CRIME OF A WOMAN

Inspired by Jealousy She Commits Foul Murder.

DISGUISED IN THE GARB OF A MAN

She Enters the House of Her Supposed Rival and Mortally Shoots Her—Part of Her Disguise Betrays Her and Her Son Gives Incriminating Testimony, Which Leads Her to Confess—Further of the Hopelessness of Durrant's Case.

SCIO, Ore., Oct. 1.—Mrs. John Hannah, 45 years of age, and the mother of a family, donned masculine garb and false whiskers, and at night entered the house of Mrs. Lottie Hiatt and shot her twice. Her motive was jealousy. Mrs. Hiatt, she believed, had estranged the affections of her husband. The Hiatt family, together with Mrs. Elizabeth Holman, Mrs. Lottie Hiatt's mother, lives about a quarter of a mile north of Jordan's store, a little settlement eight miles from Scio, and at dusk their home was approached by a man who gruffly demanded admittance. This being accorded him he entered and, drawing a pistol, told the inmates to throw up their hands and say where they kept their money.

Supposed Robber Does Bloody Work. Mrs. Holman, aged 82 years, resented the intrusion and promptly seized a billet of wood and gave the intruder a snuff rap on the face with it, being instantly knocked down for her temerity. Having quieted the aged woman, the man turned upon Mrs. Hiatt with his six-shooter and began firing. One shot went wild, but the second and third struck the unfortunate woman near the heart and she sank dying to the floor. The robber, to make sure of his work, bent over the prostrate woman and shook her violently, to ascertain whether she was dead or not. The sounder fled and Mrs. Holman made haste to Jordan's store for help.

Retrayed by Her Own Son. Several men who were at the store hastened to the house and did all in their power to succor the stricken woman. They found on the floor a hat, a false mustache and a pair of eye glasses. Some one present recognized the hat as the property of young Hannah and this announcement precipitated a search for the young man, who was not to be found until early next morning. When charged with the deed and confronted with the hat he denied the killing, but admitted that the hat was his property, declaring further that his mother had borrowed it the evening before, but for what purpose he did not know, remarking indignantly that she had not returned home until 1 o'clock in the morning.

Confesses Her Terrible Crime. The searchers immediately sought out Mrs. John Hannah, the boy's mother, and under menacing inquiries she at last broke down and confessed that she had purchased a suit of her husband's clothes, and her son's hat, donning them and doing the work. The would-be murderer was turned over to the officers of the county and is now in jail, while her victim, although still living, is beyond hope of recovery.

SEEMS NO HOPE FOR DURRANT.

His Alibi Grows Worse the More It Is Examined—The Ring Incident.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—Since the adjournment of the Durrant trial last Friday the prisoner's attorneys have visited Cooper Medical college several times and have had frequent interviews with students whom they will put on the stand in hopes of bracing up the alibi which the defense wants to establish. It is thought that several of the college boys will testify to having seen the accused between 1 and 2 o'clock on the afternoon of April 3, but if any will give evidence that Durrant was in the college until 3:30 in the afternoon he is not known. The attorneys for the defense are building on what E. A. Diggins, the testifier, Diggins is a member of the sophomore class, but frequently attended the senior class lectures.

There he met the defendant. The latter claims that he spoke to Diggins during Dr. Cheney's lecture on the afternoon that Blanche Lamont disappeared, but Diggins' memory is rather hazy. Charles Lamban will be called to the stand to tell of having taken a diamond ring somewhat resembling the one worn by Blanche Lamont, to Pawnbroker Opeheimer. His testimony has little weight, as he did not visit the store until the afternoon of April 13. Again, Lamban does not bear the slightest resemblance to Durrant, and it is not possible that one could be mistaken for the other. Their dress was dissimilar and in personal appearance they form a strong contrast.

District Attorney Barnes and Captain of Detectives Less are getting ready to put in their rebuttal testimony, which they expect to make almost as strong as the direct. They will have a lot of writing experts to combat any testimony that might implicate Rev. J. G. Gibson in having written the address on the newspaper in which Miss Lamont's rings were sent to her aunt.

Admits That She Perjured Herself.

JEFFERSON, Ia., Oct. 1.—Last spring May Stevenson, of Ida Grove, brought suit against John Judish, a business man of Holstein, charging him with betraying her. Other witnesses gave corroborating evidence and Judish was convicted and sentenced to eighteen months in the penitentiary. The girl has now confessed that she lied and that the whole thing was a plot to "bleed" Judish. He wouldn't bleed and she sent him to penitentiary by perjuring herself.

DULUTH, Oct. 1.—The schooner Elma is reported foundered with all hands lost in Munising bay. She carried a crew of eight. She is owned by Warren, of Tonawanda. The only names of those on board obtainable are: Captain John Thurston, wife and child. The captain of the Budget State arriving at the Sault says the schooner Chester B. Jones is above Whitefish point and will go to pieces. The tug Boynton has gone to Whitefish to try and rescue the Jones. Her crew have probably been taken off by the Vermilion Point life-saving crew, which went to her.

