

LOCAL RECORD.

Notice to Subscribers.

After next week the JOURNAL will only be sent to those who have made advance payment on it. We shall use no partiality whatever, but the paper of every subscriber who does not pay up all arrears by the time stated above will then be discontinued. We need give but a single reason for this course: we have to pay cash for all our material. Call and settle all arrearages, and renew your subscription. The very low price at which we now furnish the JOURNAL puts it within the reach of all.

Religious Notice.

Mr. DYNES:—Please announce in the Journal, that Elder Roop will preach in the brick School House on Sugar Creek near Ed Wright's on Sunday the last day of this inst. And on the previous evening at candle-lighting, at W. C. Wilmer's.

Sad and Fatal Accident.

Mr. Templin, a blacksmith residing in Windsor, was killed on Tuesday evening by the running away of his team. He had been to Richmond with a load of volunteers and when within a mile of home his horses became frightened and ran away, killing Mr. Templin.

Lewis Heaston's horse with a buggy ran away on the same evening, and strange as it may seem, no particular damage was done. Mr. Heaston jumped from the buggy and escaped with but little injury.

Another Sad and Fatal Accident.

James Hamilton, whose residence, we believe, is a few miles north-east of this place was run over and killed by the cars on last Thursday morning, at the Rail road crossing, half a mile east of town. He was driving a team, and was on his way to this place, when, in attempting to cross the rail road at Ludy's crossing, a train of cars—we learn it was a wood train—came upon him, killing one of his horses instantly, and cutting Mr. H. up in a horrible manner. He lived about two hours after the occurrence of the sad accident. The wagon was broken to pieces, and the other horse was very much injured.

Coroner John H. Leake, summoned a jury and held an inquest over the body on Thursday afternoon, and rendered a verdict in accordance with the above facts.

On the person of Mr. Hamilton was found a quart flask, about half full of whiskey, and as it was a common thing for him to be intoxicated, it is reasonable to suppose that this whiskey had something to do in the case. And if he was intoxicated, it is no wonder he did not notice the approach of the cars in time to prevent the accident.

Hon. G. W. Julian's Speech.

Mr. Julian spoke in this place on last Friday according to previous announcement. The Court house was crowded to overflowing which was more than we expected owing to the fact that but two days' notice was given of his intention to speak. But the people came far wiles to hear their distinguished Representative.

The first half of his speech was mainly occupied in recounting the doings of the last Congress—such as the passage of the Homestead Bill, Pacific Railroad Bill, the bill abolishing Polygamy in Utah—the bill forever prohibiting slavery in the national territories—the bill abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia, also the Confiscation Bill, and probably others which we do not now remember. But enough has been named already to exhibit a most glorious record for the last Congress, the proudest that has been made since the days of Washington. His discussion of the war question to which all eyes and ears are turned, gave so far as we have heard universal satisfaction. He demands that every agency that the Government could employ to crush the rebellion be forthwith employed, including slaves of course. He was for making the war on war principles—making it so terrible and destructive that the enemy would soon fly from the field, as the only hope of life. The property of Rebels, including slaves, should in all cases and without exception, be used for their own destruction. He said that "New Books" had been opened by the Administration and that henceforth the war would be pushed to the knife, and the knife to the hilt. This portion of the speech was bold, unflinching, meeting all the issues of the times, and filled the people with enthusiasm.

He occupied a few minutes in conclusion in presenting his claims for re-election to Congress. His refutation of the various charges that have been made against him was overwhelming, so much so that if any had come to the meeting prejudiced against him, they must have gone away disarmed.

A Sabbath School Celebration was held at Farmland on last Friday. It was very largely attended. In the forenoon, Rev. Mr. Marine of Muncie, addressed the parents and teachers, and in the afternoon the children were addressed by J. B. Harrison.—The "Hoover Family," from Dayton,—blind vocalists—discoursed excellent music for the occasion, and every thing passed off pleasantly and to the satisfaction of all who attended it.

Attention Invalids.

The Adj. General has countermanded the order requiring certificates of disability to be furnished the Commissioner.

