An Indian Inspector's Report Which Falls to Give Satisfaction.

What Cattlemen Who Have Been Forced to Abandon Their Ranches Asert—Ward's Cowardice.

Stockmen's Threat to Kill All Indians Caught Off Their Reservations On Sight.

DENVER, COL., September 4.—The report of Indian Inspector Ward upon the Indian troubles in Southwestern Colorado, which tends to shield the Southern Utes from blame in the recent outrages upon cattlemen, and Indian Agent Patton in issuing passes to reservation Indians, creates unfavorable comment among the whites in the menaced district.

Cattlemen who have been threatened by the Indians and forced to abandon their ranges, assert that the investigation lacked thoroughness; that Ward was afraid to venture far enough into the country to ascertain all the facts; that he declined their proffered aid to identify marauders as reservation Indians, and that they gave the names of responsible men who can verify their statements as to the truth of the outrages.

The stock men declare they will kill all Indians on sight found off their reservation, whether provided with passes or not, and will depend upon themselves for protection. They also assert that the military officers at Fort Lewis, who are cognizant of the situation, substantiate their statements.

Secretary Teller is here. He states that the Indians can not be removed by legislation unless the tribes will consent. Senator Hill's bill of last year would be in operation had it passed the House.

For this reason he has ordered Agent Patton, of the Southern Utes, not to issue any passes and to keep the Indians within the reservation boundary.

He telegraphed the Secretary of War to-day to instruct the commander of Fort Lewis to compel the Indians to remain on the reservation.

Trouble is also reported in Garfield County, the locality of the Meeker massacre, by straggling bands of Indians from Utah, who are on their old reservation and insolent to settlers. No outbreaks have occurred, but the whites are uneasy over the conduct of the Indians.

All of these Indians at both points are well armed and are likely to create trouble.

A GLOVE FIGHT.

Which Came Unpleasantly Near Being a Free Fight.

LONG ISLAND CITY, September 4.—A desperate glove fight took place in a secluded spot, a short distance from this city, at daybreak this morning.

The combatants were Jim McHugh, of Chicago, and Dave Fitzgerald, of Canada. The men were very evenly matched, being about the same height and weight. Both men had a number of admirers and heeled, among them some of the most turbulent spirits of the rough element known in pugilistic circles.

During the fight there were frequent squabbles between the heeled, over the rulings of the referee. Several times it looked as though the affair would break up in a free fight. Two or three times the mob broke into the ring, and the fight had to be stopped until they retired.

The men were game and fought forty desperate rounds. It was game and take throughout, and the fight only terminated by the referee declaring it a draw to prevent a general fight between the respective following of the men.

Fitzgerald appeared to have slighted by the best of the fight, gaining first blood, and repeatedly knocking his opponent down; but at the conclusion both men showed the marks of terrible punishment around the head and body, and were about tired out. They could not have fought much longer. The fight was for a purse of $300. The contest lasted two hours and thirty minutes.

CANADIAN VOYAGEURS.

Lord Wolseley Orders a Birch Bark Canoe for the Expedition.

WINNEPEG, MAN., September 4.—Colonel Kennedy yesterday received a cablegram from Lord Wolseley asking him to procure a birch bark canoe for him similar to the one he used during the Red River expedition.

Lord Wolseley wants the boat for his own use during the trip up the Nile. Colonel Kennedy is on sent for Superintendent McCall of the Indian Department and purchased a canoe for him, which McCall recommended as being the best procurable.

It is a six-foot-one and will carry easily six men and baggage. It will be ready to-day to be ready to go along with the expedition, which leaves on Saturday for the East. Fifty-three men in all are going. Colonel Kennedy goes as far as Montreal, and as he has been offered a position on Lord Wolseley's staff will doubtless go to Egypt. The men will be divided into three classes. One-third of them will be from St. Peter's Indian reserve and are experienced voyageurs. The remainder are men who have spent years as rascals, together with a sprinkling of young men who have had considerable experience canoeing and roughing it in survey parties.

