TEST MILL RELIC OF PIONEER DAYS A CONDUCTOR IS GROUND TO DEATH

source of pride and wealth to its owners. Lately it has fallen into disuse and decay and has become a home for birds and rats. The windows now have scarce a whole pane of glass left in them, the small boy and the elements combined having proved too much for them. The sashes, too, have some of them fallen out. The roof sags at the corners and has fallen in and the floors are rotten and ready to fall at the lightest weight placed upon them.
Birds have long ago built their nests inside the old building and these have never been destroyed. The chimneys are the home of innumerable hordes of swallows and the cellars are the abodes of rats.
The good machinery has long ago been removed and the building would have collapsed in a few years at the most.
Dye House Also Goes.
The dye house, a short square one story stone building which stands near the three story mill, is also being torn down. This structure, no doubt, would have lasted for another half century, so strongly was it constructed at the beginning. The dye vats are broken down and filled with rubbish and a damp, clammy smell pervades the whole place. This dyehouse formerly had the reputation of being haunted and brave was the boy who would enter it at night.
Mill Wheel Decayed.
The mill wheel at the north side of the mill proper is decayed and rotten, and the boards have long ago fallen into the race, which is empty save for a little stagnant water and rubbish. The boards along the side of the race still remain in place, although the nails are rotted away. Grass and weeds have conquered the bottom of the race and hold sway there.
History of Mill.
The history of the mill is a curious one. Built in the first half of the last century, it has been burned three times and has collapsed and crumbled once. The last fire took place some ten or twelve years ago and since that time the mill has been in disuse. The mill has had more than its share of accidents during its life, which was indeed a stormy one.
'Test's Mill' has long been known in the county and its going removes another of the landmarks of the last century and of pioneer days.

wood Heights it was discovered that the conductor was missing, and the train put back to search for him.
Near Reading his mangled body was found stretched across the track exactly as it had lain since his death. The last seen of the man had been when he was walking along the top of the cars. The brakeman noticed him then and no one saw him again until he was found dead. The popular supposition is that he slipped and fell between two cars and was crushed before he was noticed. The crew are certain that the train was going slowly on an even grade and so he could not have been knocked off by a sudden jar, therefore the theory given is probably the right one.
One member of the crew thought he noticed the conductor looking for hot boxes on a car and that he was jarred from his low perch and instantly ground under the wheels. The exact cause will probably never be known.
He leaves a daughter, who attends St. Mary's of the Woods, near Terre Haute. His wife has been living apart from him for several years and is now at St. Louis. Both were notified of their husband's and father's untimely death.
He Was Very Popular.
B. B. Timberlake was one of the most popular conductors on the road. He was known to a large number of people and all say the same thing that he was kind, obliging, honest and a faithful worker. Ever ready to lighten the burden of a friend, he was liked by everyone, and was looked upon as one of the best men on the railroad. A number of his friends among the railroaders were brought in and all seemed touched with grief.
B. B. Timberlake was as one of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Timberlake, of Boston township. The parents are almost prostrated with grief. Mrs. Timberlake was notified of her husband's death and arrived from St. Louis this morning.
The deceased was a graduate of Earlham college and taught school for six years.

HERE'S A WAY TO SAVE DOCTOR BILLS.

Physicians Give Free Advice by Which Parents May Profit.
It was an association of gentlemen, professionally physicians and chemists, all of whom were born in the drug trade, so to speak, and who have been connected with it all their lives, who first gave to the world Castoria, which as everyone knows is a pleasant and effective remedy for the ailments of infants and children. It has always been recognized as a meritorious preparation, and its reward has been the greatest popularity ever enjoyed by any remedy ever put upon the market; attained, not by flamboyant advertising or appeals to ignorance or vulgar prejudice, but by inherent merit. All physicians recommend it, and many, very many, prescribe it.
Many parents call in the family physician. Many other parents take advantage of what the physician told them when he was first called in consultation. All good family physicians say: "Give the children Castoria." Healthy parents know this remedy of old, for they took it themselves as children. It was more than thirty years ago that Castoria made a place for itself in the household. It bore the signature of Charles H. Fletcher then, as it does today. The signature is its guarantee, which is accepted in thousands of homes where there are children.
Much is printed nowadays about big families. Dr. William I. McCann, of Omaha, Neb., is the father of one of these much-read-about families. Here is what he says:
"As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have, in my years of practice, found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."
Charles H. Fletcher has received hundreds of letters from prominent physicians who have the same esteem for Castoria as Dr. McCann has. Not only do these physicians say they use Castoria in their own families, but they prescribe it for their patients. First of all it is a vegetable preparation which assimilates the food and regulates the stomach and bowels. After eating comes sleeping, and Castoria looks out for that too. It allays feverishness and prevents loss of sleep, and this absolutely without the use of opium, morphine or other baneful narcotic.
Medical journals are reluctant to discuss proprietary medicines. Hall's Journal of Health, however, says: "Our duty is to expose danger and record the means for advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health by regulating the system, not by stupefying it, and our readers are entitled to the information."

