FICTION DIMMED BY THIS ROMANCE

Wedding Last Night the Climax of a Wonderful Courtship.

THE EARTHQUAKE'S PART

GRANDDAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. J. R. PRESTON FORMERLY OF RICHMOND WEDS AN ITALIAN AT INDIANAPOLIS.

A wedding that took place last night in Indianapolis and in which Richmond has special interest because of the fact that the bride is a member of a family that until a few years ago was one of the most prominent in the city, was the culmination of what probably is one of the most romantic tales in real life that has ever come to light in Indiana. It had its beginning in the land of the Czar and the climax came as a direct result of the San Francisco earthquake, where both principals were accidentally thrown together after years of separation.

The bride at last night's Indianapolis wedding was Miss Orpha Rotreska, of Russia, whose grandparents were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Preston, of Richmond and who during their residence here and occupied a beautiful home in Spring Grove where Reid Memorial Hospital now stands. The bridegroom was Amerigo Bozzaris, of Ill.

ROMANTIC STORY.

Last night Miss Rotreska came to America to visit an uncle in New York, but on arriving there found that he, with his family had moved to San Francisco and the letter announcing her intended visit had not been received. Miss Rotreska immediately made her plans for the long trip across the continent, to find the uncle who address she had obtained while in New York and two days after her arrival in America was on her way to California, reaching there a few days before the earthquake occurred.

Home Was Destroyed.
At the time of the disaster the house where she and the family were staying was totally destroyed and they followed the other unfortunates to Golden Gate Park.

Miss Rotreska had, during her stay in St. Petersburg one winter, studied to be a nurse and she therefore immediately assisted in the work of caring for the sufferers in the park.

Her Future Husband.
One among the men who were called to the bedside of the foreigner who was supposed to be dying and on reaching his tent found it to be Bozzaris whom she had known while at school in England, was a young Italian studying medicine in London. They became friends and then lovers and were to be married the following spring but the Italian was called home because of the death of his mother from that time five years ago that morning in San Francisco, Miss Rotreska had heard nothing from him.

Nud Back to Health.
She nursed him through a long and tedious illness and two months ago they left to visit with old schoolmates of her mother, and Bozzaris to go to New York to continue his study of medicine and for the second time the day of the wedding was.

Last night marriage took place at the home of Mrs. John Corey in College Avenue Indianapolis. The only guests were the old friends of Miss Rotreska's father who at one time resided in Indianapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Bozzaris will tour the United States during the remainder of the year and in the fall Mr. Bozzaris will become a member of the Theodore Thomas orchestra. Next June they intend to go abroad but will return America again in September. Miss Rotreska's mother was formerly Anna Preston, of Richmond, and will be remembered by many Richmond people.

HOTTEST DAY OF SUMMER

CITY FAIRLY SWEETENED

Government Thermometer at Water Works Pumping Station Boosted the Mercury to 94 Degrees—Week Was Record Breaker of the Season.

Yesterday was the hottest day of the summer. The government thermometer at the Water Works Pumping Station registered 94 degrees and comparatively speaking the location of the pumping house is cool. In the city the same thermometer probably would have registered at least one degree higher. Ordinary thermometers pushed the mercury up to 98 on the shady side of Main street shortly after noon. The week ending yesterday was the hottest of the season. Here are the thermometer registrations as given out by Walter Vossler, voluntary observer.

ELECTRIC CARS WRECKED

TWO PASSENGERS KILLED

Lake Shore Electric Railway Has Serious Disaster Near Vermillion, O.—Neglected Orders the Cause—List of the Dead and the Injured.

[Publishers' Press] Cleveland, Aug. 4.—Neglected orders caused a wreck this afternoon on the Lake Shore Electric railway near Vermillion, in which two persons were killed, one probably fatally injured and seven seriously injured.

The westbound Toledo limited car, running at full speed, crashed head-on into an eastbound regular car on a curve, about 600 feet west of Vermillion siding, the meeting point. Both cars were crowded to the platform. The Limited telescoped the regular car. William D. Moody, of Beach Park, the motorman of the westbound limited, the man through whose carelessness the accident is said to have occurred, was killed. In one instant the two carloads of people were crushed into a mass of struggling, screaming human beings, crushed and bruised in the mass of twisted wreckage, scarcely a piece of which could be recognized as part of those of the cars.

The Lake Shore Electric's attorney at Norwalk tonight blamed Moody for the wreck, claiming he disregarded the order to meet the other car on the siding.

The dead are:
Mr. Moody and Reese Milan, of Lima.
The limited had on board forty boys of the Y. M. C. A., at Lima and many of them were hurt.

