

THE OAKLEY EAGLE

By CHARLES P. DIZEL

OAKLEY - - - IDAHO

Two men swam the Niagara rapids a few days ago. We have forgotten their names.

It is a difficult task in this workaday world of ours to preserve the bloom of the peach.

A Cossack who asked for better food has been shot dead. A Cossack should know his place.

The $50,000 subscribed for Peary's pole-hunting project may properly be referred to as cold cash.

Foolish regrets are dreary relics of the past and forgetfulness the junk man that carries them away.

If Peary is successful, Canada will be bounded on the north as well as on the south by the United States.

Drastic reforms are to be inaugurated by the Chinese government. Look out for graft scandals over there.

The boat rocker has just succeeded in drowning a party of three in New Hampshire, fortunately including himself.

A famous football player has just bought a seat on the New York Stock Exchange. He is still looking for trouble.

In Newark, N. J., caterpillars are bringing 10 cents a quart. Newark must be the headquarters of the axle grease industry.

"Are we to have a revival of honesty?" asks the Rutland (Mass.) Herald. Why not? It would be a most delightful novelty.

Chicago and New York continue to talk about how big they are, while the rest of the country is talking about how bad they are.

It is not known yet whether the decision of the treasury department that camels' hair is wool will be pleasing or displeasing to the camel.

"The Woman of To-morrow" is the title of a book just announced, but it is all that most of us can do to keep up with the woman of to-day.

Eighteen Boston tailors have gone on strike, which recalls Queen Elizabeth's salutation to another eighteen: "Good morning gentlemen both."

A Japanese admiral has found that the cruiser Izumrud, late of the Baltic fleet, is a "complete wreck." There is such a thing as doing work too well.

The New York Post refers to Scotty of Death Valley as a golden calf. The editor of the Post must have reasons for believing that Scotty has pained his gun.

Why should anyone complain about the heat when the telegraph tells us that a large snow bank is still visible on Mt. Jefferson, up in the White mountains?

Philadelphia is certainly getting rapid, with fifty-four divorces granted there in one hour this week. And the recent raid had nothing at all to do with it, either.

It is announced in London journals that the Princess Anna de Karenga Esterhazy desires to sell her titles. We would advise her to advertise in the Pittsburg papers.

Nicola Tesla hints that he has about solved the problem of aerial navigation. This may account for the fact that he has not recently been in communication with Mars.

The season is here when you will betray your social status, according as you decide to slice it off with your knife or just hold it up in both hands and bite it off the cob.

Barber Honn of Kansas City has asked the legislature to change his name. If he will promise to quit cackling his customers will doubtless warmly support the petition.

"The English are not considered a pleasure-loving people," says the London Speaker. If they had been a pleasure-loving people, they would never have got mixed up in that Boer war.

It must be annoying to the czar to have to go poking around the cellar every time when he moves into a new palace to see how much dynamite the energetic revolutionists have stowed away.

Secretary Taft says he was not angry when he wrote that letter to Wallace. Then it is difficult to see how the secretary could fully express himself when angry without plagiarizing Admiral Evans.

Word comes from New York that a woman who married a man there because she thought he was a genius has had him put in an insane asylum. She isn't the first one, however, who has had trouble in discovering the difference.

An octogenarian v. l. s. just died in New York is said to have drunk heavily all his life, except nine months, during which he thought the city would be bombarded by a Spanish fleet. He evidently was reasonable in his demands for excitement.

HISTORY WAS NOT TAUGHT.

Recognition by Colleges of Importance of American Story.

A little more than thirty years ago a boy could enter Harvard college and after four years graduate with the highest honors without knowing of the existence of the declaration of independence or when the constitution of the United States was framed, says Henry Cabot Lodge in the Reader Magazine. What was true of Harvard was true of other universities and colleges. American history was not included in the scheme of the higher education. Boys entering college were required to know something of the history of Greece and Rome, but not of their own country. During the four years of the college course they had opportunity to study the history of England and Europe, but never to learn aught of the United States. This condition of education was merely an indication of an attitude of mind then passing away, but which had once been predominant. The usual opinion seems to have been during the first half of the nineteenth century that there was no American history worth telling, apart from the adventures of the revolution, which were both connected so closely with the history of Europe that they might be deemed of importance.

