TANGO SEEMS DOOMED CRUSADE HAS STARTED

Both Church and State in High Circles, Including Royalty, Put the Ban on the Much Talked of Dance—Some Comment on its Origin.

By Carlton Ten Eyck.
(Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Molehills often have been made into mountains, and in this serio-comic age tempests in teapots are of hourly occurrence, but certainly never before was there a greater hub-bub over a more insignificant matter than all this hue and cry after the tango. The poor old tango is being talked and written to death. And why? Nobody seems to know. Nobody ever yet was kidnapped, dragged by the hair onto a ball-room floor and made to dance the tango. Those who do not like it are at liberty to let it alone.

The dance, though, may be said to have received several death blows within the last few days. The Catholic church turned its thumbs down on the tango and it had an immediate effect in New York. About the same time several Irish peresses, who are among the leading London hostesses publicly announced a boycott of the dance. Several weeks ago the tango was given a nasty cut in the north of Europe when the Kaiser ordered it suppressed wherever the German army officers danced, and this was followed by an attack in the south of Europe that while not so vigorous was equally effective.

King Barred the Dance.

King Victor Emmanuel, of Italy, without making a speech about it, barred the tango from his state ball and all the diplomats and the social leaders of Rome followed the king's example. Perhaps the first important personage to set her heel on the neck of the gyrating monster of the ball room and the cabaret was Queen Mary of England, who called it a South American "negroid" dance and forbade the young Princess Mary to learn it.

Whether the tango is good or bad, Los Angeles one of the vaudeville theatres received a considerable set back when it arranged intermissions between when Cardinal Farley and high Protestant clergymen let it be known that they opposed it and that everything possible be done to discourage it. Pope Pius has not banned the tango but he has made it plain that he disapproves of it and prelates the world over are now fighting the tango. The New York cardinal did not ban the dance, but his known disapproval is as effective as a ban. When the secretary of His Eminence announced the cardinal's attitude, thousands of Catholics in the metropolis frowned on the tango. The cardinal feels that the tango is degrading and he has resolved to do all he can to discourage it," the secretary said. A Monsignor high in Catholic affairs in New York went further in his condemnation of the tango. He said:

"Any person of intelligence can see, by watching any ball or cabaret in the greater city that the present mode of dancing is open to the charge of impropriety, if not actual indecency."

Abandoned the Tango.

Because of the clerical opposition to the tango, the Junior Auxiliary Institute, an organization of fashionable women, abandoned a dance and entertainment they had arranged at Delmonico's and recalled 600 invitations that already were out. For the same reason the Knights of Columbus announced there would be no tango at their gigantic ball in Madison Square Garden next month. Ten thousand people will dance at this ball, and the Knights of Columbus have appointed a censorship committee of 150 to see there is no tangoing.

But while these crusades against the tango are under way and undoubtedly are doing great execution, the dance continues popular in many quarters and is even gaining ground. Out in between the acts, during which time the patrons are at liberty to tango up and down the aisles and in the foyer. It is safe to say that not a performance is given in any one of New York's hundred-odd vaudeville theatres that there is not at least one dancing number on the program that includes an exhibition of the tango. It is an even safer assertion to say that there is not one restaurant in the thousands in the greater city where a cabaret is maintained, that the tango is not danced. Experts portray the tango on the platforms and the guests in the spaces between the tables.

Matter of Opinion.

Broad minded people say that the goodness and badness of the tango is a matter of opinion and of the personal equation. All that dips in and tango, say the experts. There is tango and tango. The dance, they say, may be done gracefully and beautifully, so that the most prurient cannot object, while there are varieties of dops, leaps and hugs, unjustly called the tango, that are undeniably shocking.

Some persons with a smattering of Latin think that tango comes from the Latin verb meaning to touch, and evidently that is why they like it. But the tango of polite ball rooms is not of Latin extraction. Latin-American perhaps, but in no wise dead. Such well known women as Miss Anne Morgan and Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, social leaders, have come to the rescue of the malignant dance. They say that the tango, as done in their set, is as modest as a waltz, and those who see evil in it have themselves to blame. Taking it by and large, being neither for or against the much discussed South American dance, it may be said without qualification that the tango is in great danger of decadence when both church and state, the prelates and the royalties who are social arbiters, turn against it.

Lincoln Memorial Hearing.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Former President Taft and other Lincoln memorial commission representatives were expected today to attend the hearing by Secretary of War Garrison relative to the Georgia protest against the award of the $2,000,000 temple contract to Fuller Bros., a New York firm. Georgia claims that undue consideration was made in favor of use of Colorado yule marble.

GREAT RUSH TO GET WIVES

SOUTH SEA ISLAND BEAUTIES, RICH AND PROSPEROUS, WANT AMERICAN HUSBANDS.

Representative Sent to America to Pick the Cream of the Country and Bring Back 100 Men.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—Major Frank Pooley, British army officer, retired, is the busiest man in San Francisco. One hundred dusky belles of Eastern Island in the South Sea want as many white men for husbands and Major Pooley is here today to get them and arrange for their transportation. "Men of the desirable kind," said Major Pooley in an advertisement inserted in a San Francisco newspaper, "are scarce in Eastern Island. The women outnumber the men three to one. The women want husbands and I am here to get them. I represent one hundred of the best looking women on the island. They are wealthy. Their husbands will not have to work. They will live in ease and comfort for the rest of their days."