THE DEFENSE FOR THAW

NO ATTACK UPON WHITE

Private Life of the Dead Man not to be Dragged Into the Hearing of the Case When it is Called for Trial.

[Publishers' Press] New York, August 4.—The defense determined upon in the case of Harry Kendall Thaw, charged with the murder of Stanford White, involves no attack upon White's character or invasion into the dead architect's private life, further than that which touches the lives of the man who killed him and that of the man's wife. This positive announcement was made this afternoon to shut out scores of tenderloin habitués who have stories to tell wherever they will bring the most money regarding the alleged episodes of White's career as a man about town.

In the first place, Clifford W. Harridge, chief counsel for Thaw, realizes White's life, except that part of it which is entangled with the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thaw, has no possible bearing on his client's case, and in the second place, he is minded, so far as possible, to keep the tenderloin out of the trial.

He knows there is scant chance of introducing evidence as to White's relations with women other than Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, and he has invariably turned down purveyors of this class of tales.

FERRETS TO STRING WIRES IN CONDUITS

The Novel Method by which Telephone Wires Will be Placed Underground.

WORK PROGRESSING WELL

SUPT. SWANNER OF THE CONSTRUCTION FORCE LAYS THE FIRST DUCT HIMSELF—PLAN OF SYSTEM.

Human ingenuity may plan and construct the elaborate conduit system which is now being placed underground in Richmond, by the Home Telephone Company, but after all, the execution of the gigantic task, a lower order of animals to complete together new and novel to Richmond. To get to the point quickly, the Home Telephone Company will use ferrets to string the cables through the underground ducts and the manner in which this will be done is all-workmen will have to depend upon.

Work Well Under Way.

Thomas Swanner, assistant superintendent of construction of the Home Telephone Company, now has a fairly good start on the work of laying the conduits and he himself, laid the first duct of the "cluster" of twelve which will form the trunk line from the river west to 14th street. This was done last Wednesday. Work started midway of the first alley north of Main streets between 6th and 7th streets. The trench averages 53 inches in depth. The ducts are three inches in diameter and are made of fibre, composed chiefly of paper. They are practically indestructible and have the advantage of lightness and a smooth interior surface which permits the cables to be drawn through without injury.

Twelve of these ducts are placed in the trench, laid in groups of four, one on top of the other and the whole set in concrete. The sections of the ducts are seven feet in length and connections are made by slipping one end of a section over another. Manholes are constructed midway of each block and are six feet in depth, 4 1/2 feet in width and six feet in length, thus giving plenty of room for the workmen. The cables that will pass through the ducts will carry from 100 to 400 wires. Branch ducts will be laid in intersecting alleys.

Placing of Poles.

At regular intervals along the route poles will be placed, and cables will be run from the conduit to the tops of these poles, the wires then branching out in various directions leading to the locations of phones. Several processes are used in stringing these ducts, but according to Supt. Swanner, the ferret method is the best and the quickest. The little animals which have for their chief characteristic, a willingness to invade small apertures, and which are able, because of their extreme thinness and sleekness, to traverse very small passages, can be used to good advantage in this particular sort of work. They will not be required to pull heavy cables after them, for this would be impossible nor will they be required to even pull a rope through the ducts. The method of using the ferret is novel. He will be hitched to a small "reel" mounted on wheels, the whole contrivance of a size which easily will pass through one of the three-inch ducts. On the reel will be wound strong string.

Ferret will Scamper.

The ferret will be introduced into one end of a duct, and without urging, he will break toward the faint spot of light a block distant, rattling the reel along after him, which will unwind the string, the end of which is held fast by a workman. Reaching the opposite end of the duct, the ferret will be captured and the string pulled through, carrying with it a rope, and the rope will then be used to draw through the cable. Each duct of the twelve composing the conduit, will be threaded in this manner block by block.

Superintendent Swanner figures it out that with no bad luck the work of laying the conduits will be completed before mid-winter.

LOOKS LIKE CULLUM

Probably the Choice Over Yates for United States Senator in Illinois.

[Publishers' Press] Chicago, Aug. 4.—Returns from city precincts in today's primary elections show a very tight vote was cast. Estimates of the Republican vote showed that Senator Cullum probably has a plurality in Chicago of 29,000 over ex-Governor Richard Yates for United States senator.

Died at Greenfield.

Mrs. Thomas Crabb of 839 North 10th street received a telegram yesterday from Greenfield announcing the death of Mrs. John Caventy of that place. She was a former resident of Richmond and is well known here. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

The Russian Peasant—Ho! Ho! To think that I used to worship that bauble! News Item—The peasant uprisings in Russia continue to grow more threatening.