Sound as a Dollar.

Monticello, Minn., Aug. 7th.—Mr. J. W. Moore of this place stands as a living proof of the fact that Bright's Disease, even in the last stages, may be perfectly and permanently cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Moore says: "In 1898 three reputable physicians after a careful examination told me that I would die with Bright's Disease inside of a year. My feet and ankles and legs were badly swollen; I could hardly stand on my feet and had given up all hopes of getting cured when a traveling salesman told me that he himself had been cured of Bright's Disease two years before."

"He said he had taken to his bed and expected to die with it, but that he had been cured by a remedy called Dodd's Kidney Pills."

"I commenced taking them at once and I am thankful to say that they saved my life. After a short treatment I was completely restored to good health and I am now as sound as a dollar."

Heat and Cold in Arabia.

Arabia has the reputation of being one of the hottest and unhealthiest regions on the globe, but all northern Arabia has a winter season, with cold rains and occasional frosts.

Here is Relief for Women.

Mother Gray, a nurse in New York, discovered a pleasant herb remedy for women's ills, called AUSTRALIAN-LEAF. It is the only certain monthly regulator. Cures female weaknesses, Backache, Kidney and Urinary troubles. At all Drugists or by mail 50 cts. Sample mailed FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

FRAUD ON LIFE COMPANIES.

Scheme Worked Successfully by a Girl Who Counterfeited Death.

A fraud scheme at the expense of life insurance companies was carried out three times successfully as long ago as 1730. A young woman with an extraordinary power of simulating death had for a confederate an elderly man, who passed for her uncle. Twice in different parts of England she insured her life in her uncle's favor, went into convulsions and to all appearances died. The third time the game was played with an ingenious variation. The uncle went to a life insurance company, explained that he was in financial straits and wished to borrow money on his niece's estate.

To compensate for such a loan he would have to insure her life for its value, but could not afford to have this insurance become known, as it would expose his financial condition and ruin his credit. The company, therefore, agreed to write the insurance under a bond of secrecy. As usual, the young woman went into convulsions and died. Before her funeral she lay in state for all the world to see. Her uncle was prostrated.

He did not try to collect the insurance for some months and when he did the company paid him in full with expressions of real sympathy. So did nine other companies, which he had silenced by the same ruse, and he joined his niece on the continent with a very impressive fortune.

BABY'S INSTINCT

Shows He Knew What Food to Stick To.

Forwarding a photo of a splendidly handsome and healthy young boy, a happy mother writes from an Ohio town:

"The enclosed picture shows my 4-year-old Grape-Nuts boy."

"Since he was 2 years old he has eaten nothing but Grape-Nuts. He demands and gets this food three times a day. This may seem rather unusual, but he does not care for anything else after he has eaten his Grape-Nuts, which he uses with milk or cream, and then he is through with his meal. Even on Thanksgiving day he refused turkey and all the good things that make up that great dinner, and ate his dish of Grape-Nuts and cream with the best results and none of the evils that the other foolish members of the family experienced."

"He is never sick, has a beautiful complexion, and is considered a very handsome boy. May the Postum Company prosper and long continue to furnish their wholesome food!" Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason. Read the little book, 'The Road to Wellville,' in every pkg."

TWENTY YEARS OF IT.

Emaciated by Diabetes; Tortured with Gravel and Kidney Pains.

Henry Soule, cobbler, of Hammondport, N. Y., says: "Since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me eight years ago, I've reached 70 and hope to live many years longer. But twenty years ago I had kidney trouble so bad I could not work. Backache was persistent and it was agony to lift anything. Gravel, whirling headaches, dizziness and terrible urinary disorders ran me down from 168 to 100 pounds. Doctors told me I had diabetes and could not live. I was wretched and hopeless when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, but they cured me eight years ago and I've been well ever since."

