People find just the help they so much need, in Hood's Sarsaparilla. It furnishes the desired strength by purifying, vitalizing and enriching the blood, and thus builds up the nerves, tones the stomach and regulates the whole system. Read this:

"I want to praise Hood's Sarsaparilla. My health run down, and I had the grip. After that, my heart and nervous system were badly affected, so that I could not do my own work. Our physician gave me some help, but did not cure. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Soon I could do all my own housework. I have taken

A Maine "Leather Stocking."

On the level lowlands of the Molunkus, a short distance below Sherman Mills, Aroostook County, on a farm as level and as smooth as any Western prairie, resides Mr. Joseph T. Leavitt, a gentleman upward of 60 years of age, well and favorably known in that section and also in Western Penobscot and East Somerset, where he formerly resided. He is not a hunter by trade or profession, his two principal occupations through life having been farming and blacksmithing; still he has a skill at hunting, trapping and fishing that few can equal.

Several years ago Mr. Leavitt left his house with his repeating rifle in pursuit of deer. A light snow had recently fallen, and he soon struck the fresh trail of deer that he knew must be near him. Being on the windward side of the deer, and fearing that they would scent him and flee, he made a wide circuit around the place where he judged them to be, moving with all the stealth, deliberation and caution that was in olden times said to characterize the movements of an expert scout trailing an Indian warrior or vice versa.

On reaching the leeward side he moved forward a few paces as noiselessly as Cooper's Indian Chingachgook and caught sight of a deer just as the animal was lying down. In lying down the deer became hidden from view by an intervening log. The hunter's resolution was immediately taken. He cocked the rifle and threw it forward for instant use; then he calmly reached out his hand and snapped a little twig. The noise was slight, but sufficient.

ARMY HARDSHIPS.

No One but a Veteran Can Realize the Sufferings from Army Life.

It Often Makes Our Able-Bodied Men Helpless Invalids—The Story of One Who Suffered for Twenty Years.

From the Farmers' Voice, Chicago, Ill.
Edson A. Wood, who now lives at 900 Washington boulevard, Chicago, Ill., was born on a farm in Wyoming County, N. Y., fifty years ago. As a young man he suffered two sun strokes in the fields. When the war broke out, he joined the 57th Illinois Volunteers, with which he served two years, when sickness forced his discharge. The effects of the sun strokes and his army life undermined his health and he soon found his brain, heart and kidneys were affected. For eight years he was with the West Chicago Street Car Company; but was forced to seek lighter work, as the exposure increased his bronchial and asthmatic troubles. His constitution gradually but surely breaking down, strange dizzy spells becoming more frequent, he finally sought relief in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

He said to a reporter: "It was some time about a year ago when I was very poorly, that my head was giving me a great deal of trouble, dizzy spells, aches and queer feelings, and then I also had a strange feeling of uncertainty in the use of my lower limbs when walking.

"Physicians examined my condition closely and were of the opinion that I had all the first symptoms of locomotor ataxia, and I believe they were right, also last summer I had a very hard time with an attack of tonsillitis and neuralgia, from which I did not recover for some time. It was then that I commenced to take these Pink Pills, and had only taken a few boxes when I discovered a remarkable change for the better in every way. The pills seemed to relieve me of aches and pains, the symptoms of locomotor ataxia have left me entirely, and they have made me strong and feel like myself.

"I am going to continue with the use of the pills for the reason that having relieved me of the ailments I thought had come to stay, having been caused thirty years ago from hardships in the army, I am practically rid of them and will lose no efforts when I have the remedy at hand to keep them rid. I am only too glad to tell all my friends what experience I have had with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and when they see the good physical condition I am in now, although near sixty years of age, they will come to the same conclusion as myself.

"The above is a correct statement of facts concerning myself."

The Japanese Method.

It is customary among most civilized nations, when launching or christening a vessel, to break a bottle of champagne or other wine over her bows. The Japanese, with their usual thrifty notions, do not believe in this unnecessary waste. When they christen a vessel, instead of breaking a bottle, they liberate a number of pigeons. At the christening of the Yashima, the largest and most powerful battleship ever constructed for the Japanese navy, which took place a short time ago at the Elswick shipyard, on the Tyne, this unusual sight was seen. Madame Kato, the wife of a member of the Japanese embassy, christened the vessel and let loose the pigeons at the same time. It would be interesting to know what the origin, meaning and intention of the custom was.

A Cat Worth Having.

One of the greatest successes in the history of this country is that achieved by Boston's unique 5-cent magazine, The Black Cat. In seven months it has reached a sale of one quarter of a million copies per issue. The chief reason for this is that each number contains half a dozen of the most original and fascinating stories that brains and genius can produce and money can buy.

The Philadelphia Call aptly says: Its phenomenal success has already earned for it the title, "The Marvel of the Magazine World," and it would certainly be impossible to find in a single number of any other publication such captivating

A Variegated Life.

In a quiet little convent of the sisters of St. Joseph at Rutland, Vt., lives a woman who doubtless passes many an hour thinking over her past eventful life. It is Victoria Morosini-Schilling, the daughter of a rich banker, who entered the great world of life and passion at 11 years of age by eloping with a coachman. Her coach-driving husband could not furnish money enough to satisfy her way of living, so she left him to go on the Casino stage as a dancing girl. There she won a reputation for grace and beauty, but, after a few years, she turned against stage life and quit it. Then she was lost sight of until a short time ago, when she was found living in a convent and wearing the plain black garb of the sisters of St. Joseph.

Fair and Fruitful

As the West is, it is often malarious. But it is pleasant to know that a competent safeguard in the shape of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters exists, which absolutely nullifies the poison of miasma. Western-bound emigrants should bear this in mind. Nor should it be forgotten, the Bitters is a sterling remedy for dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, kidney and nervous complaints and rheumatism.

A New Illuminant.

Another conquest of light is M. Charles Henry's sulphate of zinc. M. Henry is a French savant of the school of higher studies, who has revealed the power of sulphate of zinc to absorb sunlight and give it back in the dark. Poudre de riz made with this mineral gives a soft luminosity to a fair young face. A lady cyclist dusted all over with this powder is in herself a lamp on a pitchdark night. The luminous pigment is not liable to be spoiled by damp, by carbonic acid, or by any weak acid. It resists rain if united to some strongly adhesive body. There is a house in the Rue de Longchamps where a windowless set of rooms is lighted with it. The lady of the house receives there her friends at "5 o'clock." The apartments seemed bathed in moonlight, and the curtains are as if studded with glowworms, the ceiling scintillates. The furniture looks as if rubbed with phosphorus. The play of this light on colored objects gives one the impression of Aladdin's underground palace. Often they take the rich, glowing tones of the topaz, ruby, and emerald. The powder does not lose its brilliancy if used in starch or size. A black dress trimmed with lace made luminous by it is more than bewitching.—London Daily News.
