THE FLOODED DISTRICT.

STORY OF THE DISASTER AS TOLD
BY EYE WITNESSES.

Houses Beaten into Fragments and Washed Away—Wives and Children Drowned in the Presence of Husbands and Fathers—Corpses Found Thirty Miles from the Scene of the Disaster.

BEAUMONT, Tex., Oct. 15.—The town is gradually filling with refugees from the flooded district, and the city's distress is heartrending. Every report from the flooded district swells the list of the dead, and it is ascertained that the death-roll exceeds 100, but their names are not all known yet.

The story of the catastrophe as told by survivors is as follows: For several days the tide in both the gulf and Sabine lakes has been very high. This high tide began Sunday, and on Monday the lake was very full. On Monday night the tide had reached, passed and returned, and when the danger point. On Tuesday the wind began blowing rather freshly from the northeast. It then veered round to the north and blew a perfect gale for several hours. Now for the first time the people recognized the danger of their position. By 4 o'clock the whole town was flooded and the waves from the gulf and the waves from the sea, rushed against the houses and fences, and all began to give way before them. The people, for or against, sought safety in the second stories, and many broke through the roofs, crawled out on them, looked upon the wild waste of water, and prayed for deliverance. The whole catastrophe was so sudden and unexpected, that many were unable to scramble to places of temporary safety as all that could be done. In an hour after the first rush of water had taken place, several small frame houses had been blown into fragments and washed away. Two were occupied by negroes and all of the occupants are known to have been lost.

With the onset of these smaller houses the danger appeared to double for the remainder of the town, for they had acted as a breakwater, and when these smaller houses had been washed away the terrible waves and an open, unobstructed sweep to the sea substantially built houses in the center. The scene that now followed was indescribable. The houses, upon the roof of which several people had taken refuge, were seen to rise up suddenly, as if force from the foundation, away slowly from side to side, then fall with a crash that drowned the shrieks of the poor people who were dashed into the boiling flood.

There were more than one case of this kind. There were those in more secure positions, who momentarily expected to meet a similar fate. Mrs. Starnes, a prominent citizen, Sabine, was being driven to the rear of her house, and she and her children were at Sabine. This brave lady owes her wonderful escape to her unerring nerve and pluck.

About 7 o'clock on Wednesday, the day that her house, although the best built structure at the place, would soon be torn to pieces, she tied her little baby to her back and, from an upper window, she threw a coil of rope, coiled in reaching a limb of a good-sized tree. She sat in the tree with little babies all through that awful night, and she had not been in the tree ten minutes when she saw her beautiful house totter and move toward the gulf, carrying with it a couple of colored servants who were lost.

Another incident showing bravery and great presence of mind was that of Mr. Morrison. He tied one end of a rope to a tree near his tottering house and managed to swim to another tree, to which he made fast the other end of the rope. The one by whom he took his frightened family to this second tree tied them to it. The wind and waves lashed and beat them mercifully through the long, fearful night, but they all survived and are reported safe.

Another heroic incident was the rescue of Capt. Plummer and his family at the hands of William Leggett, who had shot himself in a personal difficulty some months previous. He saved his own family, then swam to the house of his enemy and rescued Plummer's family, consisting of five persons.

The steamboat L. Q. C. Lamar left Orange Wednesday night at 10 o'clock with a relief committee on board. When she would return no one knew, but a constant watch was kept of the light-house, and at 4 o'clock on Thursday night the whistle of the Lamar was heard. The people hurried helter skelter to hear the news and to receive the sick and destitute. The relief committee aboard the Lamar consisted of twenty men from Beaumont and about forty from Orange. The committee report that 101 persons are missing, ninety of whom are known to have been drowned. This list of the victims was white and fifty-five colored. Ninety-one half-bred, shivering, wretched victims of the storm were brought up on the Lamar. Blankets and bedding were immediately gathered from house to house for the comfort of the hard broken sufferers, every one of whom has some dear friend or relative among the dead. Nearly all the refugees are sick and prostrated from exhaustion.

