

OUR ENTIRE LINE OF NEW MERCHANDISE FOR FALL IS HERE

Our entire line of fall and winter merchandise is now here and ready for your inspection. Most every department is complete in every detail. A great big part of our stock is merchandise in staple numbers that we bought a year ago anticipating heavy advances and to place ourselves in position that we would be able to take care of our customers without having to ask them the extreme limit in price.

NEVER HAVE WE BEEN IN BETTER POSITION TO COMPETE WITH MAIL ORDER HOUSES

as well as we are this season. There are hundreds of items right here that we will save you from 10 to as high as 60 per cent on, in comparison with prices prevailing this fall in Sears, Roebuck & Co. catalogues.

We had an inquiry this week for an ulster sheep lined coat. We priced a full 52 inch coat, full sheep lined, with corduroy outside and beaverised collar at $18.50. In looking this up in Sears Roebuck's fall catalogue we find they quote a 52 inch, with about a three quarter sheep lining in a moleskin cloth for $29.50. We just saved this customer $11 on the coat and gave him a better garment. Not only this one item but the store is full of merchandise for less than mail order houses this season.

Underwear, Mackinaws
Sweaters, Shoes, Blankets
Rubber Goods, Dress Goods
Staple Dry Goods, Caps, Hosiery
Ladies' Cloaks, Misses' Cloaks

In fact there is not an article in this store but what we will make you a comparison with any mail order catalogue you may bring in. Give us a chance and we will sell you your fall bill.

Kamiah Loses Two.

For the first time since the war began Kamiah has been called on to receive the message of a soldier's death, which is the greatest grief that can come to a community. A double sorrow is our portion, too, for the first of the week two of Kamiah's representatives in the army were called on to make the supreme sacrifice. Sunday evening word came of the death of Axtell Hayes at Camp Fremont and the next morning Mrs. T. A. Curtis received a message apprising her of the death of her husband at Ft. Sill, Okla. Both were victims of pneumonia, superinduced by the influenza.

Axtell Hayes was one of the best known Indian boys of the Nezperce reservation. He was the son of Mrs. Anna Hayes, his father being the late Alex Hayes, and uncles, Jas. and Harry Hayes, all leaders in Nez Perce affairs. Axtell was educated at Carlisle.

Axtell was born in Kamiah 28 years ago and excepting when away at school, spent his entire life here. Besides his widowed mother he leaves two sisters and three brothers—Mrs. Adair Harsche, Edna, Joseph, Noah and Andrew Hayes.

The remains of Tom Curtis were shipped to his old home—Lisbon, N. D.—for burial, and Mrs. Curtis and the children left for that place Tuesday morning to attend the funeral.

He was born in Janesville, Wis., March 2, 1876.—Kamiah Progress.

Obituary.

Edwin Ray Garvin was born at Spencer, Iowa, March 19th, 1888. In the fall of 1898, with his parents, he came to Spokane and lived there one winter. In the spring of 1903 he came to this county, spending a year on a farm and since then making his home in Nezperce.

Of late he had worked at his chosen vocation, locomotive engineering. Six years ago he was married to Miss Vina Redick, who with three children, survive him.

He was a kind father, husband and brother, an obedient son—always had a pleasant word for all those he met, and was obliging so far as his means would permit. He was always pleasant and cheerful, but he was taken in his young manhood, not having reached one half of his three score and ten years.

He leaves behind, besides his wife and children, a father, two brothers, Earl and Arthur, who are with the U. S. army in France; two sisters, Mrs. Ingle Rekdahl and Edith Garvin.

God's ways are not our ways, but His will, not ours, be done. The best we can do is trust Him and prepare ourselves for the same change, and be thankful that all is as well with us as it is. He will be sadly missed in his family and by his friends and relatives and by the community in general.

Sustain Your President—Your Country.

In connection with Roosevelt's tirade against President Wilson's request that a congress be elected which will be in accord with him in handling the war situation, the following facts are cited:

Colonel Roosevelt during the war with Spain said:

"A refusal to sustain the President this year will, in the eyes of Europe, be read as a refusal to sustain the war."