Old Inns in England.

The Ostrich inn at Colnbrook, Middlesex, England, has had an uninterrupted existence since the far-away days of King John. It was doing a thriving business before magna charta was signed and had qualified as a veteran before Crecy was fought. The Seven Stars in Manchester was a licensed house in the year of Poitieve, 1356, two-thirds of a century before the cathedral was founded, and it boasts to-day a staircase clock which began to tick over so long before Dr. Johnson was born—nearly two centuries ago.

Find Isaiah XLVII, 7.

Our remark of a few days ago that the phrase "I shall be a lady" occurred in Isaiah has sent many correspondents to a search of the Scriptures. This was, of course, our deep design. But many of them cannot see six inches before their noses. One of them, after a course of Isaiah, writes: "I have read it through without tracing it, and on the strength of the statement I went so far as to wager a Fox at the theater on the accuracy of the Daily Chronicle."—London Chronicle.

Modern Hercules.

Louis de Boufflers, surnamed the "Robust," who lived in 1534, was noted for his strength and agility. When he placed his feet together, one against the other, he could find no one able to disturb them. He could easily bend and break a horseshoe with his hands and could seize an ox by the tail and drag it against its will. He more than once carried a horse upon his shoulders.

Webster Objected to Starving.

During my boyhood I resided in the district in which Daniel Webster made his home in summer or when through with his duties at Washington, says a writer in the Boston Herald. Once a butcher sued him for a meat bill. He was frequently negligent about paying small bills. The butcher refused to deliver any more meat until his bill was settled. Meeting him several days later, Webster said to him: "Sue me as many times as you like, but don't starve me."

ODD CUSTOM IN MOROCCO.

Estates of Fallen Favorites Invariably Confiscated.

It is a custom in Morocco that all the property of an official reverts at his death to the crown. The logic which leads to such results is simple, for the government argues that all fortunes thus accumulated consist of moneys illegally retained by the authorities. A governor when appointed is probably possessed of no considerable fortune. When he dies he may be a millionaire. Whence came this wealth? Squeezed most certainly from the tribes under his authority, and therefore amassed only by the prerogatives of the position in which the Sultan had placed him.

It has never struck the Moorish government that these great fortunes might more honorably be returned to the people from whom they were stolen. The result is entire confiscation to the crown, including often such private property as the governor may have been possessor of before his appointment.

When the mighty fall in Morocco the crash brings down with them their families, even uncles and cousins, and all connected with them, and it is not seldom that the sons of great governors, who have been brought up in the luxury of slaves and horses and retinues of mounted men, have to go begging in the streets.

LUNAR RAINBOW IN GEORGIA.

Unusual Phenomenon Reported to the Scientific American.

A curious and unusual phenomenon, in the form of a rainbow for which the moon instead of the sun furnished the light, was observed here on the night of June 19.

A heavy rainstorm, accompanied by considerable thunder, occurred just before moonrise. As the clouds retired to the west the luminary rose and the bow was first observed, only the extremities for about 25 degrees being visible, the moon at that time being concealed behind a small cloud. For about twenty minutes the bow increased in brightness, and at the end of that time could be clearly traced throughout its entire length. At each end the red and blue colors could be plainly distinguished, but the remainder of the arc showed only as a light streak across the clouds.

The conditions for the phenomenon were almost ideal, the moon being but a few days past full, the cloud screen occupying the proper position, and, as it occurred just at moonrise, the bow was seen well up in the heavens. After the clouds had almost entirely melted away, leaving only a slight haze through which the stars shone, portions of the bow could still be clearly discerned.—Poulan correspondence Scientific American.

Turkish Coffee Seller.

A familiar figure in Turkish cities. He wears a yoke, one end of which supports a furnace, the other a coffee urn, cups, etc. The broken statue means that the photograph was taken in Angora, "where the cats come from," in Asia Minor. Under the name of Angora it was a flourishing city in the time of Julius Caesar. It has only recently been connected with Constantinople by a railway.

