SPECIALIZED CLERKS URGENTLY NEEDED

Washington, D. C., June —, 1918. — Expert clerical work has a more important place in the Government's war organization than most people realize. We all know that the war can not be won in the trenches alone; that an effective establishment at home is vital to the success of the biggest job ever undertaken by any nation; but the full extent to which the specialized clerk is needed is perhaps not generally understood. And it is in this class of work that women have the best opportunity to be of real service to the Government at this time.

In the national capital alone the civilian force increased from 30,000 to nearly 80,000 during the first year of our participation in the war. Nine-tenths of the new employees are clerks of one kind or another, and fully three-fourths of them are women. 18,000 stenographers and typists are at work constantly in the Government offices at Washington on the tons of correspondence and records made necessary by war preparations on a scale such as the world has never before known.

General clerks, that is, those without a specialty, are not difficult to obtain even under present conditions, but the United States Civil Service Commission, charged with the duty of recruiting the civil service to meet war needs, is experiencing difficulty in obtaining a sufficient number of applications for many clerical positions which require special training or experience. There is an urgent call for applicants for the positions of stenographer, typewriter, book-keeper-typewriter, clerk-bookkeeper, cost accountant, accounting and statistical clerk, statistician, clerk qualified in accounting, clerk qualified in business administration, index and catalogue clerk, schedule clerk, passenger-rate clerk, blue-print file clerk, and assistant to business manager. All of these positions are open to both men and women. Representatives of the Civil Service Commission at the post offices in all cities are prepared to furnish definite information and application blanks.
