

MAD CAP PRINCESS IS A WANDERER ON THE FACE OF THE EARTH!

Princess Marie Jose—a Characteristic Photograph of the Little Royal "Madcap."

Marie Jose, the "madcap princess of Belgium," only daughter of King Albert and Queen Elizabeth, is now "the princess without a home."

From this happy, dimpled little princess of the Belgians the Germans have taken her home and she is in England, literally a wanderer on the face of the earth.

No longer has she a palace—in which to "make faces" at royal guests, to toss teddy bears at coroneted domes, and to trip her father, the king, and send him sprawling downstairs in the midst of a reception—all of which she has done.

Dimpled and possessing a mass of golden hair, this little child of 8 years—she was born in August, 1906—is regarded as the fairest royal baby of Europe. But now, bereft of country, of palaces, almost of parents, she is just a plain little girl—like thousands of others in America—with her opportunities for mischief considerably curtailed.