FAILING FIRMS.

Temporary Suspension of a Minnesota Bank.

WABASH, MINN., September 4.—Yesterday it became known that the Mazepa Mill Company, owning and running extensive flour mills at Mazepa, in this county, had failed, with large liabilities, and that the Minnesota Elevator Company had made an assignment. It is asserted that Senator James G. Lawrence is in possession of the assets of the company, and is in serious financial difficulties. Yesterday morning a run commenced on the First National Bank of this place, of which Mr. Lawrence is a director and one of the largest stockholders, and by noon all the ready money of the institution, some $250,000, had been drawn out, and payment was necessarily suspended for an hour or two, but more currency was got in some way and payment was resumed in the afternoon. It is believed that the bank is insolvent, and that its assets are not sufficient to pay its liabilities.

J. W. Owens Ruled Off the St. Louis Jockey Club Track.

The Trick by Which He Tried to Pull Nora M., the Favorite in a Race, After the Pools Were In.

He Pleads the Baby Act by Declaring that He Had Never Read the Turf Rules.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., September 4.—Inquiry into the Nora M. matter was pursued till late last evening. It will be remembered that this mare was entered for a five furlong heat race last Friday, for which she should have carried 108 pounds.

When the other seven horses were the post her owner, or rather the owner of her running qualities—J. W. Owens—informed the judges that he could get no one to ride the mare except a boy named Hartman, who could ride no lighter than 114 3/4 pounds.

As the mare had been a warm favorite, first, in fact, until just before the race, the officials would not listen to Owens' suggestion that he be allowed to draw the mare, and insisted on her starting with even this extra weight up for the first heat, while they directed that a boy of the proper weight be procured for the others.

The starter reported that it was with the greatest difficulty he could get Hartman to bring the mare to the post at all, though when another jockey, Thayer, was put up Nora M. acted well in every way, gave no trouble at the post and won the succeeding heats and race. Evidence was given to the judges that Wren Yetman had been regularly engaged to ride the mare and that he could do so at her proper weight of 108 pounds. It was proved to their satisfaction that the boy had been told by Owens that he should receive $25 not to ride the mare, but to

MURDER WILL OUT.

Though the Evidence Lies Buried for Two Long Years.

LOGANSPOUT, IND., September 4.—Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Keever, of Monticello, White County, were indicted yesterday by the Grand Jury for the murder of Alva Spencer, a wealthy farmer, in White County two years ago. Solomon Spencer is the brother of the murdered man whose body, which was exhumed several days ago, gives unmistakable signs of the presence of arsenic in large quantities. It is thought that Keever and his wife were hired by the brother to do the murderous work. The suspected persons were arrested. The greatest excitement prevails in White County over the developments.

Governor Bourne's Proclamation.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., September 4.—The following is Governor Bourne's proclamation on the death of United States Senator Anthony:

STATE OF RHODE ISLAND, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, PROVIDENCE, September 3, 1884.

It is my painful duty to announce officially to the people of the State that the Hon. Henry B. Anthony, the senior Senator from this State in the Congress of the United States, died at his residence in Providence, on Tuesday at 1:15 o'clock p. m.

His long career has been distinguished by faithful services to his native State, and his fellow citizens will gratefully preserve the memory of his devotion to their interests. The funeral services will take place at the First Congregational Church, Providence, on Saturday, September 6, at twelve o'clock. I request the members of the General Assembly and the State officers to meet at the State-house on Saturday next at 11 a. m. for the purpose of attending the funeral. I also request that between the hours of two o'clock noon and two o'clock p. m. on that day, all public offices be closed, and that, as a tribute of respect to the late Senator, all business during those hours, in so far as practicable, be suspended.

(Signed) AUGUSTUS O. BOURNE, GOVERNOR.

Butler on His Travels.

