

TURKISH CAPITAL IS END OF TRAIL FROM SUEZ WEST

Under Allied Occupation Constantinople Said to be Wilder Than When Turks Reigned

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 3.—Constantinople now combines all the frenzy of a new mining camp and a world seaport. It is "the end of the trail" for all Balkan states and everything west of Suez on the Mediterranean. Caucasian oil men, Donetz Basin miners, Anatolian sheep and cattle kings, Greek war millionaires and Syrian merchants all rush to Constantinople to pop champagne in proof of their success. Soldiers and sailors of half a dozen nations swell the population and add to the cosmopolitan aspect of the streets and pleasure resorts.

Under allied occupation the city has become a wilder place than it was under the Turks. There are no civil courts. None of the allies desires to assume responsibility for reforms other than are necessary to safeguard life. Italian, French and British troops co-operate with the Turkish gendarmie in keeping order. But everybody's job is nobody's job. Consequently Constantinople is a very wide open town. Midnight closing is enforced generally, but until that hour there is little interference with dance halls, gambling dives and red-light districts unless murder is committed.

Leadville and Goldfield in their dullest days never offered anything wilder than certain sections of Constantinople where jazz bands vie with Neapolitan orchestras and tango singers in their efforts to attract wayfarers into the beer tunnels and dance halls filled to overflowing with painted women of many nationalities.

Half a dozen summer gardens offer vaudeville programs which attract thousands of persons every night who seem to have far more interest in the drinks and restless crowds than in the Russian prima donnas and bare-legged dancers whose art is usually as meager as their attire. Turks, Arabs, Bedouins, Egyptians and Austrians, gorgeously clad in native costumes, elbow their way among Cosacks and Georgians, whose uniforms are far more brilliant than their recent military achievements.

splendent in red fezzes and green khaki mingle with Silks and Pungent whose long hair and many-colored headresses are wrapped in sombre brown. Civilians, soldiers and sailors from all parts of the world are hopelessly jumbled together in Constantinople crowds and are so busy looking at each other that tenors from the Petrograd opera, naughty French singers from Montmartre and Austrian strong-jawed ladies claim but slight attention.

pageant every day. Its main thoroughfare, Rue Grand Pera, is more fascinating than any scene which producers can ever hope to stage. Camel drivers lead their patient trains, burdened with charcoal, through the maze of street cars, shrieking army motor cars and garriolages, piloted over the rough paving at breakneck speed by Turkish hostlers who crack their whips and shout constantly at high pitch to pedestrians who venture off the narrow sidewalks. Turks mounted on tiny donkeys move indifferently through this maelstrom. Occasionally Turkish peasants drive a flock of sheep or turkeys into this swirl of traffic and serene oxen draw heavy carts along at a pace so slow that drivers of military camions curse them in ten different languages.

The narrow, crooked streets of Constantinople are ill-suited to motor traffic and the slow-going fantastic Turk is little inclined to change his pace. Consequently there are many accidents and the indifference with which foreign military cars are driven has done much to intensify Turkish hatred of foreigners.

The Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 4. While this promises to be a very active day, the powerful position of Mars, in square aspect with the Sun, is not an augury for very harmonious conditions. Though the influence is strong for energy, resourcefulness and initiative, it makes for too bold an aggressiveness—trending toward the rashness and impulsiveness that defeats by its ardor. It is a sign making for violence, and is frequently held by astrologers to be responsible for accidents. There is the prospect of a change or journey, either of which should be undertaken with due deliberation and care. Speculation, quarrels and litigation should be avoided under these conflicting figures.

Those whose birthday it is should conduct their affairs with coolness and forethought, avoiding quarrels, litigation and speculation. They should have regard for their health. A child born on this day will be quick, enterprising and resourceful. It should be trained in self-control and self-discipline.

PRESIDENT'S HEALTH IS GREATLY IMPROVED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Pres't Wilson's health is now so far restored that Admiral Grayson, his physician, hopes soon to take a vacation.

Grayson said today that the past seven days constituted the president's "finest week" since he was taken ill.

"All right, Bill - You can stop reading 'em"

BILL TOLD ME... HE HAD a good joke ON THE maker. OF A well-known brand. OF CIGARETTES. LAST NIGHT, Bill said. HE READ an ad. OF THIS cigarette IN A magazine. IT SAID "They Satisfy." AND THIS MORNING, IN HIS newspaper. HE READ "They Satisfy," AND ON a billboard. AND ON a card. IN THE street-car. AND IN the dealer's window. AND ON the counter. HE READ "They Satisfy," AND HE bought a pack. OF THESE cigarettes. AND I asked him. "WHERE'S THE joke, Bill?" AND BILL said. "WHY THE darn fools. SPENDING THEIR money. PICKING ON me." SO I said, "You bought 'em. DIDN'T THEY satisfy?" AND BILL said "Sure. BUT HERE'S the joke. FOR OVER a year. I'D ALREADY been smoking. THAT BRAND."

WE admit it, the joke's on us. And over three million other smokers are "in on it" with Bill. But the real joke is on anybody who looks for "Satisfy" anywhere but in Chesterfields—for the Chesterfield blend can't be copied!
