Notes About Men and Their Doings in the Two Great Fields of National Pastime.

Roy O. West, Illinois member of the Republican national committee, issued a warning Tuesday night against factional quarrels and urged all to unite to build up the party. Mr. West read this state into the fore rank of advocates for reapportionment of delegates, stating that as long ago as 1908, Illinois declared in favor of a more equitable apportionment of delegates in the convention of 1912.

elect the Senators themselves, former Senator Hopkins' chances look bright. Judge John R. Caverly has made a record on the Municipal Court bench that he can be justly proud of.

William Hale Thompson's big army of friends in Chicago are a unit in their desire to see him Mayor of Chicago.

The Chicago election board's amendment making purchasers of votes guilty with those bribed has been rejected by the house committee. It was argued that if both the briber and bribed were liable it would be impossible to get either to testify as to the guilt of the other.

Judge John E. Owens has made a grand record on the county bench. He has proved himself to be at all times an honest, big-hearted and conscientious judge.

The many friends of William D. Munhall would like to see him appointed United States District Attorney. He is the right man for the position.

The contest of Oscar W. Eckland for the seat of Charles E. Merriam in the city council was withdrawn. Mr. Eckland was the Democratic opponent of Mr. Merriam in the April election. William Rothmann, attorney for Mr. Eckland appeared before the judiciary committee of the city council and served notice that Mr. Eckland would not prosecute his contest further.

Charles B. Pavlicek, the popular lawyer and attorney for the West Park Board, is in line for a seat on the bench.

The largest crowd that ever congregated at a ball game in Indianapolis last Sunday witnessed the game between Chicago and Indianapolis in the new Federal League. That the league will have a successful season is certain. The first Chicago game will be played at the home grounds at DePaul field next Friday.

The "blue print" graft at the city hall, according to a council committee, foots up over $5,000 a year. The city should have a blue print plant of its own.

The city should take possession of the Chicago Railways lines and give the public good service.

The committee bill changes the date of the April primaries in presidential years to the third Tuesday in May. In the off years the primary for the November election would be held on the second Tuesday in September.

As a member of the County Board, John E. Maloney is working hard all the time in the interest of the taxpayers.

Frank H. Novak, the popular attorney, is being talked of by many Democrats for Judge of the Probate Court.

Albert J. Hopkins' big host of friends in Illinois are predicting his election by the people to succeed United States Senator Sherman. Now that the people will have the right to

MOST SUPERSTITIOUS OF BALL PLAYERS

Manager Frank Chance of New York Highlanders.

Nearly every ball player on the verge of a great series is extremely nervous, irritable and ready to take a poke at his very best friends, but the champion of them all is Frank Chance, former manager of the Cubs and, now leader of the New York American league team. As every ball tosser knows, Chance is a chronic groucher and one of the most superstitious men that ever appeared on the diamond. A photographer was lucky enough to to sing. It was O. K. until they came to the song "Casey Jones." Chance thinks that song is the jinx. He immediately jumped up from his seat and announced that the first man who sang that song again would be fined $500 and suspended. Learning to that old superstition that history repeats itself, Chance opened the series with Orville Overall in the box. In two other world's championship contests Orvie won the first game. But after the Athletics pounded Overall all over the diamond Chance was in extra bad humor.

On opening his mail after the game Chance received a letter from a Chicago roofer which was dated 13 and in which the fan wished him luck, as it was his thirteenth season in fast company. Matters were made worse when he discovered that his berth was No. 13 and that the check for $10,000 which he sent to the national commission as a guarantee that the rules would not be violated was mailed on the 13th. Chance was in such bad humor that many of the players shunned him as much as possible. At the start of the second game in Philadelphia the Cubs' leader was harboring a terrible grouch.

In the second inning of the second game Chance lost his temper completely when Rieger called a strike on him, and he said something to the umpire that was not audible to the people in the grand stand and smote the ground savagely with his bat. Later he showed his irritation again when Catcher Kling called for three balls to catch Collins stealing when Baker was at the bat. Baker then singled through Chance, and the latter fell on his face trying to stop the drive. As he came up with his mouth full of dirt he looked daggers at Kling and openly accused the latter of sacrificing the team's chances of winning in order to protect or better his own personal record behind the bat. After looking at Kling for a little while he yelled: "You call waste balls on Baker for fear Collins will get another stolen base on you. You do that again and you'll sit on the bench."

Harry Davis.

get the Cubs' leader to smile when posing for a picture with Captain Davis of the Athletics before the world's series started. It was the first time the peerless leader had smiled in weeks. Shortly after the train bearing the players left Chicago for Philadelphia to start the series several men began Capt. George McBride of the Senators, in the five years he has been with the club, has missed but five games.