CHICAGO, ILL., September 4.—General Butler left for Minneapolis at ten o'clock this forenoon, accompanied by a delegation composed of Wm. C. King, J. F. Lee, P. H. Shadrick and W. W. Gann, from that city, who journeyed here to meet him. He will make a short stay at Milwaukee, en route. General Butler said to your representative this morning that he declined to make any statement as to a probable fusion with the Democrats in Illinois. He had been in conversation during the morning with Mr. Oberly, Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, upon the subject. Members of the People's party, who were present at the conference, declared that no decision as to fusion would be reached for the present in any event.

Randall Renominated.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., September 4.—The Democratic Convention for the nomination of a candidate to represent the Third District in Congress was held this morning. On motion Samuel J. Randall was named as the nominee of the Convention. On motion the nominations were closed, and Mr. Randall was nominated by acclamation. He addressed the Convention in a neat little speech, after which the Convention adjourned.

Seventy-two Ballots.

GRAYLING, MICH., September 4.—Up to noon to-day there had been seventy-two ballots taken in the Tenth District Michigan Republican Convention, and the dead-lock still was unbroken. Balloting began yesterday. The district is the one represented by Hatch, and includes the city of Bay City and most of the heaviest lumber region of the northern part of the lower Peninsula of Michigan. The chief candidates are C. F. Gibson, of Bay City; R. J. Kelly, of Alpena, and Dr. George Granger, of Tuscola County.

Only Wants to be Governor.

CENTRALIA, ILL., September 4.—The Centralia Daily Sentinel will print to-day a personal letter from General Richard Oglesby in which he says: "I am a candidate for Governor only, and for nothing else. I am not a candidate for United States Senator. I do not want that office. I want to be elected Governor and to serve the full term out, and want nothing else. I am running on the Republican platform, plain and simple, and on no other, and am bound by no other."

Arbitrator Adams' Resignation Accepted.

NEW YORK, September 4.—The resignation of Chas. Francis Adams, Jr., as arbitrator of the trunk line which are members of the Trunk Line commission has been accepted. The reason assigned by Adams is pressure of business affairs. His action will probably lead to an abolition of the office and the reorganization of the system of adjusting differences. The plan of a board of arbitration has not worked well. The matter will come before the conference to be held here to-day, which will also discuss a reduction of freight rates. It is recognized that unless the pool can be reorganized the existing promises to maintain rates can not be observed.

DOWN GOES WHEAT.

Sinking of the General Meade with 6,000 Sacks of Wheat.

JEFFERSON CITY, MO., September 4.—The steamer General Meade struck a rock in the river opposite the capitol building at six o'clock this morning and sunk in seven feet of water. She loaded at Cambridge, Saline County, with 6,000 sacks of wheat, and was on her way to St. Louis. The principal stock of the boat is owned by the captain, Archibald Bryan. She is valued at $10,000 and insured for $3,000. About 4,000 sacks of wheat will be lost. The boat will be raised.

Is It Only a Race?

LOGAN, O., September 4.—Regarding the announcement that the coal-operators have decided to suspend operations one year, it is feared that in retaliation the miners will make an attack upon the most vulnerable spot of the operator's lines. It is thought that as soon as the order shall drive the miners off to hunt work that it will be revoked, and industry laborer put in the mine again.

A LIFE SENTENCE.

J. W. Owens Ruled Off the St. Louis Jockey Club Track.

The Trick by Which He Tried to Pull Nora M., the Favorite in a Race, After the Pools Were In.

He Pleads the Baby Act by Declaring that He Had Never Read the Turf Rules.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., September 4.—Inquiry into the Nora M. matter was pursued till late last evening. It will be remembered that this mare was entered for a five furlong heat race last Friday, for which she should have carried 108 pounds.

When the other seven horses were the post her owner, or rather the owner of her running qualities—J. W. Owens—informed the judges that he could get no one to ride the mare except a boy named Hartman, who could ride no lighter than 114 3/4 pounds.

As the mare had been a warm favorite, first, in fact, until just before the race, the officials would not listen to Owens' suggestion that he be allowed to draw the mare, and insisted on her starting with even this extra weight up for the first heat, while they directed that a boy of the proper weight be procured for the others.