EVERYBODY CLIPS BALLOTS IN PALLADIUM'S CONTEST

First Returns Must Be Made Not Later Than Tuesday Evening at 6 o'clock, the End of the First Week of the Contest—Most of the Secret Societies of the City, and Several Outside of the City are Displaying Great Interest—Hundred of Ballots Already Received

"Say" said a man as he sauntered into a Main street drug store yesterday, "do you take the Palladium?"
"Why certainly; everybody takes it. Don't you?"
"Yes, but that's not the point" replied the man, "what I want is to know if you will save me the piano coupons. I'm collecting for the Druids and I must have 'em."
"Well," replied the druggist, "you are the fifth man in here today to get my supply of coupons. The Knights of Pythias, Red Men, Eagles, Odd Fellows and Knights of Columbus have all sent walking delegates in to capture my daily Palladium coupons."

INTEREST IS AROUSED.

The above is an apt illustration of the manner in which the lodges are working to capture the Palladium's $500 STARR PLAYER PIANO, the most wonderful, most beautiful and most perfect instrument of its kind that was ever turned out. It will be a bonanza for any lodge that receives it. The clippings of coupons continues. Lodge members are going to their friends and asking them to save the coupons that appear each day in the Palladium and they will collect later. Coupons run in a week's series. Those now appearing have no value after Tuesday evening, August 7, at 6 o'clock. Hundreds of them were brought to the Palladium office yesterday. Be sure and get them here by Tuesday and on Wednesday you can begin clipping the second week's coupons. The announcement of the vote will be made each week for the next few weeks; thereafter each day.

In addition to the lodges as a whole that are striving for the great premiums, there are many individual lodge members who are at work collecting coupons for their lodges and also equipped with coupon books, by which they can make their work very quickly. To the lady and gentleman who collect the largest number of votes for their respective lodges, no matter whether their lodge wins either of the big premiums or not, the Palladium will give diamond rings. These coupon books are now obtainable at the Palladium office. If you are a lodge member and desire to assist your lodge get that great piano as well as taking a chance of landing a diamond ring, why come in, and you will be told you can accomplish the desired end. This is not a contest in which "everybody works but father." Father in a majority of cases is putting in good ticks right along with mother and the children, for clipping coupons is easy and voting them is even easier. Anybody can vote, whether lodge member or not. If you do not care to participate clip and save them for some lodge friend who is striving to land the prizes. And don't forget that all coupons bearing the expiration date of August 7 must be in his office by next Tuesday evening at six o'clock.

CONDITIONS OF CONTEST.

- FIRST PRIZE—To the secret or fraternal organization in Richmond or in any town in Wayne County, which shall receive the largest number of votes during the period of this contest, a STARR PIANO with MECHANICAL PLAYER ATTACHMENT, built within the piano, will be given absolutely free. The cost of this instrument is $850.
- SECOND PRIZE—To the secret or fraternal organization in Richmond or in any town in Wayne County which shall receive the second largest number of votes, a beautiful lodge altar with elegantly leather bound Bible, valued at $75, will be given absolutely free.
- THIRD PRIZE—To the member of any men's secret or fraternal organization in Richmond or Wayne County who shall procure the greatest number of votes for his lodge, a solitaire diamond ring, costing $75 will be given absolutely free.
- FOURTH PRIZE—To the lady who is a member of any woman's secret or fraternal organization in Richmond or Wayne County who shall procure the largest number of votes for her lodge, a solitaire diamond ring will be given absolutely free.

HOW VOTING WILL BE CONDUCTED.

The contest is free for all. Everybody can vote without the expenditure of a single penny. Each day a coupon will appear in the Palladium.

DESIRE TO HELP THE REVOLUTION

European Financiers Show Disposition to Assist the Russian People.

THINK CZAR'S END IS NEAR

ARE READY THEREFORE, TO HASTEN THE INEVITABLE AND ALREADY IT IS REPORTED THEY HAVE MADE ADVANCES.

[Publishers' Press] London, Aug. 4.—Reynolds Newspaper, in a sensational article this morning stated that several of the greatest European financiers, heavily interested in Russian securities, are secretly offering to furnish money with which to place the Russian revolutionary movement upon a business footing.

According to the newspaper's source of information these bankers with the trustworthy information at hand, gleaned by their agents in all the principal towns of Russia, have reached the belief that the regime of the Czar is all but ended and that the sooner the end comes, the better it will be for Russia.

The bankers, having reached this conclusion, are therefore ready to hasten the inevitable. A cogent reason which is said to actuate the financiers in their advances to the revolutionists, is according to Reynolds, the fear that the revolutionists when they come into power will be likely to repudiate the Russian obligations contracted by the Czar. To insure the payment of the Russian loans the bankers want to become the friends of the revolutionists now.