Little Johnny Bates of the Reds surely is the batting kid. Johnny just loves to bat in a pinch and he seldom fails.

Hugh Bedient of the Red Sox looks good to Manager McGraw. "Collins, Hall and the others aren't such great stars," says Jawn.

Any student of the Sheffield Scientific school, Yale, who takes part in a Sunday baseball game will render himself liable to suspension. This is the dictum issued by the acting director of the school. The stand against Sunday baseball came as a result of the announcement of a game which was to have been played on Sunday between a New Haven team and students.

Recruits Too Quiet. "Recruits nowadays are too quiet and retiring," says Joe. Tinker. "Noise, noise—squawking all the time—that's what I want, and that's what wins baseball games."

Olding at Short. Rube Olding has played shortstop in several games for the Athletics and looks like the same capable infielder he was several years ago when he was stationed at third base.

Mathewson's Brother. Hank Mathewson, brother of the Giants' star pitcher, will play this season with the Rome club of the Empire State league.

Not Much Chance to Be Frank. The New York baseball writer who said, "Have the Yankees a chance next season? Well, to be frank, they have!" has thus far escaped arrest.

THREE GOOD INDIAN PLAYERS

Sockalexis, Jack Meyers and Chief Bender Only Ones to Be Rated as First Class.

Comparatively few Indians have made good in professional baseball. In recent years those who have succeeded to regular positions with either American or National League clubs can be counted upon the fingers of one hand.

Athletic trainers and coaches have wondered at this. It is all the more surprising when one stops to consider that of all the nations there is none which can boast of more natural athletes than the aborigines. Some mentors have tried to explain it by saying that the race has been retrogressing. This, of course, may be in great measure responsible for the condition.

Whatever the reason, it remains a fact that only Sockalexis, Jack Meyers and Chief Bender have attained fame as big leaguers. Other Indians have made good in the minors and have been given trial in fast company, but they have invariably fallen just one notch shy in their major league ability.

Notable among these were Jude, a reservation Indian, and Il Roy, a Chipewya. They have always been among the best in their respective minor associations, but have lacked an indefinite something so frequently the case with good minor leaguers.

Now Jim Thorpe has been added to the list, and in St. Louis the Browns may have an Indian playing shortstop for them. Balenti, who had a trial with Cincinnati for a time, has been turned over to George Stovall.

Sockalexis was regarded as one of the best players of his time about thirteen years ago. He played for four years with Holy Cross, and then played for about two seasons with Cleveland, but firewater was the cause of his downfall.

BOSTON VETERAN GOING WELL

Arthur Devlin, Formerly With New York Giants, Refuses to Be Dislodged at Third.

Arthur Devlin, formerly of the New York Giants, is filling the third base job for the Boston Braves. Devlin is one of the veterans of the diamond.

but is still able to play a star game and keep the youngsters from forcing him out of fast company. At one time Devlin was considered about the best third baseman in the land.

PLAY BALL IN PHILIPPINES

Fourteen of Fastest Native Philippine Players Coming to This Country for Games.

A crack all-Philippine baseball team composed of fourteen of the fastest players in the Philippines, has left Manila for a tour of Japan and the United States. The team expects to arrive at San Francisco about June 25. The aggregation of athletes is under the management of Director Alejandro Albert, Team Manager E. F. Willets and Advance Agent Arthur E. McCann.

The program calls for about twelve games in Japan with the leading colleges. One game in Hawaii, on route, and about fifty games in the United States with class "C" and "D" league teams, the fastest semipro and college teams.

The natives here have made wonderful strides in the progress of the national game and the managers of this team are confident that their boys will make a creditable showing. Although the members of this team are all Filipinos, no two of them speak the same language, so they are obliged to speak in a tongue other than their own in order to carry on a conversation among themselves.

Peculiarities of the Game. Here's a good one. Detroit made ten safe swats for eleven bases, got ten bases on balls from Baumgardner, stole five sacks, made two sacrifice hits, and drew one free transportation to first by the hit by pitched ball route in a game against the Browns' and scored but three runs.

Differs With San Johnson. Clark Griffith, manager of the Senators, differs with San Johnson in the effort to quicken the games in the American league. According to the "Old Fox," the public does not want quicker games, but it does want better games.

Stone Seeks Job. George Stone, formerly of the Browns, who once led the American league in hitting, is still looking for a berth as a minor league manager.

Confidence in Thorpe. Manager McGraw believes that with a little experience Jim Thorpe will easily become one of the best base runners the game ever saw.

Leonard Shows Well. Dutch Leonard, the recruit hurler of the Red Sox, has been showing up fine and it is most likely that he will be retained by Manager Jake Stahl.