Dr. Callahan requests aid for the destitute. He says it makes no difference what is sent, whether food, clothing, medicine, or money; they need them all. Dr. Callahan is mayor of Beaumont, and he will distribute through committees whatever is sent to him. From all accounts gathered, language could not exaggerate the state of affairs at Sabine Pass. Out of more than 150 houses in the village less than six remain standing, and they are ruined. Wives and children were swept away and drowned in the presence of their husbands and fathers, who were powerless to save them. The waves broke against the light-house in solid walls fifty feet high, tearing out the windows at the very top of the structure. Corpses have been picked up at a distance of thirty miles from the scene of the disaster. Friends and relatives of the drowned residents are coming into Orange and Beaumont by every train. The steamboat Lamar took on board a cargo of food, blankets, and clothing, and also a fresh relief committee, and at daylight Friday morning started down the Neches to succor the unfortunate. The pecuniary damage at Sabine, including that to the government works, will aggregate nearly $500,000, as many of the neighboring plantations sustained serious injury.

Further details of the great deluge were brought here Saturday morning by the relief boats which have just returned from the scene. The deaths at Sabine Pass and vicinity will aggregate more than sixty and at Johnson's Bayou about eighty-five. Only three houses are fit for human habitation, while perhaps a dozen are standing in a precarious condition. The people who occupied the general destruction are completely financially, numbers of them being unable to provide themselves with the bare necessities of life.

Mr. Meigs Brunsard is reported to have lost $25,000 worth of cattle, and as the salt water covers everything for ten miles around Sabine Pass all the cattle that are not lost will die. The relief committee organized in this city has issued a circular calling for aid.

ANOTHER NOMINATION.

Republicans of New York Put Up Theodore Roosevelt for Mayor.

New York, Oct. 15.—The Times seems satisfied with the action of the Republican county convention Friday night in nominating ex-Assemblyman Theodore Roosevelt for mayor. The following is an extract from The Times' editorial on the subject:

"It is because we believe Mr. Roosevelt to be very much less a partisan and very much more of a reformer than Mr. Hewitt that we should prefer to see him elected mayor."

There is no truth in the reported assumption of ex-President Gonzalez in Mexico. Mrs. Bartholdi will accompany her husband on his coming visit to this country. Gen. Cassidy M. Clay met one of his own daughters, the other in Richmond and did not know her.

Sam Jones and Sam Small are now holding revival meetings in Toronto. They will begin on his coming visit to this country.

Mrs. Leland Stanford has established a night school for the jockeys and stable boys employed in her husband's stables.

The National Education association will hold its next meeting in Chicago. Ten thousand teachers will probably be in attendance.

The value of exports from Germany to America during the fiscal year ending September was $4,000,000 more than for the preceding fiscal year.

It is reported that ex-Congressman Deane, of Milwaukee, will be a candidate for United States senator in case the Democrats have a majority in the next Wisconsin legislature.

J. B. Wells, of Red Bluff, Cal., cut down a sound oak, and four feet from the butt, in a little cavity in the heart of the tree, were five cats and four dogs. They were a little off color, but all right.

In a quarrel Friday night at Somerset, Ky., Edward Logan, United States commissioner, and Henry Boyle, special United States bailiff, drew their revolvers and began firing at each other, with the result that both are fatally wounded.

Henry Norris, who killed George Elliot, owing to a quarrel about a crew of tobacco, was hanged Friday at Buchanan, Ga. At the first attempt the rope broke, and Norris was dashed to the ground, but he was again placed on the scaffold, and met death by strangulation.

Judge Gresham has refused the petition of a number of residents of East St. Louis asking that federal supervisors be appointed for the congressional election of Nov. 2, on the ground that it would be contrary to the statutes to appoint supervisors for a city having less than 20,000 inhabitants.

Gen. Fairchild, commander of the Grand Army, has issued a circular calling upon the various posts to suspend collections for the Charleston sufferers. This is the result of a dispatch from Mayor Courtney, stating that the committee in Charleston has received sufficient funds to meet the wants of meritorious needy sufferers.

MALARIA.

"If people could only know what a splendid medicine Simmons Liver Regulator is there would be many a physician without a patient and many an interminable doctor bill saved. I consider it infallible in malarial infection. I had for many years been a perfect physical wreck from a combination of complaints, all the outgrowth of malaria in my system, and even under the skillful hand of Dr. J. P. Jones, of this city, I had despaired of ever being a well woman again. Simmons Liver Regulator was recommended to me. I tried it; it helped me, and it is the only thing that ever did me any good. I persevered in its use, and I am now in perfect health. I know the medicine cured me, and I always keep it as a reliable 'standby' in my family."

Respectfully,
Mrs. MARY RAY,
Camden, Ala.
