RURAL RAT CLUB OF GREAT VALUE

Offer Prizes for Destruction of Harmful Rodents—Better Plan Than Bounties.

EVERYBODY SHOULD COMPETE

Appeal to Civic Pride Will Often Bring Excellent Results in Cleaning Up Premises—Leader Is of Importance.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In any rural community badly infested with rats, it is a good plan for farmers to form rat clubs and offer prizes for destroying the rodents. The younger members of the community as well as adults should be allowed to compete and the prizes should be awarded periodically, as once a month. A first, second, and third prize are suggested for those who bring in the greatest number of rat tails. Specific rules governing the contests should be made at the start, and instruction as to the proper methods of trapping or otherwise killing rats should be a part of the program for each meeting of the club. Prizes may be provided by private donation or even by assessment of members. The plan gives better satisfaction than a system of straight rewards, because it arouses more enthusiasm and costs less. A rat and sparrow club in England in three seasons secured the destruction of 16,000 rats and 28,000 sparrows by an expenditure of less than $30 in prize money. Had ordinary bounties been paid, the same work would have cost $1,000 or $1,200.

Co-operation Needed.

In the matter of rat infestation, small towns are intermediate between farm and city. They show a marked increase of rodents in winter and a decrease when spring opens. Yet the outlying parts of a village are peculiarly subject to losses of poultry during the summer. Pigeon lofts, also, in small towns are subject to raids by rats, and the toll of eggs and young squabs is often heavy. Rats can climb fine-meshed netting and gain entrance to the pigeon yard at the top where the birds themselves enter.

Repression in Villages.

The measures recommended for repressing rats on farms will apply to villages, but co-operation of citizens to destroy the rodents will usually be more readily obtained. Often the small town has a civic club which could take up rat work whenever its importance is presented. It requires only an intelligent and persistent leader to set the machinery for rat repression in motion. The leader should provide for the instruction of the community as to the best methods of trapping, sanitation, rat-proofing buildings, and other measures needed to discourage the rodent. An appeal to civic pride will often bring excellent results in cleaning up premises and in replacing wooden walks or porches, dilapidated buildings, or other harbors for rats.

Badger—Useful in Destroying Noxious Rodents.

RIGHT CARE OF DAIRY COWS

Expensive Practice to Permit Animals to Get in Run-Down Condition as Pastures Wane.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

As pastures begin to wane it is often the custom to permit the cows to get in a run-down condition. This is an expensive practice. As the pastures give out begin to increase other feeds so as to keep the milk flow constant. Preparations should also be made to shelter the animals from cold rains, sleet and snow. More energy is consumed in maintaining the body heat of the animal exposed to severe weather than is utilized in the production of milk and butter.

HEAVES IS COMMON AILMENT

Annoying Disease of Horse Interferes With Usefulness of Animal and Detracts From Value.

Heaves is a very common and annoying disease of horses, interfering seriously with the usefulness of the animal, and consequently detracting from its value. Mainly a disease of old horses, it is essentially the result of faulty feeding and working, especially hard pulling or fast driving when the stomach is overloaded. Gross feeders are frequently subjects of heaves.

Optimistic Thought.

Keep good company and you'll be of them.

OUTLOOK DUBIOUS FOR AUTO

Roads Cannot Stand Wear and Tear They Are Being Subjected To by Heavy Trucks.

With the shortage of labor for road making and the more general use of the roads for heavy hauling, it is likely that the roads as they exist will not be able to withstand the hard usage, and the outlook is dubious for the automobile. Many industrial companies are making use of fleets of trucks to deliver their goods, instead of subjecting themselves to the uncertainties of the railroad service and the wear and tear on the roads thus made use of is more than they can take care of. This, more than ever, makes it evident that there should be some very decided reforms made in the matter of road building. The makeshift repairs which have heretofore been made are not now sufficient, and all new road building work should be made on the most substantial lines. —Chicago Journal.

Dependence on Good Roads.

Every farmer should feel his dependence upon good roads. Whether or not one lives on a public highway he should take an interest in the nearest one to his farm or the road he must use to market his farm, orchard and garden products.

Roads Not Properly Built.

To say that the roads are bad because motortrucks have been passing over them is simply a confession that the roads are not properly built and maintained.

Religions of the World.

According to the latest available figures, the religions of the world are divided as follows: Christians, 564,510,000; Confucianists and Taoists, 300,830,000; Mohammedans, 221,825,000; Hindus, 210,540,000; Animists, 158,270,000; Buddhists, 138,031,000; Shintoists, 25,000,000; Jews, 12,205,000; unclassified, 15,280,000.—People's Home Journal.
