TRASH WAGONS NOT QUITE AS EXPECTED

Commissioner Dye Will Not Recommend the Purchase of Any More Just Now.

PLANS FOR SPRING WORK

IN HIS OPINION THE ENTIRE BUSINESS SECTION OUGHT TO BE PAVED — WANTS 3 STREETS REMACADAMIZED.

Street Commissioner Ed Dye states that the new trash wagon, purchased about two months ago by the Board of Public Works, is not exactly satisfactory and that he will not recommend to the Board that five new wagons of the same type be purchased, as he intended doing. Mr. Dye says that the wagon is perfectly satisfactory in all respects except one, that it is too heavy.

"The Board purchased the wagon with the view of not only using it to collect trash but to carry and dump crushed rock for street improvement work. For the latter work a wagon as substantial as the one secured by the Board, but of lighter build, is required," said Mr. Dye. It is probable that later on an effort will be made to secure four or five wagons of the type described by Mr. Dye.

The street commissioner is preparing to re-macadamize two or three streets this coming spring and summer and will start on this work as soon as the weather permits. The Board has ordered that North Twelfth street be re-macadamized and Mr. Dye will endeavor to show the residents of that street that he can make as good a street as his predecessor in office, D. Genn.

The work of re-macadamizing the streets of the city is necessarily slow because of the fact that all the expense of such work is paid out of the city treasury, property owners on the streets improved not being assessed for the work. As the city's finances are not the best in the world the Board finds that it cannot be extravagant in remaking streets. It is probable that one or two other streets will be re-macadamized after North Twelfth street has been completed, but this is not an assured fact.

Street Commissioner Dye thinks the entire business section of the city should be paved. He said: "I think that the first block on North Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh streets, that is from Main street to North A street, should be paved. It would probably be a wise move to pave the entire length of North Eighth street. Another street that needs paving badly is North D street, where all the heavy trucks that carry freight to and from the Panhandle and C. C. & L. freight stations prove a great wear on the street. North E street from Tenth to Twentieth street has simply been worn out by the heavy trucks and the Board will have to make some improvements there this season. I would advise that this part of North E street be paved."

TO JAIL AND TO THE STONE PILE

Jordan Must Crack Rocks for 140 Days or Else Go Without Anything to Eat.

A CHARGE OF INDECENCY

POLICE THINK THAT THE HOPELESS DRUNKARD HAS BEEN INSULTING WOMEN ON STREETS — DENIED IT.

The police are dumbfounded at the number of men who have been guilty of late of offering insults to women on the streets by their indecent language and actions. When the "Jack the huggler" complaints first began to pour into police headquarters it was thought one man was guilty of all the outrages reported, but within the past three weeks three men have been arrested for these offenses, the last one being James Jordan.

When Jordan was arraigned in police court yesterday for the fourth time in the past five days, the hearing of his case having been continued each previous time, a new charge was read against him, that of public indecency made by Officer Vogelsson, who charged in the affidavit that Jordan had committed an indecent action in the presence of a young woman at the corner of South Eighth and C streets on the evening of February 21. The name of the young woman was mentioned in the affidavit but is withheld.

Jordan affected to be greatly surprised at the charge made against him and on being asked what he had to say for himself arose majestically and said: "Your honor, Mr. Prosecutor, Gentlemen—The charge that has been placed against me is entirely foreign to my nature. I acknowledge that I was crazy drunk on the evening I am charged with having acted in an indecent manner. If I did so I know nothing about it, owing to the condition I was in. I will say that I am a drunkard but I have never been an insulter of women." Having delivered himself of the foregoing, Jordan resumed his seat in a dignified manner.

"I take it that the prisoner has entered a plea of not guilty," remarked Prosecutor Jessup to the court, "so I move that the case be continued until this afternoon."

When the prosecutor uttered the word "continued," Jordan, who has been driven almost frantic by his five days' confinement in the dark, lonesome city jail, was on his feet vigorously protesting.

"Please don't continue this case, Your Honor," pleaded Jordan. "I'll plead guilty or anything you want me to do if you will only hear my case now and not send me back to the city jail. I ask you to hear the case now." At a wave of the court's hand, Jordan was removed to the deeply detested city jail.

To Jail for 140 Days.
For the next 140 days Jordan will be an inmate of the county jail, but all the pleasure James might derive from life there has been deprived him. The most unique punishment ever meted out to a man in the history of Wayne county is in store for Jordan. Sheriff Meredith has promised the prosecutor that while Jordan is confined at the county jail he will be set to work, rain or shine, twice each day on the stone pile, and until Jordan has cracked a certain amount of stone he will not be given anything to eat. This heroic treatment has been adopted to cure Jordan of his fondness for life at the county institution.

Two well known women for the good of the community appeared yesterday as prosecuting witnesses on a charge of public indecency filed against Jordan by Officer Vogelsson. The trial was held behind closed doors, but it is stated, the testimony introduced proved the case to be the most aggravated that has been tried before Judge Converse for some time. Judge Converse fined Jordan $10 and costs and sentenced him to 120 days in jail. Jordan asked that the fine be taken off, as it would prolong his stay at the jail so late in the summer that he would be unable to take a vacation in northern Michigan.

CLOSING OF THE CANTEEN

Governor Steele of Marion Soldiers' Home Thinks It is Very Bad Idea.

Marion, Ind., Feb. 26.—Preparations for closing the canteen at the Marion Soldiers' Home, March 4, in accordance with the act of congress, are now in progress. Governor George W. Steele says the closing of the canteen is regretted, not so much on account of the loss of a little revenue, which has been used to give entertainments at the home. The health and safety of the veterans are the greatest concern of the home management. It is of record that no cases of intoxication have resulted from the beer sold in the canteen, the beer being of a mild brew.

The absence of the canteen, the home managers say, will mean that the men will go outside for their drinks, which in all probability, will be stronger than beer and will cause them to get into trouble. At least this has been the experience in former years, when no canteen was maintained.
