

BIG LEADERS TO LEAD WOMEN'S TRADE UNION LEAGUE BALL

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, British militant, and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, not only will attend the Hallowe'en dance of the Woman's Trade Union League at the Hotel LaSalle tonight, but will lead the grand march, Mrs. Raymond Robins, international president of the league, announced today.

"I have received acceptances from both Mrs. Pankhurst and Mr. Gompers," Mrs. Robins told a delegation of local suffragists, waiting the arrival of Mrs. Pankhurst at the Dearborn street station. "And why shouldn't the leaders of two great movements lead a grand march at a trades union dance?"

Gompers was to arrive in Chicago later in the day, with other officers of the Federation of Labor, en route to Seattle to attend the national convention. All the labor leaders, Mrs. Robins said, will attend tonight's ball.

Lieut.-Gov. Barratt O'Hara, who headed the Illinois senate white slave investigation, will be asked to introduce Mrs. Pankhurst at her lecture in the Auditorium tomorrow.

THE DYNAMITING CASES

Attorney Krum for the appellants in the dynamiting cases closed his rebuttal before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday.

Judge Baker then took the case under advisement and announced that he would return a decision about January 1.

Krum in his argument for the convicted labor men rested on two contentions:

First—That no proof had been afforded at the trial in Indianapolis to show that the defendants had conspired to carry dynamite on passenger trains in violation of the federal statute.

Second—That the conviction of the defendants on two counts of conspiracy and five counts of "aiding and abetting to conspire" means the conviction of each man three times for the same offense, in direct violation of the federal constitution, which provides that no man may be twice convicted or his life and liberty twice jeopardized for the same offense.

LATEST MOVE IS BIG VICTORY FOR THE MINERS' UNION

Trinidad, Col., Nov. 1.—The entire force of militiamen now in the Southern Colorado coal fields at daylight today started to Ludlow, the biggest strike colony in the district, to disarm all the strikers and mine guards there and in the Berwind, Tobasco, Hastings and Delagua camps.

Adjutant Gen. Chase anticipated no trouble, as representatives of the miners and operators have agreed to disarmament. As soon as the rifles and dammunialton are in, the troops will take up the work of guarding the coal mines and all mine guards will be taken out of the district permanently. This is regarded as a big victory for the union.

The relations between the strikers and the troops are cordial and when the soldiers started for Ludlow they were informed that the strikers planned a gigantic demonstration of welcome.

Kid on Ground—But you're twice as big as me!

"All right, I'll give you two chances. Stand up again!"