Ex-President Harrison during the war with Spain said:

"Stand solidly behind the President. Elect only Senators and Congressmen in sympathy with him."

If then—why not now?

Dead Heroes Be Brought Home

With the American Army, northwest of London, Oct. 25. All the American dead in France will be taken home after the war, according to orders received by the Army chaplains.

The grave registration bureau has been working with this in view, but nothing definite regarding the future disposition of the dead was known here until an attention came to the chaplains from Washington.

Forfeits U. S. Court

Attorney James E. Smith yesterday received orders from the clerk of the U. S. district court that the term scheduled to open in Moscow next Tuesday had been continued until Monday, November 25. The action is taken by the U. S. court because of the influenza epidemic which necessitated action by the state health board against all public gatherings.

WHO WAS GOING TO BE BOSS

Ship's Officer Quickly Settled Argument Arising Between Naval Ensign and Army Captain.

A lively incident brought to the bridge by naval reserve men aboard our ship illustrates "the eternal triangle" at sea that has as various manifestations as the more generally known "sex" triangle of literature and home life, Nelson Collins writes in the Century Magazine.

A rather self-conscious American army captain in the course of smoking-room discussions had declared he meant to take command of any lifeboat he entered in the event of the ship sinking. He was something-or-other if he would submit to the orders of any blamed ensign in the naval reserve. An ensign reminded him that he was at sea and that a sailor rules the waves. The captain still insisted that army captains never, never should be slaves to navy ensigns. They carried their heated discussion of it out to the deck, and ran into a ship's officer headed leisurely aft. He listened while they submitted the point to him.

"Of course you gentlemen remember that you are on a merchant ship," the officer summed the matter up finally, "and that passengers"—he looked with quiet keenness at both the ensign and the army captain, though the keenness dwelt longest on the captain's flushed face—"that passengers await orders before entering a boat, and have only one duty after they are in it, to sit and keep perfectly quiet. The ship's officer, the ship's quartermaster, or the ship's able-bodied sailor who may be in charge of the boat will look after it, gentlemen. What's all the argument about?"

EARTH HAD MANY "ICE AGES"

Scientists Claim to Have Proved That Glacial Periods Have Been Common in Its History.

One often hears of "the glacial period" or "the ice age" of the earth, but, strictly speaking, this expression is not correct. It is now established beyond all reasonable doubt that this planet has experienced not one but a great many glacial periods, says Popular Science Monthly. Evidence has been found which proves that the latest or Pleistocene glacial epoch had several important subdivisions and that all of the present continents have experienced glacial epochs at different ages. Great ice sheets were formed at different periods back to the Proterozoic age; that is, the age of the oldest known sedimentary rocks, a great many million years ago. One of the most recent discoveries of old glacial deposits was made by Prof. W. W. Atwood of the United States geological survey near Ridgway, in southwestern Colorado. These deposits were found beneath tertiary lavas of the San Juan mountains and resting upon Upper Cretaceous beds. They have, it is believed, been formed in early Eocene times.

HIS POSITION IN LIFE.

It was late inspection in a certain military camp on the Yorkshire coast and the men in one hut stood to attention when the officer came in. He stopped opposite one fellow and asked him what he did in civil life.

The man replied: "A meter, sir?" To the next man he put the same question; he had been a weaver. The officer then stopped, leaving a miscellaneous class.

"Well, and what was you in civil life, my man?"

He replied: "An awl was my avocation, sir?"

ROUGH ON THE PRESIDENT.

They were discussing government in a school. Finally the teacher asked a little boy what the duties of the chief executive were. He stammered for a moment, then blurted:

"The chief executive is the guy that executes the president."

THE REASON.

"Do you find it hard on your family to keep the vacation days, Mac, Canada?"

"No, indeed; our family are more or less abolitionists."

Reports coming in indicate decided improvement in the Nez Perce situation, and Winchester is said to be getting through the epidemic expeditiously. At Grangeville there are several serious cases, but the chance is said to have been passed and improvement is apparent.
