

WAR OPENS GATES TO GOOD JOBS FOR GRAY HEADS

Glad news for gray heads! During the period of the war, and for six months thereafter, the Pennsylvania Railroad will suspend its rule which prohibits the hiring of new employees above the age of 45 years, and will engage men between 45 and 70. These men will replace the younger employees who shortly will join the colors for military service. Official announcement of this news was made yesterday. It was added, however, that inasmuch as this employment will not be considered permanent, it will not carry with it the pension privileges which others employed by the Pennsylvania enjoy. But there will be good jobs, and their new holders will at the same time be performing a patriotic service in maintaining one of the nation's transportation systems.

RAILWAY OFFICIAL IS BUSY RECRUITER

Lieut.-Col. J. S. Dennis, assistant to the president of the Canadian Pacific railway has volunteered to assist in the enlisting of recruits in the United States for the British and Canadian armies. Col. Dennis is in charge of the western half of the states and has his headquarters at Chicago.

PATRIOTIC COOKING

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 31.—"Cooks who guard the larder are true soldiers," declared Harry E. Barnard, Indiana food and drug commissioner, today, in an appeal addressed to housewives of the state, asking their cooperation in the food conservation campaign.

"Every cook who contrives a way to save food is doing just as patriotic a service as if she were enlisted in Red Cross work, and in her efforts to reduce the waste of fats or to use other cereals instead of wheat flour, she is helping the Sammies in France quite as surely as if she were knitting socks," Barnard said.

"There is no doubt at all as to the value of kitchen thrift. The difficulty comes with bringing home to the cook herself the vitally important part she is playing in putting the excellent suggestions showered upon her into practice. But we know now that the crops our fields are growing must suffice not only for our own needs and the heavy demands of the boys who are sending 3,000 miles to the trenches, but perhaps the most important task ahead of us is feeding the armies of our allies in the field and the civilian population in France, Belgium and England. And so every pound of food we save from wastage is ammunition that will do its part in bringing the war quickly to an end. It does not matter where the saving is made. The little economies of the working man's wife, who is already at her wits' end to feed her family, and the large savings in the household of the millionaire are both needed. No doubt the housewife who puts on her gingham apron and goes into the kitchen to superintend the preparation of food can do more real service than the women of wealth whose desire to help is handicapped by the very size of the retinue of servants she employs. But there is need for every form of economy that will save an ounce of food, and every cook is drafted to the universal service."

HOBART