The Commissioner and his deputies will meet at the Court House in Winchester on the 26th and 27th days of August, inst; when they will hear and determine all applications for exemption from military duty.

All persons claiming to be exempt, must apply at that time.

This order does not apply to cases where the enrolling officer has regarded the disability as apparent and has so marked it on the enrollment.

By order of the Adj't Gen.
Thos. M BROWNE.
Enrolling Commissioner.
August 19, 1862.

We, a short time since, visited S. P. Ludy's Rail Road nursery situated half a mile east of Winchester on the I. and B. R. R.—In looking through the above nursery we noticed over a hundred varieties of apple trees, and an assortment of peach, pear, and cherry trees under cultivation; also, a great number of ornamental trees, such as the Oak leaved and Weeping Mountain Ash, purple Fringe Accia or Moss Locust, as well as evergreens of different kinds, and roses, of every form and color.

Mr. L's assortment of small fruits is large. We had an opportunity of testing the merits of the Lawton Blackberry, which is very fine for size and flavor. We are surprised that any one should deprive themselves of these luxuries, so easily gotten and cared for. Mr. L's stock of Grape Vines are looking very thrifty.—Some are fruiting. He has a number of the best varieties.

We think those persons wishing to beautify their homes by setting out fruit or ornamental trees, could be suited here, as we think that trees, vines &c., grown on our own soil and in our own climate, would give satisfaction; and Mr. L. has visited and procured the best improved stock of the most extensive nurseries elsewhere.

"It is generally conceded," says the Richmond Telegram, "that the 69th is composed of better material, take it all in all, than either of the other regiments organized in this city. When we say better, we mean that there are fewer boys and weakly-looking persons. A great portion of the men are sturdy farmers, from the well-to-do walks of life, and have volunteered with the special design of doing something, and they will 'make their mark' if they have an opportunity."

The 69th regiment left Indianapolis on Wednesday for Kentucky.

The following, from Liberty (Union County) Herald, an anti-Julian paper—will show to all the manner in which "Washington" Julian is "throwing cold water" upon the recruiting business and "opposing the policy of the Administration:"

"Mr. Julian made a speech in the Court House of this place, last Saturday, to quite a large audience. He discussed the absorbing topic of the day—the war, how it had been carried on, and how it would be carried on in the future; giving his opinions in regard to both policies,—conciliatory and war, 'war to the knife, and the knife to the hilt.' In his war policy as proclaimed by him from the rostrum last Saturday, no loyal man will take exceptions, indeed it was such as pleased every one present. Such a policy as he there proclaimed, faithfully carried out, would soon in our judgment, end this infernal rebellion."

An election for officers in Lieut. Carter's Company, at Richmond on last Tuesday, resulted as follows:

- Captain—Geo. U. Carter;
- 1st. Lieut.—A. J. Neff;
- 2d. Lieut.—Wm. Focht.

The boys had an abundance of good material from which to select their officers, and we have no doubt those who were chosen to lead them to the battlefield will prove themselves to be the "right men in the right places."

The Companies of the 69th Regiment are lettered as follows:

- Company A—Capt. Finley.
- Company B—Capt. Marsh.
- Company C—Capt. Bonebrake.
- Company D—Capt. Ross.
- Company E—Capt. Walterhouse.
- Company F—Capt. Harris.
- Company G—Capt. Wingett.
- Company H—Capt. Hoover.
- Company I—Capt. Collins.
- Company K—Capt. Kerr.

The result of the election of officers for Lieut. Burres's Company, resulted as follows:

- Captain—Wm. Burres;
- 1st. Lieut.—H. T. Simmons;
- 2d. Lieut.—Wm. A. Burres.

We would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Dr. J. M. Frost, which appears in this paper. H. P. Kizer is the agent for his medicines in this place.

The 69th regiment was organized at Richmond on last Friday, and left there for Indianapolis on Monday night.

Another company from Jay County came to this place on last Monday, and left here Tuesday morning for Camp Wabash. It was a full company, and was gotten up, we believe by Mr. Winters, Treasurer of Jay County, and Royal Denney, Esq.
