Quite a lot of sickness in our ward at the present time.

Bishop A. G. Smith has been under the weather for quite a while, but is a little better now.

George Langlois is erecting a butcher shop on his place near his residence.

The wife of Mr. Fails-who is working for Mr. Langlois, underwent an operation a few days ago. Two doctors in attendance. I understand that she is getting along nicely.

Oscar L. Briggs of Burley was up on business the first of the week.

Some of the people of this place who have to buy hay, are pleased at the prospect of an early spring, which has a tendency to lower the price of hay which is selling at $5.50 and $6 in this place, 450 feet to the ton.

Mr. DeLamar is back from Utah among relatives and friends.

Our school is progressing nicely this year, under the direction of Loren Robinson.

Several of our farmers are beginning to plow and fix for farming.

After night meeting Sunday, two boys Dan and Fred—had been spinning their girls around, started to their homes. The night being unusually dark, they had a collision; no serious damage, only Fred's rig was entirely knocked out, and had to be left on the spot.

Death of Mrs. Jno Alexander, at Marion.

Mrs. Jno. Alexander died at Marion Thursday, and was buried in the cemetery there Saturday. She was a native of England, and made the acquaintance of Mr. Alexander while he was on a mission to that country. She is survived by two sons and two daughters. One daughter is Mrs. Owen Tolman, of Marion, and one son, J. B. Alexander, is now on a mission to the eastern states.

Mrs. Alexander was a kindly, gentle lady, a good neighbor, and a devout and consistent Christian, and was loved by all. Her husband's death preceded her's three years to a day, exactly.

The Herald extends sympathy to the bereft family.

From Obscurity to Wealth

The bank is personally interested in every man who comes in contact with it and has kept many a man from dishonesty who cared little for the admonition of a bishop. Because the business of a bank can be successfully conducted only with honest men the bank becomes largely a conservator of public morals in the community and presents such inducements to uprightness that none but the most foolish would disregard them. The bank is personally interested in every man who comes in contact with it. Encouragement is offered to the prudent, the industrious and the honest, but the spendthrift, the careless and the untruthful find the banker a very "cold proposition." Many a man has risen from obscurity to wealth because of faith he inspired in his banker by his unswerving moral integrity. The banker loaned him money on his good name, and it proved so valuable an asset that he not only kept on, but spoke well of him to others thus enabling him to establish a very high degree of credit. It always pays to "tote fair" with your banker. He is your best business friend. We have money to loan to men of good character.

We pay 4 per cent on savings deposits and compound the interest quarterly.
