KOSHER MEAT WAR OVER

Peace was finally declared today in the kosher meat war between the butchers' association and Jewish women of the West Side, the butchers capitulating to the demands of the women's committee.

Following price list adopted by butchers, and approved by the women, will go into force tomorrow at sundown, when the shops will open for the first time in three weeks:

Lean meat, per lb., 12c; neck chucks, per lb., 10c; first class fat meat, per lb., 16 cents; first class neck chucks, per lb., 14 cents.

By an agreement between the two factions, this list will remain in effect three months. If the butchers attempt to advance prices, however, the women declare they will institute another boycott.

FIRST STRIKE MURDER

The first death as result of slugging and lawlessness in newspaper strike occurred this morning when Daniel Beeman, 218 Hamilton avenue, died at Grace hospital.

Charles Bush, who was wounded at the same time Beeman was shot, is in a critical condition.

Beeman and Bush were shot by Policeman Joseph Devaney, on guard at Chicago American barns, Sangamon and Adams streets. Devaney said the two men threw bricks at him. He followed them into saloon and in struggle to arrest them shot both.

Freel revoked the charter of the union because it went on strike in sympathy with the pressmen locked out by the Chicago trust newspapers, and refused to return to work at his command.

Freel went down to defeat only after a hard and unscrupulous fight.

The Chicago delegates presented their credentials to the credentials committee, which Freel himself had appointed.

The credentials committee voted to seat them. Freel refus-
