MOVIES AND CRIME.

The far west loafers who slouch about in the moving pictures with revolvers a yard long are the leading features of this sort of entertainment.
This kind of thing should be stopped at once in this city.
The cowboy at best is a disgusting exhibit.
The tough western man never existed where there was a chance to exterminate him and the idea of exhibiting these combinations of Alcohol and Alkali to Chicago children is repulsive in a community where hold-ups are common and loafers are so cheap.

ONE OF THE REASONS.

The fact that young women are getting too proud to do housework, probably never suggests itself to notoriety seeking persons, who to sermonize on the stories that girls earning $8 and $10 a week cannot support themselves.
In the days when poor girls got good homes, fair wages and good bed and board for doing housework these kind of tales were never heard.

SOMETHING TO BLOW ABOUT.

The United States according to the daily papers now leads the world in Polo, Golf and Golf and Golf.
If it could only lead the world in Newspapers, Statesmanship and Anti-monopoly.
The country might have something worth while blowing about.

EAGLETS.

If business men in other sections of the city had to submit to a change of street names, why was Fifth avenue exempted after it had been properly changed to South Wells street?

No man on the bench gives better satisfaction to the public than Judge John R. Caverly. He is just, kind, patient and humane and his decisions are always upheld.

Col. Frank O. Lowden delivered an eloquent address to the farmers' convention at Plano, Ill., on Wednesday. His subject was "The Farmer as a Factor in Our National Government."

Oscar F. Mayer is being talked of for county treasurer.

The hardest kickers against state regulation of utilities outside of professional reformers, who have lost their jobs, are sidewalkers, telephone and traction companies. The people are happy however and are anxious for more state control.

Walter E. Schmidt is growing in strength as a candidate for county treasurer. His good official record and army of friends stand by him.

Chicago banks will be well represented at the annual meeting of the American Bankers' Association at Boston, October 6. Among those going from the different banks, we note: Union Trust Company, C. B. Hazelwood; Fort Dearborn National, William N. Tilden and Mrs. Tilden; Nelson N. Lambert and Mrs. Lambert; J. F. Farrell, Mrs. Farrell and niece; Drovers' National, John Fletcher and Mrs. Fletcher; M. F. Rittenhouse and Mrs. Rittenhouse; Continental & Commercial National, George M. Reynolds and Mrs. Reynolds, Ralph Van Vechten and Mrs. Van Vechten, G. B. Smith and John R. Washburn; Continental & Commercial Trust & Savings, George B. Caldwell and Mrs. Caldwell.

One of the most popular business men in Chicago is Thomas J. Conside, for ten years manager of Brown, King & Co., Chicago, who has been general secretary-treasurer and general manager of John T. Shayne & Co. The business will be continued as at present, and men's clothing will be added. Additional space in the Palmer House location of this old State street firm will accommodate the enlarged business. The firm of John T. Shayne & Co. was established more than thirty-seven years ago as a fur and hat store, and has long enjoyed practically a national reputation.

Mr. Conside began his career as a clothing merchant under Harry G. Seifridge, in Marshall Field & Co. He rose to the position of manager in the clothing department of that firm. His success as a merchant has been considered remarkable. He is regarded as the youngest among the heads of State street institutions.

C. Helmer Johnson, the well known lawyer, is frequently spoken of for a place on the Circuit bench.

The Serbian National Club of Chicago, of which John R. Palandech is president, will give a farewell banquet in honor of Charles J. Vopicka, who has been appointed minister to the Balkan states, and will probably have his headquarters at Belgrade. The banquet will be given in the Hotel LaSalle just before Mr. Vopicka's departure, which will be within the next few days.

"The Servians are elated over Mr. Vopicka's appointment," Mr. Palandech said. "President Wilson could not have chosen a more popular man, as far as the Balkan people are concerned. Mr. Vopicka has the advantage of speaking their language and having their utmost confidence. It will be a good thing for American interests, as well as those of the Balkans, for there are wonderful opportunities in the Balkans now, especially in Servia. Servia will start at once building hundreds of miles of railroads through Montenegro to the Adriatic sea and many other great enterprises will be inaugurated where American capital will play an important part."

OUT-OF-ORDINARY PEOPLE

COURTESY OF FINIS J. GARRETT

Three cheers for Representative Finis J. Garrett of Tennessee, the chairman of the special committee of the house which is investigating the long-drawn-out charges by Colonel Mulhall that a choice collection of grafters could make congress eat out of their hands at any hour of the day and night.

On a recent afternoon, when young Mr. McMichael was telling how he used to work with McDermott on various schemes in which the two of them were interested, it suddenly dawned upon several newspaper men present that if the committee kept on with its hearings much longer that day and if they held a night session there would be consternation in certain quarters owing to the fact that handsome young Mr. Hartwell of the Associated Press was to be married that evening, and many of the newspaper men present were to be ushers, guests and general background for the affair.

So Bob Dougan, E. F. Ackerman and Joe Annin, as a committee, told Representative Garrett that either the wedding would be slimly attended or the world would go without the news of the lobby investigation. And Mr. took precedence over a lobby hearing. And Mr. took precedence over a lobby hearing. And Mr. took precedence over a lobby hearing.

Garrett, with the most gracious manner possible, announced that a wedding ball. The committee adjourned in time to let young Ackerman try on his silk gloves, and no one suffered for a lack of news.

Now that action of Mr. Garrett's is so different from that which would be followed by many congressmen that it deserves passing mention. The people of this country have the right to know everything that is being done in congress. The members of that committee are representatives of the people. The men at the newspaper table are telling the people every day what that lobby investigation is doing. The committee and the sinews of news work hand in hand. Many a congressman sneers at the newspapers in public when he disagrees with them or they with him, and quotes clippings with great uncton when he wants to carry a point in debate.