The starter reported that it was with the greatest difficulty he could get Hartman to bring the mare to the post at all, though when another jockey, Thayer, was put up Nora M. acted well in every way, gave no trouble at the post and won the succeeding heats and race. Evidence was given to the judges that Wren Yetman had been regularly engaged to ride the mare and that he could do so at her proper weight of 108 pounds. It was proved to their satisfaction that the boy had been told by Owens that he should receive $25 not to ride the mare, but to KEEP OUT OF THE WAY.

It was proved that the boy thereupon took a seat at the back of the stand, a course, to say the least of it, very unusual for a jockey, and that when seen there and questioned by people interested in the mare, he acquainted them that Owens had promised him money to stay away.

It was further stated that Thayer, a jockey who could also ride the weight, had gone so far as to offer Owens $20 to allow him to ride instead of charging him a jockey's fee for the reason that he, Thayer, had backed the mare to win him $200. It was further proven that Quantrell, the well-known and able jockey, told Owens up to the very moment of the race that he could and would ride the mare at 110 pounds, and the case therefore narrowed into the facts that while Yetman and Thayer were ready to ride at 108 pounds, Quantrell at only two pounds extra, Owens went out of the way to pick Hartman, who it was alleged was in his life, and put him up at six and three-quarter pounds over weight. The defense made by Owens practically consisted in his statement that though he had been racing for a considerable time he had never taken the trouble to even read the rules of racing. He stated that he had been offered $500 in Chicago to pull the mare there, and declared himself innocent on this occasion. The judges, however, were fully satisfied of his guilt from the evidence of the outside parties, and ruled him off the track for life.

Brighton Beach Races.

NEW YORK, September 4.—The Brighton Beach races were continued yesterday, when the following excellent programme was run off:

First Race—Maidens of all ages, three quarters mile: Frolic, first; Joe Sawyer, second; J. W. White, third. Time, 1:18 1/2.

Second Race—Selling race, one mile: Carley B., first; Swift, second; Adonis, third. Time, 1:44.

Third Race—Handicap, one and one-eighth miles: Mattie Rapture, first; Hickory Jim, second; Ten Strike, third. Time, 1:58 1/2.

Fourth Race—For beaten horses, seven-eighths mile: Joe Murray and Carmel, dead heat; Greenland, third. In the run-off Joe Murray won easily. Time, 1:35.

Fifth Race—Three-year-olds, one and quarter miles: Bull's Head, first; Royal Arch, second; Pioneer, third. Time, 1:14 3/4.

Sixth Race—Handicap steeplechase, full course: George McCullough and Aurelian, dead heat; Joe Cooper, third. George McCullough and Aurelian divided first and second money. Time, 4:39 1/2.

Crushed to Death.

PITTSBURGH, PA., September 4.—Late last evening a serious accident occurred in the Thirty-third Ward, causing the death of one man and badly injuring another. Mr. Troutwein and son Daniel were raising a one-story house. They had placed jack-screws under each corner and neglected to provide firm bases for them to rest upon. One jack slipped and the drop broke one of the sleepers. Both were working under the building. The sleeper fell across the young man's breast and caught the father's legs. The PROHIBITION WHISKY.

It Beats the World for Making Men Crazy and Quarrelsome.

BANGOR, ME., September 4.—At Portage Lake, near Ashland, John Frazer and a man named Welch, both-crazy with liquor, were at the house of Edward Fox at a late hour. Fox requested the men to go home, whereupon they knocked him senseless. His daughter gave the alarm, and Fox's son, who lives across the road, came to the rescue. He grabbed a chair and felled Frazer to the floor. Frazer recovered and came at Fox. The two clinched, drew pocket knives and commenced stabbing and slaughtering each other.