WANTED TO BE CREMATED

FARMER CRAZED BY FIRE

When He Saw His Home Burning Up He Wanted to Rush into the Flames and End His Own Existence—Was Restrainted.

[Publishers' Press] Shelbyville, Ind., Aug. 4.—The largest dwelling house in Moral township, occupied by Edward Wendall and family, near London, was destroyed by fire today.

The family barely escaped with their lives. When the fire was discovered by Joseph Lee a neighbor, who was waiting on a sick child, the roof of the Wendall home was ready to fall in. Wendall was so affected by the burning of his house that he declared he wanted to burn with it and he rushed back into the flames and was rescued with difficulty, and not until after he was badly burned about the feet and body. He is now recovering his normal condition. The house was a brick structure, erected at a cost of $3,000. There is $1,500 insurance.

PLANNED TO KILL A KING

ANARCHIST UNDER ARREST

Taken in Custody as He Was About to Set Sail from New York—Grip Sacks Filled with Dynamite and Cartridges.

[Publishers' Press] New York, Aug. 4.—A grip sack loaded with dynamite and 42 calibre cartridges, constituted the baggage of Graciano Tanalare, who had engaged passage on the Cretic, which sailed today from Hoboken for Genoa. Tanalare was not allowed to sail and the Hoboken police in whose custody he is, are of the opinion that he is an anarchist who contemplated the assassination of the King of Italy or some other European sovereign.

Because of the close scrutiny kept on the anarchists in the continent these days, explosives are hard to obtain, but in this country any one may buy dynamite if he has the price. Tanalare has refused to tell where he bought the explosives and has sprung so many contradictory stories that the suspicion of his anarchistic intention is continually strengthened. There is a lot of mystery about the case, but from the circumstances under which the bag was found it is believed that Tanalare was simply acting as an agent for a band of revolutionists. It is thought that the bag was loaded with the dynamite cartridges and left at a designated spot to be picked up by Tanalare and taken aboard the ship.

Comes From Indianapolis.

The Hazenbeck circus which will be in Richmond Tuesday comes from Indianapolis. There will be two trains with a total of 41 sixty-foot cars. Unless some unexpected delay arises the first train will reach Richmond about 3:45 Tuesday morning. The circus will pitch its tents on the North 19th street lot.

PUSHED BABY CAB ACROSS TWO STATES

Mrs. Laura Belle Morrow Arrives in Richmond from East St. Louis, Ill.

WHOLLY WITHOUT FUNDS

WAS TAKEN INTO THE HOME OF RICHMOND PEOPLE WHO FOUND WOMAN AND CHILD ON STREET.

Mrs. Laura Belle Morrow, 28 years of age, three-quarters Cherokee Indian, one-quarter white, walked into Richmond yesterday pushing a baby buggy containing a baby one year and five months old. Mrs. Morrow claims that she came from East St. Louis, Ill., walking all the way, in a little over five weeks. She was seen on the street by Mrs. Charles Kidwell, residing at 627 North 8th street, whose sympathies were aroused by the pitiable condition of the woman and who took her to the Kidwell home, where she was given food and rest for the night. This morning an effort will be made at Police Headquarters to obtain transportation for Mrs. Morrow to Dayton, where she thinks that she will find her husband, who left his home unexpectedly. Mrs. Morrow told the following story to the Palladium:

Woman Tells Her Story.

"About six weeks ago my husband came to me and begged and kissed me and the baby, saying that if he did not come back from work that I need not worry concerning his whereabouts. That was the last time I saw him.

"He has a twin-sister of whom he is very fond. He has started out many times and visited her. I think she lives in Dayton. Well, I thought that Dayton would be about where he was and so I started out. I didn't have any money, and taking my baby in a basket on my arm, I took to the National Road.

"At Germantown, Ill., a man saw me and was kind enough to give me an old baby carriage. On the road I met with few experiences other than to find that there is very little hospitality in the world for a person who hasn't any money.

"I don't bear my man any ill will, but I just want to know where he is.

"My husband is an Irishman, is good natured and 59 years old. Some older than me, you see. We didn't have any trouble—he just got out and later I did the same. I have not heard anything of him, but am certain to find him in Dayton."

Tired from Long Journey.
The heat and extremely hard wear and tear of her journey have told on Mrs. Morrow, who says that she had been in a hospital for several months before she began her walk. Her baby is a bouncing youngster with a contented disposition, never raising a wail at the hard bumps which come his way on the long tramp.