Many Men Show Up.

The next day more than 500 men appeared at Major Pooley's headquarters in the Alaska Pacific Steamship company offices to qualify as South Sea bridegrooms. It was estimated today that more than 5000 white men have volunteered since the advertisement was first inserted.

Some of the would-be husbands are fat. Others are lean. Dozens are short and others are tall. A youth of nineteen weighing about 90 pounds was anxious to know if the Easter Island belles are slight and slender creatures. He nearly wept when told that the average weight was not less than 175 pounds. Hundreds of letters from other applicants have been received by Major Pooley. One signed A. Tenner and A. Mossam read:

Too Lazy to Work.

"We are both young and handsome but we are too lazy to work." Another signed by John Hunter read, "I am the very finest specimen of manhood to be found in the United States. I am 33 years old, 6 feet 1 inch tall, and weigh 230 pounds. I know I can lie around all day and be contented. Just give me the proper instruction and I'll soon be on my way."

Major Pooley is a particular person and is determined that only the best types of men shall go to the South Seas. Out of the hundreds who have applied, only 40 men were placed among the possibilities.

"I shall take about a week longer for this registration," said Major Pooley. "By that time I expect to have the names of 300, physically perfect men. Two thirds of these will be then eliminated in the final selection. I have the money furnished by the women to pay all transportation. The men accepted will travel first class."

NEBRASKA FARMERS MEET

Great Farm Week Demonstration Opened Today at State Farm to Receive Instruction.

LINCOLN, Jan. 19.—A huge stuffed steer, once a prize winner but long since disintegrated into steaks, and short ribs, was the first thing that greeted the eyes of three thousand farmers who met at the state farm today for the first session of Organized Agriculture. Fully 5000 men, interested in various phases of farm work are expected to attend the four day session which opened with a discussion of beef producing steers, with the stuffed monster on the rostrum a heroic example.

Fifty-five different organizations go to comprise Organized Agriculture in Nebraska. These meet in buildings on the farm campus and in the city and are prepared to discuss anything from the proper coddling of queen bees to the use of monster traction engines. Chancellor Avery was one of the main speakers this morning and he was aided by Dean E. A. Burnett of the experimental farm and Dr. C. W. Pugsley of the faculty. Many women were in attendance. They were particularly in evidence in the poultry department. Several experts from the department of agriculture are expected to address various sections of the organizations.

Notice of Attachment.

In the District Court of the Second Judicial District of Idaho, in and for Latah County. First Trust & Savings Bank, a corporation, plaintiff, versus H. Woods and Mary L. Woods, defendants.

To Whom It May Concern: State of Idaho, County of Latah, ss. I, Homer E. Estes, clerk of the above entitled court, do hereby certify that I have issued a Writ of Attachment in the above entitled cause, against the property of the said defendant. In witness whereof, I hereunto set my hand and affix the seal of said court, this 3rd day of January A. D., 1914.

GOTHAM NEWS AND GOSSIP

The Very Latest.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Strange news indeed is it that filters down the wires from Albany, where the solons of the state are in legislatures assembled. Primaries and tax incomes may be agitating the minds of assemblymen and senators, but as far as Governor Glynn is concerned, they do say that he slips away to a quiet nook each day for a secret lesson in tangoing and turkey-dancing. Mrs. Glynn has formed a dancing class that is the subject of much discussion in up-state social circles. No one has come forth to say what the scholars have learned, but both the governor and his charming wife are expert dancers, and who could be an expert without knowing how to turkey trot, tango, wiggle-wabble glide etc. etc.

Farm Life No Dream.

Jack Rose, the former gambler whose testimony in the Rosenthal murder case was largely responsible for the conviction of Lieut. Charles Becker, of the New York police force, declares that the joys of the farmer's life are exaggerated. After the Rosenthal case died out, Rose bought a farm up in Connecticut and went in for the quiet life. A few days ago he returned with his family and has taken up his residence in one of the fashionable uptown hotels.

New York Rural Service.

New York City is able to boast of a real rural free delivery route such as is maintained in country districts throughout the United States. This route has been established by Alfred J. Kennedy, postmaster of the Flushing post office, to deliver mail to the residents of Little Neck and Douglass sections of Long Island. With this innovation passes the last vestige of the farming regime in this most easterly section of the greater city.

Yachting Circles Started.

Yachting circles have been stirred by the announcement that Alexander S. Cochran has ordered a great schooner yacht, to be built by William Gardner, the yacht designer, in addition to the boat he is having built to defend the America's cup. The new schooner will exceed in size any fore and aft pleasure craft ever built, and will cost in the neighborhood of $350,000, which will be more than the cost of Mr. Cochran's cup yacht. This floating palace is intended to be the last word in naval architecture.

Saw Senators at Circus.

Antonio Ricco appeared before Justice Crane in the supreme court a few days ago for admittance to citizenship. This is what happened:

"What body meets at Albany?" asked the Justice.

"The assembly," was the hesitating reply.

"Who compose the Assembly?"

"Senators and assemblymen."

"What is a senator?"

"I don't know."

"Did you ever see one?"

"Oh, yes, I see them."

"Where?"

"They keep them in circuses. I see them there."

The applicant was ordered to make a further study of American institutions.

It pays to advertise in The Daily Star-Mirror.
