke, who represents a Seattle seed firm was in Kendrick the first of the week looking after some seed beans contracted for his company. He shipped nearly a carload from here Wednesday and finished the car at Juliaetta. Mr. Solibakke is a former U. of I. student and has a number of friends in this locality. He spent a greater part of the past ten years in Alaska and was personally acquainted with over twenty of the passengers who were drowned on the Princess Sophia last Friday night. One of them was his partner in business there for two years. He has made five trips to Alaska and back.

Word comes from Juliaetta to the effect that Henry S. Irwin was stricken with paralysis Tuesday morning. Later reports state that he is better and that hopes are held that his condition will not prove to be serious.

Clarence Fry deserves a big vote from his home town next Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hunsinger and son of Wisconsin spent Wednesday with the Lutz family. Mr. Hunsinger is an uncle of Mrs. Lutz.

Mrs. Claud C. Kendall with her little son is visiting her uncle, Chares Riggle. She arrived Monday night from Alaska and was accompanied as far as Spokane by her husband, Corporal Kendall, of Company D 14th Infantry, who has been in the regular army for over 20 years. He is now at Camp Dodge, Iowa. Their two-months old son was born in the barracks in Alaska.

Let's be loyal to our political home products—Clarence H. Fry and John L. Woody. Give them your vote at the polls Tuesday.

Mrs. E. Trump returned to her home in Minneapolis after spending a number of weeks here with her sister, Mrs. A. K. Carlson.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Wegner and little daughter arrived in Kendrick Saturday to visit friends and relatives in this community.

Stuart Compton, lately of the firm of Compton & Son, has accepted a position with the Kendrick Store Co. He began work Thursday, taking the place of Hugh Stanton, who joins his brother in the new firm of Stanton Brothers.

Little Miss Eleanor Herris entertained Thursday afternoon at a Halloween birthday party. The house was appropriately decorated with the black cat and goblin symbols and the little guests spent a jolly afternoon in honor of the sixth birthday of the hostess. The day was also the natal day of the older brother Wayne. Dainty refreshments were served late in the afternoon, and the guests, with many expressions of delight did full justice to them and departed with high hopes of other happy birthdays to come.

A good, big vote for John L. Woody and Clarence Fry from this precinct will be the proper expression of the loyalty that these men deserve from their home community. It isn't a question of politics so much as an opportunity to show that the voters in this corner of the county are willing to stand behind their home candidates regardless of party affiliations. They both deserve your support and without doubt will get it.

Several errors were found in the liberty loan subscription list in last week's Gazette. Mrs. H. P. Hull bought $200 instead of $150 as printed, Miss Anna Nelson $100, C. M. Guy $50 and Mrs. Rose Nelson $100. If there are any other corrections to be made the Gazette will be glad to make them next week.

Mr. A. K. Carlson was a business visitor in Moscow Thursday.

Linden Items

The Misses Viola McAllister and Anna Smith returned home Friday to remain until their schools open again.

Guss Farington moved his bean thresher to the ridge last week and will finish threshing the beans here.

Bertha McAllister who has been attending high school at Southwick is home on account of the epidemic.

John Michaels and Anna Morrison were Kendrick visitors Monday.

Mrs. George Garner and children visited at Cavendish the last of the week.

J. P. Smith returned home Friday and is still in very poor health.

The I. E. Foster family moved to their place Monday, which they recently bought of Edgar Bohn.

Edna and Archie Long visited their sister, Mrs. C. P. Israel last week.

Mrs. Vaughan and Ted spent Saturday evening at the C. H. Fry home. The occasion was Mrs. Vaughan's birthday and all enjoyed a delicious birthday dinner.

POLITICAL ADVERTISING

Burton L. French

Congressman Burton L. French stands for supporting the President in carrying forward the War.

He stands for peace with victory. He was one of the members who first advocated the Selective Draft law, and legislation placing the burden of taxes of the war upon wealth, excess and war profits and large incomes.

He was one of the members who supported the War Risk Insurance measure and the French amendment adopted by Congress establishes the annuity feature of compensation to the great advantage of our soldier boys and their families.

He stands for legislation that will bring the farmer and the consumer closely together to the great interest of both. His efforts were helpful in fixing a better price for wheat in 1918, and he was one of the members of the House who helped pass the provision for $2.50 wheat thru the house.

He stands for National Prohibition.

He stands for Women Suffrage.

He stands for relief to the homesteader and miners upon lands to which the title has not been passed.

He stands for the Government bearing the burden of rehabilitation for the soldier who may be injured in the service.

He stands for the working out immediately of broad policies for economic reconstruction for our country when peace shall come.

He stands for this program in Congress looking to the future and he stands upon it as a part of his record.

His record is 100 per cent loyalty.

To the Electors of Kendrick and Vicinity:

I take this opportunity of asking for your support in the General Election, November 5th, 1918.

If you believed I served you honestly and enforced the laws impartially during my former term as County Attorney I believe I can count on your support regardless of your political affiliation.

I call attention to the fact that a strict enforcement of the law tends towards the protection of every home in the County.

Yours very truly,
John Nisbet.
