Tag Day for Day Nursery

Citizens who know the valuable work which the Day Nursery performs in this community will be glad to purchase tags next Saturday to help maintain the institution. The nursery makes no appeals for funds, excepting on tag day. In the fall it conducts a waste paper campaign, in which old newspapers and magazines are collected to be sold for the benefit of the institution.

At present, 16 children are being taken care of daily in the nursery. The purpose of the institution is to provide a home for children whose mothers are compelled to earn their own living, or are forced to work to supplement the earnings of others in the family.

Many a mother would be prevented from working were it not for the nursery which keeps the children during the hours she is employed. In this capacity the home performs a social service which cannot be overestimated.

The appeal next Saturday should meet with hearty response. The gifts of the citizens will be gratefully received by the persons whose benevolence and love have maintained the organization.

Memorial Day

Memorial day looms in the near future. Every patriotic citizen should keep this date in mind and attend the services which are arranged in honor of the veterans of the Civil war who have passed into the great beyond.

It is a sad commentary on citizenship, here and elsewhere, that so few of us remember the heroic service which the Boys in Blue performed in the Civil war. They were called to preserve the Union, to safeguard the integrity of the Constitution, and to defeat forever the pernicious doctrine of secession.

Their sacrifices were great. The victory they won was monumental for our republic. What we are today, what we will be in the future, dates back in great measure to the service which they gave to the Union in the hour of its greatest peril.

The ranks of the veterans of that war are thinning fast. Every year sees posts of the G. A. R. abandoned because only a few members remain. Every day sees a veteran answering the final summons.

Unto us is given the task of treasuring their memory and of handing down to the next generation the story of their sacrifice and love. Memorial day should kindle anew in our hearts an appreciation of the patriotic service of these men. And one way to show that love and respect is by attending the memorial service which is held for the men who have entered the invisible army.

Q. Will you please explain the process of sending money to London by New York draft?—T. D. L.
A. The postoffice department says that banks in New York maintain balances in London against which a bill of exchange (which is the same as a draft) is drawn. The price paid is in dollars for the bill which is paid in pounds sterling, and is dependent upon the market rate at the time of purchase.
Q. Are there any railroads in Hawaii?—A. H. R.
A. There are about 307 miles of railroads in the Hawaiian Islands, the principal line being on Oahu.
Q. Can the flamingo be domesticated?—I. R. W.
A. When taken young, flamingos are readily tamed, but they are not generally found to thrive in a domesticated state.
Q. What was the loss resulting from the floods in Ohio and Indiana seven or eight years ago?—K. R. D.
A. In the 1913 floods in Ohio and Indiana 730 lives were lost and the property loss was more than $180,000,000.
Q. How big is a molecule?—L. P.
A. It is estimated that a molecule of water has a diameter of about one forty-millionth of an inch and that the number of molecules in a cubic inch of air is 443 million million million.

TODAY'S TALK

By George Matthew Adams, Author of "You Can," "Take It," "Up"

A LINCOLN STORY—AND A REFLECTION OR SO

I find in the notes of Walt Whitman a fine Lincoln story. In the gloomiest period of the Civil War, Lincoln was waited upon by a large delegation of bank presidents from all over the country. In the talk after the business, one of the bank presidents asked Lincoln if he didn't think his belief in the permanency of the Union was beginning to be shaken. Whereupon Lincoln replied in his famous story fashion as follows: "When I was a young man in Illinois, I boarded for a time with a deacon of the Presbyterian church. One night I was roused from my sleep by a rap at the door, and I heard the deacon's voice exclaiming: 'Arise, Abraham! the day of judgment has come!' I sprang from my bed, and rushed to the window, and saw the stars falling in great showers; but looking back of them in the heavens I saw the grand old constellations, with which I was so well acquainted, and fixed and true in their places. Gentlemen, the world did not come to an end then, nor will the Union now."
I often read in my newspaper of an attempted suicide—and find that in every instance afterwards, the person regrets the act. The fact is that we so often think all life has lost its appeal because we are so close to some particularly black and unhappy event. How often a day opens in the most gloomy and dark fashion only to clear and brighten later on. And how much different we feel in the face of such a change. The time to quit is never when you feel most like quitting. The man who seems nearest failure may in truth be nearest to success. The inventor never knows the moment he is going to stumble onto the desired result. If very unhappy people would move just a little closer to the happy side of life and get some of its feel, I am sure that one of the fine lessons of life would be quickly learned.