The second alarm brought in a man named McGowan and two laborers. Frazer's nose was cut almost off, only hanging by a small piece of skin. He also received several small wounds. Cox had an arm badly cut. The men were parted and when it was supposed Frazer was in the wagon safe, he bolted away from his captors and ran to the house as if crazy. He jumped through three windows and one door, smashing them. At last he was quieted and went home.

ST. LOUIS EXPOSITION.

Grand Formal Opening on Wednesday Night.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., September 4.—One of the largest crowds ever congregated in this city got together last night to witness the grand street pageant which marked the opening of the new and magnificent Exposition Building, just completed at a cost of $625,000, and which is the honest pride of every St. Louisan's heart.

Owing to insufficient advertising, comparatively few strangers were seen to mingle with the throng of sight-seers, and thus the chief object of all the labor and expense of the occasion was thwarted.

The thousands of elevated seats along the route of the procession were early occupied, while all the principal thoroughfares and side streets leading into them, swarmed with teeming thousands of spectators.

The pageant, while not without merit, fell far short of what the St. Louis public had been led to anticipate both from past experiences and the promises of those having the matter in charge. Few of the floats came up to the expectations of the spectators, while many proved a positive disappointment.

The military companies in the line of march were principally noted for the mastery struggle which marked their movements; but to this general rule the Fredway Rifles proved a most happy exception, their order of march and occasional evolutions presenting the appearance of a piece of perfect machinery controlled by the hand of a master mechanic.

The decorations and illuminations along the line of march were only tolerable, with the single exception of the display at the Exposition building itself, where the effect produced was fully equal to the effort made, and could only have been improved by a tasteful illumination of the interior of the great structure itself.

On the whole the "Grand pageant and opening exercises" were a disappointment to those who witnessed them, which can only be excused by the brief time allotted for the preparations.

It is believed, however, that the Exposition itself, when fully under way, will realize the most sanguine predictions of its friends and promoters and satisfy the most critical of visitors.

A SINGULAR PIENONENON.

"Who's Been Here Since I's Been Gone?"

BALTIMORE, Md., September 4.—Sult was instituted in the Circuit Court to-day by Dr. W. Perry of the United States Navy, against his wife for absolute divorce. Complainant being in the service of the United States, was continually absent from his wife and family for three years, and though he never saw his wife during that time, he provided for her by furnishing her $75 per month from his salary. Upon his arrival home he discovered that a child had been born to his wife about five months ago. He informed her that he could not consent to longer live with her, and to-day prayed for a divorce, and for the care and custody of his two children.

An Absolute Embargo.

OTTAWA, September 4.—Dr. McEachern, Inspector of the Dominion Quarantine, had an interview with the Minister of Agriculture to-day to urge a complete system of quarantine to be enforced to prevent the importation of diseased cattle from the United States into the Canadian Northwest. He maintains that nothing but an absolute embargo against American cattle will prevent the introduction of pleuro-pneumonia into the Canadian cattle. The Minister promised that the question would be taken up by the Government at once.

THE FLAGG SPRINGS DOUBLE MURDER.

The Report of Bateman's Arrest Unfounded—The Search Continues.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., September 4.—The report that young Bateman had been arrested on good evidence pointing to him as the assailant and murderer of the two little McLaughlin girls, of Flagg Springs, proves to be a canard. He is at large, and no suspicion rests upon him, but is entertained of several other men.

No evidence can be brought forward to fasten the guilt upon any one, and the popular conviction is that traps committed the outrage. The country for twenty-five miles around Flagg Springs is aroused, and the search continues, but so far without success.

To Suspend for One Year.

NEW-STRAVSVILLE, O., September 4.—There is great excitement here this morning over the announcement that the coal syndicate has decided to suspend operations for one year here, and has ordered all its stock, powder, equipments, etc., to the lower Locking Valley. This closes five mines, and throws five hundred miners out of employment.

Lacerated With an Ice Hook.

PERKS, ILL., September 4.—Frank Weisshart, an employe of the Poloy Ice Company, lacerated his leg this morning while working under the roof, severing three ligaments.
