

YOUNG QUAKERS ENTER SERVICE DESPITE CREED

Army officials are well pleased with spirit being shown by a number of members of the Friends church residing in Richmond in regard to army service.

Notwithstanding the fact that members of this sect subscribe to the principle of non-resistance several Richmond young men, members of Quaker families, have enlisted in the army recently, with the approval of their families.

Three prominent members of the Friends living in Richmond have brought their sons to the recruiting station this week for examination for enlistment.

Offers Country Services Anyhow. The latest Quaker to enlist was Robert J. Davis of this city. He was accepted for the army engineering corps today.

"I am a member of the Friends church but that is no excuse for me not to offer my services as a soldier to my country. It is America first with me," young Davis informed Sergeant Warner.

Sergeant Warner yesterday afternoon heard the tearful pleas of the mother of a 19-year-old youth about six feet tall, weighing 168 pounds and possessing a chest expansion of three and a half inches, urging him to use his influence to secure the boy's discharge from the army. He enlisted just a few days ago.

"My boy is a weakling and I know he will never be able to take army training," sobbed the heart-broken woman. "He probably will get consumption if he leaves home."

She was informed that her boy was one of the most perfect specimens of humanity examined at the local station and that it was very doubtful if he could secure a discharge.

YOUNG MEN URGED TO TAKE TRAINING FOR OFFICERS' JOB

Information regarding admission to the Officers Training camp at Indianapolis may be obtained from Rudolph G. Leeds.

Mr. Leeds announced today that he would be in his office, Palladium building, from 7 until 9 o'clock tonight to meet prospective applicants. Mr. Leeds has been appointed to promote the interests of the camp in Wayne county.

It is pointed out that, with the passage of the conscription bill, many of the county's young men will have to enter military service. As many of them who can pass the mental examination are urged to enter training for officers.

Covers West Point course. The three months course at Fort Benjamin Harrison will cover in tabular form the entire four years course of practical military training given at West Point.

The age limit is from 20 years and nine months to 44 years.

The new officers, it is understood, graduating from the training camps, will immediately be put to work officering and training the new army. All transportation expenses to Fort Harrison will be allowed by the government and all subsistence, arms and other equipment will be supplied. Membership is limited to 2,500.

ABANDONED CHURCH OFFERS LARGE FIELD FOR LOCAL PREACHER

"Indiana District of our church is the banner district of the Middle West," said Rev. A. E. Harding, district superintendent, at the Nazarene church this morning. Harding said Indiana could have still greater churches if local preachers will go to the neglected churches and school houses and give services. He urged the people to do more home missionary work.

Rev. O. E. Enos, of Upland, spoke on "Home Missions" and Rev. B. A. Fleming, of Worthington, read a paper on "How to Make a Live Prayer Meeting." He said "Prayer meeting should not be a preaching service, a choir practice, nor merely a business meeting. It should be a live meeting and should bring things to pass." Rev. U. E. Harding will preach again tonight.

SKATE PLANT OPENS WITH LARGE FORCE TO MEET DEMANDS

The Henley Roller Skate company, at one time one of Richmond's leading factories, has been re-financed, and incorporated and will be placed on a permanent business footing immediately.

The company is re-capitalized at $30,000. The directors are M. C. Henley, John H. Williams, P. W. Smith, P. A. Reid and Willard Z. Carr. The re-organization of the Henley company means that active work in the factory, North Sixteenth street, will be started at once. It means that many men will be offered employment in the manufacture of roller skates. The working force is being increased daily.

The revival of polo and roller skating in Indiana the past winter and consequent prospects for a continuance of the sport next fall is responsible for the re-organization of the factory. The demand for roller skates has never been heavier.

The capacity of the plant will be approximately 100,000 pairs of skates a year, officials said today. In addition to the regular rink skates, ordinary steel sidewalk skates for juveniles will be manufactured.

CHRISTIANSBURG, Va., May 3.—Mrs. Charles E. Vawter was expected to take the stand in the Montgomery county circuit court here today in the trial of her husband, Professor Charles E. Vawter, of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, charged with the murder of Stockton Heth, Jr., a young clubman in the Vawter home where he was a guest.

Unusual interest attached to her testimony because of letters introduced by the state, in one of which Vawter wrote telling Heth he was aware of improper relations between Mrs. Vawter and Heth but that he would not interfere.