On the other hand, many a congressman says, frankly: "I want publicity. I need it. It is my political life," and he gets it in the right quantity and the country is none the worse. Another man, with scant courtesy which he flaunts under the title of dignity, brushes aside the young reporter, who probably will amount to just as much as the statesman in time, and then objects to the things that are said about him in the public prints.

NO "HOOKING JACK" FOR KERN

Observations made during a summer session of congress seem to acquaint one with the true inwardness of things much more vividly than those made during the winter sessions. Sweltering in his hotel one torrid evening, a prominent leader was bemoaning his lot. Only a few miles distant a delightful summer home awaited his coming, but alas—he was detained here to look after the caucus. Yet John Kern, senator from Indiana, had no intention of "hooking Jack" from duty. It was a humid evening and the perspiration stood in beads on his broad brow, and how could a human senator be expected to forget the home of his heart, amid the Virginia mountains? Here his father was born, and in emigrating to the west, the elder Kern dreamed of the time when he might return and own the land which so greatly and wonderfully figured in the pictures of boyhood. His wishes were more than fulfilled, for he spent many happy days at the old home during the sunset of life.

Senator Kern is known as a true Hoosier. Like many Indiana's his forefathers came from Virginia to Kentucky and thence to Ohio. With his old home town of Kokomo are associated stirring memories of youth. The noted jockey, Ted Sloan, was befriended by the senator in early days and did not forget him in the heyday of fame, for he never missed an opportunity of calling to see his friend Kern. In his own inimitable way the senator recalled the early days of Indiana; while his mind was set upon holding the Democratic caucus in line and watching every move to secure the passage of the tariff bill. He is one of the few senators who wears a beard, which he strokes meditatively with a patriarchal air, but his twinkling and snapping dark eyes belie the semblance of age.—National Magazine.

BRIGADIER GENERAL ALBERT L. MILLS

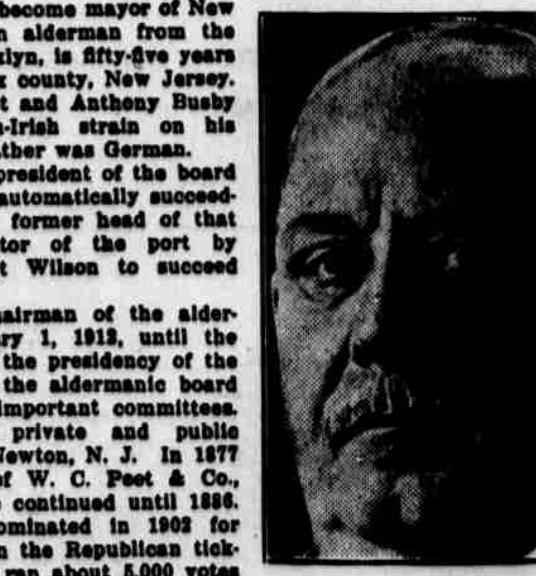

Brigadier General Albert L. Mills, one of the bravest and most accomplished officers in the regular army, has been detailed to give his time and talents to the organized militia of the nation—the second line of defense. In the event of a long war no man would be of more importance. He would bring the raw recruits into action. The undisciplined hosts would be trained and armed under his direction. Indeed, he is now doing everything that is possible against the day of peril to the country.

The personal experiences of General Mills make one of the most thrilling chapters in the history of the war with Spain. Years ago he fought Indians on the plains and in the mountains of the west. At Fort Leavenworth, where he was on duty at the cavalry and infantry school, he wrote a book on the Virginia campaigns of 1862. He was a captain when the Maine went down in the harbor of Havana. In Cuba, quoting the language of his commander, General Young, "he participated with distinguished gallantry and conspicuous ability in all the engagements preceding the final surrender of Santiago."

The medal of honor voted him by congress was won on July 1 at San Juan, where he encouraged "those near him by his bravery and coolness, after being shot through the head and entirely without sight." As a matter of fact, the surgeons placed him on a cot under a tree and probed his death within a short while. He heard what they said. Being a brave man he struggled all the harder for his life.

NEW MAYOR OF NEW YORK CITY

Adolph Kline, who has become Mayor of New York, was the Republican alderman from the Fifty-first district in Brooklyn, is fifty-five years old and a native of Sussex county, New Jersey. He is the son of Margaret and Anthony Busby Kline. He is of Scotch-Irish strain on his mother's side, while his father was German.

Colonel Kline became president of the board of aldermen July 7, 1912, automatically succeeding John Purroy Mitchell, former head of that body, who became collector of the port by appointment of President Wilson to succeed William Loeb. Mr. Kline was vice-chairman of the aldermanic board from January 1, 1912, until the date of his succession to the presidency of the board. As a member of the aldermanic board he has served on many important committees. Mr. Kline attended private and public schools at Andover and Newton, N. J. In 1877 he entered the employ of W. C. Peet & Co., New York city, where he continued until 1886. Colonel Kline was nominated in 1902 for sheriff of Kings county on the Republican ticket. Though defeated, he ran about 5,000 votes ahead of the head of the ticket. In the following year he was elected to represent the Fifty-first district in the board of aldermen for the term of 1904-5. He was returned for the period of 1906-7. On January 1, 1908, he was appointed assistant appraiser of merchandise for the port of New York by President Roosevelt, an office which he held until his resignation, July 1, 1911. In November, 1911, he was again elected to represent the Fifty-first aldermanic district for the term of 1912-3. He was elected vice-chairman by the fusion members.
