HEARD BY RUBE.

In other words the Co-Operative Construction company are about to make the bricks fly.

Just, by the way of a change, you know the Gary foreigners pull off a bank robbery now and then.

It has been discovered that there is a fractional part of 1 per cent of alcohol in bread. Now that Gary is dry ! ! ? when you are tempted to take a drink take a bun.

Gary may become a city of conventions after all. What's the matter with making a bid for the national republican or democratic conventions.

Meanwhile, do not forget, as in the case of the doctor, we pay the weather man not for what he really accomplishes, but for what he tries to do.

There are some people who are so unimportant that they don't even furnish material for gossip.

In order to have the sand in proper shape for the banquet of the sand fleas banquet tomorrow, it is to be hoped that the weather man will bear all his weight on the hot weather pedal.

Still there is no effort made to find out from the drunks arrested, where they are able to purchase their Fero.

Of course, a $100,000 gift is not to be turned aside lightly.

It would be an awful harsh way of getting even with those who circulated the remonstrance.

New Insurance Men.

L. M. Kitzmiller of Gary has taken charge of the insurance business of Guffin & Nauzy, and will hereafter be found in their offices in the Reynolds' building. Mr. Kitzmiller has had much practical experience in the insurance business, and is now representative of several of the best fire, accident and life insurance companies.

WILL PART WITNESSES IN GARY UNDER BOND

Foreigners Who Saw the Shooting Were Preparing to Leave.

TESTIFY AGAINST BOJNORICH

State Has Had Some Exasperating Experiences in the Past, and Will Take no More Chances.

All of the witnesses in the Bojnovich murder case in which the defendant was bound over to the Superior court on the charge of being an accessory in the murder of Nick Rebraca will be put under bond today to hold them so that they will be forced to testify against their countrymen. The state will have at least six witnesses and it is doubtful if any of them would remain in the city by the time the case came to trial.

The report came to the police yesterday in fact that Mrs. Puscha and her boarders who were involved in the case were already packing their goods and were about to leave the city. This means that within twenty-four hours the state would have been unable to prove up their case because of the lack of witnesses.

If these witnesses are unable to furnish the necessary bond all of them will be forced to remain in the police station until the case comes to trial. In the past in a number of these cases it has been the custom of the friends of the foreigners in cases to induce the witnesses to leave the city and it is impossible to hold them unless they are put under bond.

CROWN POINT MAN GETS THE BIG JOB

(Special to THE TIMES.)

Crown Point, Ind., May 13.—D. A. Root, after wrestling for three days with Chicago contractors in an effort to land the contract for the building of the grand stand for the automobile race, finally was successful and came home with the coveted plum last evening. Considering it a feather in his cap to successfully compete with the big lumber companies in Chicago. The contract is a big one, calling for the completion of the structure within 24 days. The stand will be constructed for a permanent affair and will at least stand two or three years, as the lease runs to that effect. The structure is a mammoth affair, being 864 feet long, 70 feet in depth and contains something like 200,000 feet of lumber, and takes about twenty cars of lumber. About twenty-four carpenters will be engaged in its construction, to be under the supervision of D. A. Root. It will be erected near the Smith farm on the last leg of the course.

COUNTY ATTORNEY GOES TO VALPARAISO

(Special to THE TIMES.)

Crown Point, Ind., May 13.—Attorney J. Frank Meeker went to Valparaiso today to look after the interests of Lake County in the matter of the Burns ditch. Mr. Meeker is the county attorney with his place of residence at Crown Point.

Some time ago the county commissioners instructed him to look after the interests of the county in this matter although it will not be the policy of the county to oppose the Burns ditch.

HEALTH COMMISSIONERS ENCOURAGED BY VISIT

Dr. W. D. Wels returned this morning from his mission to Washington, where he had gone to last week in company with Chicago officials in order to approach the war department for relief against the dumpings of the dredgings from the Chicago river by the Great Lakes' Dredge and Dock company.

"We consider our trip to have been successful, not so much for the immediate results that will accrue from it but for the effect that our visit will have in the course of time," said Dr. Wels, in speaking of the mission. "We have succeeded in interesting influential men in the situation, and together with the efforts of the people of this region, and the influential work of the newly-found friends in Washington, we may expect to reach an amelioration of the conditions."

Secretary Dickinson in Panama.

"We were unfortunate in not finding Secretary Dickinson of the war department in Washington, he having been in Panama while we were in the capital city. Through the kindness of Nels Jacobson, secretary of Congressman Crumpacker, we were, however, introduced to General Marshall of the engineering corps, and, while we got little sympathy from General Marshall, on the ground that dredging was done on a basis of economy and not on a health basis, we were more than repaid for our rebuff there by the reception given us by Dr. Wyman, chief of the marine hospital. He is a man of influence, and is in sympathy with our cause and will set his powerful machinery to working in our favor. He understands the situation, as does also General Marshall, the latter having been stationed in Chicago for a time. Here as the government's agent he argued in the same lines as we argued with him. He then insisted that the dredgings be taken out into the lake far enough, but former Health Commissioner Reynolds of Chicago opposed him. His own son died a victim of typhoid, and I am inclined to think that despite his rebuff to us, which his office necessitates, that he may be in sympathy with us. Secretary Dickinson was formerly attorney general for the Illinois Central, and was stationed at Chicago, and as such he is acquainted with the situation, and the fact that he was so ready to give us a hearing, although he could not be there in person, leads me to believe that he, too, is in sympathy with us.

Interests Senator Shively.

"It was my good fortune to have along Senator Shively, in which I could lay the whole situation before him, and in him we will have another ardent supporter. While we could not meet Senator Beveridge, we know that he is all right, as is also Congressman Crumpacker. Mr. Crumpacker was not in Washington last Monday, but he is interested in the problem, and his secretary did not leave our side while we needed him. We were fortunate in our appointments, having within a few hours been to the war department, the engineering department and the marine hospital. My luck did not stop there.

Studies Systems in Other Cities.

"I did not return with the Chicago party, but remained in Washington, where I studied the water and sewer system, then went to Baltimore to inspect the famous system there, and from there I went to Pittsburg to see the plans there. It was at the latter place that I met with a party of men from Minneapolis and others from Toronto, who had come to the eastern cities to study the question of water supply.

"No, as far as I know there is no way of stopping these dumpings by injunction by the government. The only thing we can hope for is that the bill now in congress, regulating such matters and fathered by the marine hospital, will go through during this session of congress.

Chicago may give that proposition of bulkheads behind the breakwaters serious consideration. Should Chicago want to use the dredgings to fill up the lake near the shore for boulevard purposes, it is probably that Chicago can solve its problem in that manner."

Porto Rican Governor Blamed for Crisis

REGIS H. POST.

Regis H. Post, governor of Porto Rico, probably will lose his office, largely as a result of his failure to control the activities of political leaders in the island, who because their private schemes were blocked, have brought about a situation which leaves the island government without appropriations for running its affairs. Gov. Post is an old neighbor of Theodore Roosevelt. He was sent to Porto Rico by President Roosevelt first as auditor in 1903, later was made secretary of the government there, and finally governor.