CHICAGO FOR CUBA

In Her Fight Against the Spanish Oppressor.

TWO GREAT MEETINGS OF CITIZENS.

Unbounded Enthusiasm Over Every Proposition of Sympathy with the Insurrection—A Leader in the Revolution Given a Rousing Ovation—"Cuba Libre" the Cry—Resolutions Unanimously Adopted Asking Recognition.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—As much of the population of Chicago as could find entrance to the auditoriums of the Central Music hall and Young Men's Christian Association building last night shouted itself hoarse in approval of a series of resolutions in which the United States is asked to recognize the Cubans as belligerents. Such genuine enthusiasm has seldom been witnessed in this city, and on no occasion were words spoken by men more full of the heart and soul of the speakers. Mayor George B. Swift presided at the main meeting in Central Music hall and Judge William A. Vincent was chairman of the overflow meeting in the Association building. Seventy-five vice presidents, who occupied seats on platforms, were chosen from among the leading business men of the city, and each one of them had previously expressed himself as in full accord with the object of the meetings. Alighted sentiments broke cheers.

Before the speaking began copies of telegrams from a number of gentlemen who could not be present were read. The first of these was from Governor John P. Altgeld, and its ringing words, called forth cheer after cheer. Among representative men present were presidents with the committees from the following organizations: Legal Legion, Confederate association, Grand Army of the Republic, Naval Veterans, Society of Sons of the Revolution, Illinois State Federation of Labor, twenty-five labor organizations, Standard club, Marquette club, Kenwood club, Bankers' club, Oakland club, Illinois club, Menoken club, Italian residents, Scandinavian, German, Bohemian, Irish, Greek and African societies. All the speakers addressed both meetings. They were Rev. E. W. Guntz, W. J. Hyman, Rev. P. S. Henson, John Maya Palmer, Thomas B. Bryan, William E. Mason, and E. B. Sherman.

Cuban Revolutionists Given an Ovation.

When Conzales de Quesada, secretary of the Cuban revolutionary party of the United States, and Q. A. Zayas, another prominent Cuban, stepped upon the platform at Central Music hall the enthusiasm of the audience knew no bounds, and it was some minutes before order was restored. At this meeting Eugene Kauffler played for the first time in public his new march, "Cuba Libre," introducing the Cuban national air. Rev. Dr. H. W. Thomas read the resolutions which were adopted as by one voice.

ASK FOR CUBAN RECOGNITION.

Uncle Sam's Duty and Privilege to Give the Rebels a Chance.

The pith of the resolutions is as follows: "We, citizens of Chicago, gathered to express our deep sympathy with the Cubans in their brave struggle to secure independence, present the following: The well known paragraph from the Declaration of Independence beginning: "We hold these truths to be self-evident," etc., is then quoted, and the resolutions proceed: "For many unhappy years the Cubans have been most shamefully oppressed and cruelly burdened until the yoke of Spanish rule has become intolerable. If the fathers of American independence were justified in casting off the oppressive dominion of Great Britain the Cuban patriots of today have far greater justification for their attempt to overthrow the tormenting, heartless tyranny of the Spanish government. "We desire publicly to express our indignation that in this year 1895 the spectacle is presented of shiploads of soldiers sent 3,000 miles across the ocean to America, the "Land of the Free," to shoot down in cold blood a courageous people who simply desire to govern themselves. Our indignation is further aroused at the unspeakable cruelty of the Spaniards toward Cubans. On the other hand we are glad to notice that the course of the Cubans appears to be more humane. We believe it to be the privilege and duty of the United States to recognize the rights of the Cuban revolutionists as belligerents as soon as practicable, on being so requested by competent Cuban authority, in accordance with international law. Such action of our government we deem due to the Cubans and to the cause of universal liberty. "We respectfully urge our fellow citizens throughout this country to assemble in mass meetings to diffuse information and thus arouse the sympathy of our whole people with the Cubans in their struggle for independence. We also urge the press, pulpit and altar to continue their help to the righteous cause of men who bravely fight for home and native land. "We respectfully, but urgently, appeal to the citizens of all the republics in the three Americas to give emphatic expression of their sympathy with those struggling people who are making such a gallant fight for that independence from European rule which other nations of the New World have already secured. Be it further resolved, that the organization which arranged for this gathering be requested to take charge of and continue the good work so auspiciously begun this evening."

Color and Shade in Clothing.

This is a great point to consider. It is not simply the prettiest shades you want to select. You ought to be sure that they are fast colors, and won't wash out or fade. We all know how mortifying it is to have a suit of clothes which has a different color where the sun has struck it from the parts that are necessarily in the shade. You can avoid this trouble by purchasing from us. We satisfy ourselves that the colors and shades are unfadable, and we keep a very large selection of them in the best materials that are now imported from England and France.