COLLEGE YEAR ABOUT TO CLOSE

REGARDED AS THE MOST SUCCESSFUL IN HISTORY OF THE INSTITUTION.

EXAMINATIONS TO BEGIN

Next Friday Morning and Will Be Continued Until Monday Noon—Recital.

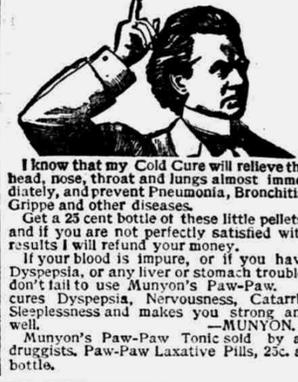

The college year at Earlham, which has been the most successful in the history of the institution, and under the new president, Robert Lincoln Kelley, is fast drawing to a close. The examinations will begin Friday morning at 7:30 o'clock and continue until Monday noon, when all work will have been completed. The method of conducting the examinations will be the same as that used last spring.
Commencement week at Earlham is not only the gayest week during the college year, but it is a week which is also looked forward to with much interest by all the friends of the college living in Richmond and its vicinity. The various programs that are rendered during the week are always well attended and very greatly appreciated, since they are rare and well given.
The commencement program will open this year with the annual students' recital of the department of music, on Friday evening, June 3. The recital will be held in Ludley hall and the program under the direction of Miss Papworth is as follows:
Symphony in C (First movement)—Mozart—Mamie Hough, Constance Foster, Gertrude LeFevre, Nina Harris.
Serenade Bodine—Gabriel Marie—Jennie Lindley.
Marcia Fantastica—Bargiel—Pearl Rinehart.
Song: The Chorister—Arthur Sullivan—Laura Hobson.
Pilgrim's Chorus—Wagner—Mabel Fulghum.
La Gondola—Henselt—Gertrude LeFevre.
Song: Aufdem Wasser Zu Singen—Schubert—Grace Wolford.
(a) Shepherd's Tale—Nevin; (b) The Chase—Homer Bartlett—Nina Harris.
(a) Floating 'mid the Lilies; (b) Battle Hymn from Rienz—Wagner—The Glee Club.
La Fileuse—Raff—Mabel Steuart.

Valse de Concert—Wieniawski—Louise Boyd.
Song: As the Dawn—Cantor—J. C. Leggett.
Polka de la Reine—Raff—Mamie Hough.
Good night, Farewell—Gerrett—Gertrude Wiltsee, Laura Hobson, Blanche Overdeer, J. C. Leggett, Reigan Reagan, Violin, Francine Jenkins.
The musical recital will be followed by the elocution recital on Saturday evening. Prof. Trueblood has quite a surprise for those attending in the way of scenes from Shakespeare. The recital heretofore has consisted for the most part of recitation work.
Don't take a substitute when it is just as easy to buy the original and genuine. If compared, you would be satisfied that Richmond Baking Co.'s Ideal and Mother's bread has no competition.

Superintendent Public Works Of Lexington, Ky., Says: "Pe-ru-na is an Excellent Medicine."

J. H. Hipplegate, Supt. of Public Works, 61 West 6th St., Lexington, Ky., writes:
"I find that Peruna is an excellent medicine especially for catarrhal affections and all diseases leading to consumption, bronchial troubles or stomach troubles. It also acts as a preventative and keeps the system in a healthy condition so that it easily throws off disease. It is an excellent tonic and a great appetizer and as a large number of those who have been using it speak very highly of its curative powers, I am satisfied that my opinion of it is correct, and that it is deserving of high praise."
—J. H. Hipplegate.
Peruna is the remedy for catarrh. Almost everybody knows that by hearsay and thousands know it by experience. Catarrh in its various forms is rapidly becoming a national curse. An undoubted remedy has been discovered by Dr. Hartman. This remedy has been thoroughly tested during the past forty years. Peruna cures catarrh in all phases and stages. There is no remedy that can be substituted.
If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.