Who's Who in the Day's News

LYNN FRAZIER
The candidacy of former Governor Lynn Frazier of North Dakota in the senatorial primaries, looms stronger following the recent death of Senator Gronna. The late senator and Frazier easily led the field of candidates for the Republican nomination to fill the seat now held by Senator McCumber. Frazier's friends predict at least a defeat for McCumber as a result of conditions in the state. Frazier is the candidate of the non-Partisan league. Frazier and the league are being fought by the followers of Alexander McKenzie, long recognized as a state boss. McCumber, his opponents state, is trying to get the support of both factions.
Frazier served his state as governor two terms, from 1917 to 1918 and from 1919 to 1921. He is a farmer in private life. He was born in Steele county, Minn., Dec. 21, 1874. He obtained his education in North Dakota grammar and normal schools and North Dakota university.

Restless, irritable, nervous, excitable and exacting is the charge against her by those nearest and dearest. After Dinner Tricks

No. 185—Naming a Chosen Object
Three cards, coins, or other articles are laid in a row on the table. The spectators are asked to choose one of the three while the performer is out of the room. Upon his return no one makes a sign, but the performer instantly names the chosen article. The trick is accomplished with the aid of a confederate, who is smoking a cigar or cigarette. The confederate calmly places his cigar in his mouth so that it designates the chosen card, being either at the left side, right side or center of his mouth. The absence of other signs on the part of any one will completely mystify the spectators. Copyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Company

After Dinner Stories

They were talking about a mutual acquaintance and the first man was full of praise. "Smart chap, that, and a nice fellow to boot," he said. The second man had just received evidence of the smartness in question and was still sore about it. "You are quite right," he said. "He would be a nice fellow—to boot!"
An old man was walking along a road one night when he was confronted by a burly stranger. "What do you want?" he asked. "We are going to have a game of put and take, old chap," replied the stranger. "Put and take!" gasped the old man shivering with fright. "Yes," said the burly one, "You put up your hands and I'll take yer watch."

THE TRUTH AT LAST
The truth concerning Reuben Rife has never been put across; men thought because he beat his wife he was a total loss. He was a man who earned his bread in labor's honest sweat, and for long years his neighbors said he was a good, safe bet. His wife he treated like a queen; he treated her too well; and in her course the cause is seen of trouble that befell. With too much idle time on hand, she fooled with this and that; once she was a drummer in the band, again an acrobat. She studied

Memories of Old Days

In This Paper Ten Years Ago Today
A freight wreck on the Indianapolis division of the Pennsylvania lines at Easthaven at 10:55 o'clock caused a loss of about $1,000, when a freight car loaded with Swift's hams was demolished. The accident was caused by the front axle on the car breaking. The train was eastbound. The axle broke south of Easthaven, throwing the car from the tracks, but dragging it along for a distance of 100 yards. The engine and two cars attached, broke away from the meat car, which was the third in the train, and ran for about 100 yards. The entire train was stopped by the derailed car, which when it fell, pulled over the car in the rear of it. Hams were strewn along the roadbed, the sides of the car being knocked out.

How To RAISE BABY CHICKS

Put Avicol in the drinking water. Most people lose half of every hatch, and seem to expect it. Chick cholera, or white diarrhoea, is the cause. An Avicol tablet in the drinking water will save your chicks from all such diseases. Within 48 hours the sick ones will be lively as crickets. Mrs. Wm. May, Reno, Ind., writes: "I was losing 10 or 15 chicks a day from diarrhoea, before I received the Avicol. I haven't lost one since." It costs nothing to try Avicol. Use it either for preventing or treating white diarrhoea and all bowel diseases of poultry. If not satisfied, your money will be promptly refunded. Sold by most druggists and poultry dealers, or mailed postpaid for 25c. Burrell-Duggee Co., 202 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind. —Advertisement.