Accident Restored Speech.

A remarkable case of a bicycle accident restoring the power of speech to a man who has been dumb for five years, has occurred at Brockhurst, near Portsmouth, England. Jack Moore served with the 16th Lancers in the South African war, and was invalided home after an attack of enteric fever, which deprived him of his power of speech. When returning from work the other night, his bicycle skidded, and in the excitement of the mishap, he was astonished to find himself able to make an ejaculation. His recovery of speech is now perfect, though four operations to restore it had failed.

Ladies' Hats a la Hamburg.

An unusually brilliant bird in a young lady's hat attracted attention in a street car in Hamburg. Some spectators denounced the cruelty of killing these innocent creatures. Others criticised the pose and the arrangement of the plumage as unnatural. On reaching home the intelligent fowl (which happened to be a real one, and had settled on the hat absent-mindedly) flew off and roosted on the furniture. The girl had trained it to come in to her whistle. As it suits her complexion charmingly she intends wearing it with each of her hats in turn.—London Globe.

Made Pets of Partridges.

A partridge and her ten children are attracting many to drive along a certain road at Otis, Me., where she with her family may be found at any time. There is no shyness in the brood. One baby partridge was caught, petted and named and let go to come again when its name is called.

FEAR FOR NIAGARA

IMMENSE VOLUME OF WATER DIVERTED FROM FALLS.

Commercial Enterprises are Making Heavy Drains on This Famous Show-Place—Its Tremendous Electrical Power the Inducement.

Niagara Falls, August 7:—The volume of water being diverted from the historic Niagara Falls is reaching such proportions that the people of the State are trying to pass laws which will prevent the possibility of a practical wiping out of this sublime natural spectacle.

Water sufficient to develop nearly five hundred thousand horse-power continuously, twenty-four hours per day, for industrial purposes, is now being taken from the river above the Falls, and further developments requiring more water are contemplated.

Probably the largest user of the electricity produced by the waters of the mighty river is the concern which by the five or six thousand degree heat of the electric furnace brings lime and coke into unwilling union, thereby producing what is known as Calcium Carbide.

Dry calcium carbide is lifeless as so much broken rock, but in contact with water it springs into activity and begets abundantly the gas Acetylene. The light resulting from the ignition of acetylene is the nearest approach to sunlight known.

These facts, though of comparatively recent discovery, were soon seized by men with an eye to the commercial possibilities and to-day calcium carbide is being shipped everywhere and used for dispelling darkness in buildings of all descriptions, from the ordinary barn of the farmer to the country villa of the wealthy, as well as for lighting the streets of a large number of towns. Acetylene can be easily and cheaply installed, and the manufacture and sale of acetylene generators has become a business of recognized standing, has assumed large proportions and is steadily growing.

Domestics Are in Demand.

The demand for girls for general housework in Chicago is much larger than the supply. Managers of a number of the large employment bureaus, including the three conducted by the state, say that they are receiving every week more calls for domestics than it is possible for them to fill. The Swedish and Norwegian girl of all work still holds her place in the popular demand.

NO SLEEP FOR MOTHER

Baby Covered With Sores and Scabies—Could Not Tell What She Looked Like—Marvelous Cure by Cuticura.

"At four months old my baby's face and body were so covered with sores and large scales you could not tell what she looked like. No child ever had a worse case. Her face was being eaten away, and even her finger nails fell off. It itched so she could not sleep, and for many weary nights we could get no rest. At last we got Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The sores began to heal at once, and she could sleep at night, and in one month she had not one sore on her face or body.—Mrs. Mary Sanders, 709 Spring St., Camden, N. J."

American Turn Vereins.

The first turner societies in the United States were founded in Philadelphia and Cincinnati, in 1848, and shortly after the New York Turnverein had its start in Hoboken, says Ralph D. Paine, in Outing. Two years later ten societies were flourishing, and these were formed into a national turner union.
